Mt, Wollaston Attractive

Many favorable comments were heard Wednesday on the appearance of Mt. needed rain to freshen it up, and the the wrong time for the employees who were striving hard to get all lots looking good for Memorial day.

The walks had been nicely trimmed, however, and the lots under the care of the department never looked better. The condition of the cemetery is improving wonderfully every year and is now a rival of many of the large cemeteries throughout the Commonwealth.

Recital at Atlantic.

The piano recital, given in Memorial church, Atlantic, Thursday evening by the pupils of Miss Ella Ames Horton was largely attended by an enthusiastic assisted by Miss Norma Stafford Mit- a big increase. chell, reader, and Miss Maud Alletzhausser, cellist.

Those who took part were: Miss Alie Waterhouse, Miss Winefred Carlyle, Miss Marion Newcomb, Miss Florence Barker, Miss Margaret Read. Miss Bertha Nichols, Mrs. Bahee, Miss May Stevens, Miss Marion and Miss Rath Wainwright, Miss Mildred Hadlock, Miss Anna Granahan, Miss Dorothy Bean, Miss Hazel Pearson, Miss Margaret and Miss Catherine Houghton, Miss Gladys Willey, Miss Leigh Miller, Miss Gertrude Fratus, Miss Hattie Waterhouse, Master Willet Safford, Miss Doris Cummings, Miss Theresa Edwards and Master George Dahlquist.

Historic.

In connection with Mr. Dewson's book, which had a little record of Mr. Turner, father of Mr. Peter Turner, Mr. Edwin W. Marsh writes that Mr. Turner's father lived at one time with his family on Coddington street in the house next to Coddington school, and that the Mr. Peter Turner alluded to in Mr. Dewson's book was a brother of Elisha, and lived at one time in a small ouse on Coddington street. Mr. Marsh adds that it was he, this late Peter, brother of the late Elisha, who laid out the lots on this street. The speculation not proving profitable, he believes he ther. went to Troy, N. Y.

If we can forget and forgive the needelms that were laid low, one almost wishes these former citizens could penetrate the ether and see our classic library, its beautiful lawn, the shadows cast by the trees these early dawns, the space around all these, and the wide clean boulevard that is so busy a thoroughfare, and so attractive every way.

FASTING PROVED FATAL Woman Tried It as a Remedy

For Stomach Trouble Sutton, Mass., June 1 .- That Mrs. Lovan M. Snow of this town went without food for 33 days, during which she went about the house in a wheel chair, cooking for her aged husband, mending clothing, and attending to other household work, was the information contained in a report suubmitted by Dr.

Baker, medical examiner for this district, to District Attorney Taft. Mrs. Snow died last Sunday, and her physician, Dr. C. F. Smith of this town, who was called to attend her on the 33d day of her fast, reported to the medical examiner that she lived 15 days after that day and that her death was due to exhaustion caused by "functional inactivity of the entire alimentary tract, following total abstinence from food from April 9 to May 12, inclusive of

According to Dr. Smith, Mrs. Snow said that she had been trying an experiment, with the consent of her husband, Elias L. Snow, a well-to-do citizen, the purpose being to try the efficacy of fasting as a cure for stomach trouble. Mrs. Snow was 78 years old and her husband is 82. Smith said that when he was called to attend Mrs. Snow professionally on May 12 by her husband she was in bed and, although he tried the administration of nourishment in various ways, no means was successful, and she died after lingering 15 days more. No action in the matter has been taken by the district attorney's office.

BEVERIDGE PROPOSITION

Rulings That It Violates Police Powers of State Are Overcome In the Amendment Submitted by Crumpacker

Washington, June 1 .- Representative Crumpacker (Ind.) has introduced a bill as a substitute for the Beveridge meat inspection amendment placed on the agricultural bill in the senate. The bill defines the authority which may be vested in the secretary of agriculture, and limits the authority so as not to conflict with the police powers of the state. In accomplishing the adequate inspection with this restriction provision is made whereby the secre-Art Paterson who collapsed on train tary of agriculture may accept the inspection of state inspectors as to the sanitary condition of packing houses.

Where opposition is made on the part of packers which would make the tate inspection inadequate, the secretary of agriculture is authorized to stop all meat products at state lines and make a thorough inspection. Where the state inspection is accepted by the secretary this federal inspection in transit will not be made. Certainlabels and tags to denote the character of the state inspection are provided for

Mr. Crumpacker believes that the Beveridge amendment in authorizing federal inspection of packing houses is a violation of the police powers of the state, and that all of the rulings sustain this position

President Roosevelt last evening consulted with Secretary Wilson of the deprinting wedding invitations and base partment of agriculture and Senator ball posters. Bomb Thrown at King Alfonso and Queen Victoria

IT BARELY MISSED MARK

At Least Sixteen Persons Killed and Many Injured -- Scene of Tragedy Presents a Horrible Spectacle--Tragedy Follows ter and of the Golden Fleece, Closely Upon Wedding

Madrid, June 1 .- The public rejoic ings over the marriage of King Alfonso and Princess Victoria had a terribly dramatic sequel as a bomb thrown from an upper window exploded with deadly effect near the coach occupied by the king and queen. King Alfonso and Queen Victoria escaped because of an electric wire deflecting the bomb, but at least 16 persons, most of them being of the personal and military escort, and the others spectators, were killed. Many others were injured.

The explosion occurred just as the royal couple were about to enter the palace. The route of the cortege had been diverted from Arsenal street to Mayor street, owing to the popular desires. The procession had just passed through Mayor street and was about to turn into the esplanade leading to the palace when the explosion shook the buildings in the vicinity, stunned a large number of people and threw the cortege into inextricable confusion.

All this happened so quickly that people away from the immediate vicinity were not aware of the tragedy that had been enacted and continued to acclaim their sovereigns. Soon, however, there appeared the empty royal ceach with two horses missing and the others spattered with blood, several of them bleeding from wounds. The grooms and drivers looked deathly the cases of James E. Britt and Terence pale in their spangled uniforms. King Aifonso and Princess Ena of Battenburg were married in the small church of San Jeronimo el Real. The wedding cortege, in its passage to the church, passed through streets crowded with people and decorated with the utmost lavishness. The people showed great enthusiasm over the bride.

The massed bands played the Spanish national anthem as the bridal party passed within the church, which presented a scene of rare beauty. WOMAN AND FASHION

The Popular Elbow Sleeves. Elbow sleeves have extended their usefulness from the realm of the fancy waist to the plain one and are really ideal for warm weather wear. They serve admirably for the morning gown, while for golf, tennis and the like they are unrivaled. Illustrated is an attractive yet simple costume that shows a waist, including sleeves of the sort, combined with a simple tucked skirt. In the illustration the material is a pretty Scotch gingham, but madras, duck, percale and all materials of the sort are equally appropriate. Again, the waists made from after this design will be found most satisfactory for wear with odd skirts when they are preferred of white linen, white duck or white madras. There is a choice allowed of the rolling collar or the regulation stock. The fronts are tucked, but the back is plain and the front edges are finished with hems. The skirt is nine gored and laid in backward turning tucks.

Umbrella Handle Fashions. Umbrella handles are most effective, particularly the more subdued ones, such as gun metal, set with a moonstone, oynx in a narrow band of gold or tortoise shell inlaid with silver. Sometimes a lump of mother-of-pearl forms an umbreila handle. This is ruinous to one's gloves, but is a most effective handle nevertheless. Some of the French enamels, too, are beautiful for this purpose, worked up in the same way as cigarette cases with monograms and initials beautifully painted

Some Favorite Colors. There is a quaint and curious blue, venetian by name, which runs the fashionable forgetmenot blue hard. It blends well with pompadour pink and gun metal gray. Venetian blue has the merit of suiting old and young, the dark beauty and the fair. There is not a suspicion of green in it. It finds its way much into cloaks and blouses, and picture hats show it off to perfection.

Embroidered Linen Shoes.

White embroidered linen ties are to be the smart thing for wear with white duck or lingerle gowns this summer. The ties, made usually in blucher cut, are embroidered about the vamp, the embroidery extending across the toe and around to the side seam. It lends a dressy air to the footwear and al-534-539 Tremont Building, Boston ready the shoes have a large following among those who like novelty.

For Tiny Folks. The tiny gown sketched here consists of a box plaited dress and short box plaited sleeves, completed by a guimpe of finely tucked lawn. For people of tender years white is most suitable, and linen, serge or pique would be excellent for the design given. The medallions of Irish lace set into the edges of the collar and cuffs give a rich effect altogether stunning-

"The basis of our living together? said Miss Goldman. "It is a true, spiritual love that still leaves free scope for individuality. That means companionship. But whenever one anarchist ceases to love another more than any one else in the world then he is free P. M. to go his way."

"Emma visited me twice while I was in prison," said Berkman, as he smiled 3,45 upon her lovingly. The first time was 4.30 after I had been there two months. She came as my sister. Then for ten 6.30 years I had no visitor. They kept me 7.15 in solitary confinement. But two months ago Emma came to see me."

"I've known Berkman since 1889, and I love him," said Emma frankly. She refers to him always as Berkman. He

Berkman, whose face has good color despite his years of confinement, glowed as he said:

"The love of one anarchist for another is the most beautiful love there

"It is queer," said Berkman later, his large, dark eyes aglow, "that we anarchists, who don't believe in gov ernors, call Emma Goldman the 'queen of the anarchists.' She is that."

Both Anarchist Goldman and An archist Berkman chuckled with glee as they ridiculed the blindness of the Chi cago police. Berkman said that he in tends to publish a book, relating his experiences during fourteen years of Another club race under the auspices imprisonment. Its title will be "To of the Quincy Yacht club will be sailed Hell and Back."

Why the White House Fountain Display Has Been Abolished.

There are no goldfish in the fountain east of the White House grounds this year, and a great many inquiries are nade of the policemen and attendants of the mansion to ascertain the reason, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune. For many summers the circular pond, with its leaping plume of water and its gorsance," says a veteran officer, "I was geous assortment of lilies, has been about to join my brother officers at the one of the chief delights of tourists and questionable feast known as 'McClellowntown residents, and the scores of lan ple'-a bit of salt junk between ittle red fish, ever ready to dart to the two iron biscuits. "They can't keep the fish in here, that's why," explained the man who steers strangers around.

"They don't jump out, do they?" asked the young woman. "Perhaps the White House cats get them," she added. "No, the tramps are the robbers," said the guide. "They steal them out faster than they can be put in here. Last summer, the fishman tells me, tramps walked off with more than sixty of those pretty fish, and by the time the weather grew so cold that they usually take the fish out to put them in warmer quarters there wasn't any fish to move. When they drained the fountain, would you believe it, the ast one of those little beauties had been spirited away."

"Poor fellows!" exclaimed the bride 'Hunger probably drove them to the crime. Even goldfish are good to eat, I suppose. But it's a dreadful shame to kill them. Why, they wouldn't make more than half a bite."

"They don't eat 'em, ma'am; they drink 'em," said the guide. "Is that so?" cried the bride. "I suppose they dissolve them in something or other and make a kind of soup?"

"Well, hardly," replied the guide. They take them down to the first saoon that has an aquarium and put them up with the 'barkeep' for the real red stuff. If the goldfish are good sized they get a long drink of 'red eye;' if they are smaller the saloon keepers won't give them more than a beer. And those fish are worth 50 or 75 cents

Agreement on New Districts

Quincy will continue in the second Councillor district, the special committee of the Legislature coming to an agreement yesterday. The district includes the first and second Norfolk senatorial districts, the eighth and ninth Suffolk and the first Bristol.

Agreement was also reached on the Representative districts, and Norfolk county will have thirteen as in the past. Berkshire, Essex and Hampshire lose one each, while Suffolk, Middlesex and Hampden gain one each.

The first Norfolk Senatorial disirict will not be changed by the new apportionment. It will include, as for the past ten years, the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Hoibrook, Randolph, Canton, Milton and Hyde Park.

-Col. Charles H. Cole, the retiring police commissioner of Boston, wil entertain the police captains at Hingham tomorrow.

Suspect--Scenes Attending the Outrage Described by an Eye-Witness Who Aided the King

Madrid, June 2 .- The nervous tenwedding day. The period of the wed. dying. ding fetes, while still officially proceedto be 17 dead and 76 injured. ing, is filled with sinister forebodings.

The king and queen sought to reassure the public by appearing yesterday in an open automobile unattended by a military guard. They had the outward appearance of serenity. They were wildly acclaimed, but this was mingled with cries of fear from women who felt that this was another invitation to some miscreant to scatter death and destruction. Lines of cavalry guard the entrances to the royal palace.

King Alfonso wishes to postpone the royal ball set for tonight, but the ministers are seeking to persuade him that the program should be carried out. The ministry probably will prevail, and every effort will be made to efface by the spectacle of today's royal bull fight and the wedding ball the memory of the tragedy following so close upon

Yesterday's program of receptions and banquets at the palace was carried out, but the spirit of galety which should have marked the occasion was absent. By direction of the ministry no flowers were received at the palace, owing to the danger of missiles being concealed in bouquets.

The bursting of an automobile tire in the Puerta del Sol caused a panic which threatened to be serious. The nerves of the people are so tense that the explosion of the tire was believed to be another outrage. There was a mad rush in which women were knocked down and trampled under foot and cafes were invaded and damaged. Order was restored with difficulty.

The police yesterday arrested an elegantly dressed Englishman, named Hamilton, as he was boarding a train, as the person nearest to fitting the description of the author of the outrage. A member of the civil guard recognized Hamilton as a companion of Manuel Morales on the balcony from which the bomb was thrown at the royal carriage. The two men also were seen together at Barcelona.

Hamilton was confronted during the day, in the presence of the civil governor, with the proprietors of two houses where he had stopped. After two hours' examination no satisfactory conclusion was reached and it was admitted that the prisoner's identification was open to doubt.

It is now possible to assemble an exact picture of the scene from the de scription of eye-witnesses of the occurrence. Don Alverez de Toledo, one of the equerries of the king, and a lady who occupied a balcony facing the spot where the explosion occurred give graphic descriptions of the explosion.

Eight horses of the royal coach had already passed the tribune and the enthusiasm of the multitude had reached its highest pitch at the sight of the king and queen and their superb retinue, handkerchiefs and fans were waving shouts of greeting filled the air, and the trumpeters were sounding a welcome at the entrance of the palace nearby, when suddenly from above a large bouquet fell amid the flags and streamers, followed by a terrible detonation accompanied by flashes of vivid fire and a crash of glass. Everyone within 100 feet was stunned and overthrown and those nearest to the spot where the explosion took place were killed outright, while others, horribly maimed, were dying.

The first horses of the royal coach met the full force of the explosion. One of the animals plunged forward covered with blood, reared upon its hind feet and fell backward dead. Grooms sought to extricate the horse from the harness and drive the coach on, but the dead horse impeded progress and compelled the abandonment of the coach.

Don Alvarez de Toledo, aided by Colonel Rehague, immediately went to the king's coach and opened the door. The king and queen did not wish to alight, the king repeating: "It is nothing," and seeking to smile. But the spectacle soon made him appreciate the gravity of the situation and Alfonso supported the queen as she got out of history of Tennessee. the coach. She was deeply moved, almost hysterical, passing her hand over her face and hair as if to shut out the frightful scene. Palace pages then galloped up, seeking to assist the young couple, who thereupon entered another coach, which was hurried into the huge courtyard of the palace, around which detachments of cavalry immediately closed.

In the meantime there was a terrifying spectacle at the scene of the explosion. Those who had not been killed or wounded or who had only be n slightly injured broke into mad panic, women screaming and scrambling until their dresses were partly torn off in their wild efforts to escape. The sidewalks were packed with people closely wedged, fighting, shouting and gesticu-

In the center of this confused mass lay the killed and wounded. A wounded horse was moaning as he expired, and killed and wounded officers and soldiers lay on the ground, with uniforms torn and bloody. From the People of Madrid In Unhappy balconies came shouts and groans, showing that the area of destruction was widespread. Adding to the terrors, detachments of infantry, cavalry and civil guards hurried to the scene and took possession of all the streets SEEKING BOMB THROWER in the vicinity and the approaches venting all egress and holding the whole quarter in a military vice, for An Englishman Arrested as a the purpose of apprehending the author of the outrage and protecting the royal family.

Suicide of a Congressman

Washington, June 2.-Representative Robert Adams of Pennsylvania died at the emergency hospital in this city as the result of a pistol shot fired through his mouth into his head with suicidal intent. The act was committed at the club chambers of the Metropolitan club, where Adams had resided for several years. It is known that Adams was a trader in the stock market. He had, however, met reverses in this connection in the past, and had at times also been a very successful operator.

End of Illinois Coal Strike

Springfield, Ills., June 2 .- The joint convention of coal miners and operators of Illinois have formally adopted the joint scale committee report. The agreement holds until March 31, 1908. This finally ends the coal strike in Illinois, where 60,000 miners have been idle for two months.

Assassins Were After Money

By LOU CRIGER.

For years the mainstay behind the bat of the ex-champion Boston Americans. A good arm and a level head are the two things which go together to make a good catcher. One is of no great use without the other, but combined they insure success.

A good arm frequently fails because the brain to use it is lacking. This is true not only in running the game, but in developing your throwing as well. A good many catchers have arms that are perfectly sound and which give them no trouble, yet they fail to use them to best advantage owing to a failure to study out the best way in which to handle themselves. To a light man head work is of even 1 more importance than it is to one built Detroit 1 7 2 on stouter lines. The latter can take Batteries-Jacobsen and O'Connor; more hard knocks without being injured and forced out of the game, while a lighter built man must do quick thinking when he takes chances with a runner at the plate.

"Sand" is one of the things a catcher must be long on, but even if he is it will do him no good if he does not avoid being hurt whenever he can do

Fearlessness is one of the things which will prevent a catcher from be ing injured, provided it is coupled with cool head and clear judgment, but ere rashness does but little good. Head work in a catcher is of the utost value to his team. A catcher who nows his own players and those of ne opposing team can pull off plays hich would be impossible without at knowledge. This is especially true regard to the opposing batters. A catcher is in a good position to tell

Leading Race Mares---Beals G. Wright, Tennis Champion --- Fight Talk.

Artful, Hamburg Belle, Tradition, Tanya, Whimsical and Perverse are practically the best of the race mares now before the public, but Kiamesha in time may be able to at least divide honors with them. Artful has been entered in all the handicaps so far, but her future is somewhat shrouded in doubt. It will be remembered that Trainer John W. Rogers did not care to start her in any of the big events for which she was engaged after she ran the Brighton handicap last year.

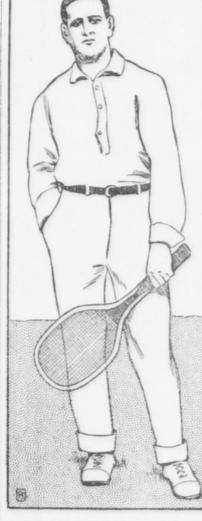

Even when she had the Brighton cup at her mercy, as Sysonby was not an eligible, Rogers declined to send her to the post because she had shown slight indications of weak underpinning, and the clever trainer of the Whitney stable did not want to take a risk. Artful, therefore, began a long rest, and it is safe to say that she will not be seen in a race this year until the season is well under way, if then.

To start this famous daughter of Hamburg unless perfectly sound in limb would be a sad error and not in accordance with the usual policy of her owner and trainer.

So there is just a chance that Artful may go into retirement without taking part in another race. Tanya, her stable companion, however, has a rather hard campaign mapped out for her.

Abe Attell has flunked out of his match with Joe Bowker, which was scheduled at the National Sporting club, London, and was to decide the featherweight championship of the world.

The articles were signed by Attell last February and now are in the hands of A. F. Bettinson, manager of the English boxing club, who was much surprised to learn by cable that Attell had decided not to keep the engagement.

The American champion was apparently anxious to get the match, but after studying the matter he came to tax titles and assessments if any there may the conclusion that Bowker was harder game than was generally supposed, and he used the San Francisco earthquake as an excuse to get out of the match, although he has been in Los Angeles ever since he went to the coast.

Attell alleges that the home of his people in San Francisco was burned after the earthquake, and for that reason he cannot go to London. But, as he remains in Los Angeles, several hundred miles from the scene of the trouble, there is some doubt as to the truth of the story of the fire. The belief prevails that if his family was in trouble in Frisco he would go there. That is the logical conclusion, and the fact that he stays in Los Angeles is taken to mean that the fire story was invented as an excuse for getting out of the match with Bowker.

There was absolutely nothing to prevent Attell going to London and keeping his engagement except the fear that he would lose the battle.

Beals C. Wright, the main hope of the American lawn tennis world in the coming international contests in England, is the American champion in singles. He is a Harvard graduate and formerly held the championship title of that university, which has produced more great tennis players than any other American college.

Wright has rounded into excellent form and is confident of winning from the British stars. He does not fear the French, Austrian or Australian entrants.

The famous Doherty brothers, English stars, will probably be his strongest opponents.

Trout and Zambia,

Trainer Jack Trout and Zambia take to one another, which makes it look as if the Brookline mare would get a record of 2:10.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889 The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy estly appeal for donations and bequests for the E dowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,00 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most grafsfully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase. Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad c confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

Clegal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories. Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an ed-tional class or classes, the Boys Department, or special fund in other ways, and could be design with the name of the Donor. The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gav, will be happy to answer inquiries.

I felt my English all back at once. Everybody heard him and looked my way. Again it was up to me. This time I was ready for the superintendent, or, for that matter, for the blooming Mountain division. I had forgot all about my papers till Dave Hawk spoke. I put my hand, shaking, into my inside vest pocket for a piece of ollskin-it was all I had left. I was a good way from my base that year. I laid the ollskin on the superintendent's table, unfolded it jealously and took out a medal and a letter, that in spite of the carefullest wrapping was creased and sweated. But the letter was from my captain and the bit of bronze was the cross. Rocksby picked up the letter and read it.

"Have you been in the British army?" he asked curtly.

He scowled a minute over Picton's scrawl, laid it down and gratified his curiosity by picking up the medal. He studied the face of the token, looked curiously at the dingy red ribbon, twirled it and saw the words on the reverse, "For Valor," and looked again

"Where'd you get this?" he asked, indicating the Victoria. "In the Sudan, sir."

Dave Hawk kept right on looking out the window. Neither my conductor nor the operator seemed to know just what the row was. Nobody spoke. "What you doing here?" Rocksby

"I came out to learn the cattle business." His brows went up easy-like. "They cleaned me out." Brows dropped gentle-like. "Then I went bad with mountain fever," and he looked decent at me.

I turned snarling then, crazy as a wolf all in a second, and somehow backed the brakeman against the water cooler with his windpipe twisted in my bony fingers like a corkscrew. The train was moving out. I had been cuffed and kicked till I would rather kill somebody than not; this seemed a fair chance for a homicide. When the poor fellow's wind went off-he wasn't much of a scrapper, I fancy-he whipped around in the aisle like a dying rooster. As he struggled in my grip there behind him in the doorway stood Dave, lantern in hand, looking on with a new face. This time he was smiling. Dave's smile meant just the parting of his lips over & row of glistening teeth, perfectly even teeth and under his black mustache whiter than ivory. I have loved a car heater ever since, and Baker to me is hardly lower than the angels. My togs began to steam, my blood began to flow, the train boy gave me a wormy apple, an Irishman with a bottle of rank whisky gave me a stinger, and I wanted to live

I curled up in the seat, and in five minutes I was roasting-oh, such a heavenly roast - and dozing - Lord, what a heavenly doze-before that Baker heater. All night the forward truck beat and pounded under me. All night I woke and slept in the steaming. NEVER found it very up my stuff and turned to thank Dave stinking air of the hot car. "Yes. I'm going to enlist." His teeth flashed, "That's worse than railroading, ain't it?" Something came into my head like a rocket. "If I could get started railroading"-

"Get started easy enough." That's how I happened to show him my Victoria. He gave me a card to the trainmaster, and next day I went to braking for Allbers, who, by the way, was the biggest liar I ever knew. But the morning I got into Medicine Bend that first time on No. 1 I had another scare. I went into the lunch room for coffee and sandwiches and threw my bill at the boy. He opened it, looked at it and looked at me.

"Well," I growled, for I was impudent with luck and a hot stomach "Good, ain't it?"

"Smallest you got?" I nodded as if I had a pocketful. He hustled around and came back with a handful of money. I said nothing, but when he spread it out before me I sat paralyzed. I had just assumed that Dave had given me a dollar. Sinkers, deducting the price of two coffees and six sandwiches from the bill, counted out $19.30 for me.

That change kept me running for a month, and after my first pay day I hunted up Dave to pay him back. I found him in the evening. He was sitting alone on the eating house porch his feet up against the rail, looking at

was a queer deal out on the Wes End in those days. It was a case of wide open from the river to the Rockies. Everybody on the line, from the di rectors to the car tinks, were giving the company the worst of it. The section hands hooked the ties for the mainte nance, the painters drank the afcohol for the shellar, the purchasing agent had more fast horses than we had locomotives, and what made it discourag ing for the conductors the auditors stole what little money the boys did turn in.

A hard place to begin railroading the old line was then, but that's where I had to tackle the game, and in all the hard crowd I mixed with Dave Hawk was the only big man on the division There were others there who fixed the thing up by comparing notes on their collections and turning in percentage to make their reports look right, but Dave was not a conspirator, never made a confidant of any man in his stealing or his spending and despised their figuring. He did as he pleased and cared for no one. No superior had any terror for Dave. He had a wife somewhere back east of the river, they said, that had sold him out-that's why he was in the mountains-and he lived among free and easy men a lonely life. If anybody ever got close to him I think maybe I did, though I was still only a freight conductor when the lightning struck the division.

It came with a clean sweep through the general offices at the river-everybody in the auditing department, the executive heads down to general manager, and a whole raft of East End conductors. It was a shake-out from top to bottom, and the bloods on our division went white and sickly very fast. Of course it was somebody's gain

More to Prepare the Surface

Pure Linseed Oil. This is the only paint which is elastic enough and tough enough, in spite of climatic changes, to wear smoothly and evenly right down to the surface, leaving it free and uniform, all ready for the painter to begin his work when repainting is finally necessary.

A paint adulterated with barytes, yellow ochre, zinc and other substitutes for Pure White Lead, is inevitably stiff and brittle; and changes in temperature make it blister, crack and peel. Long before such paint has worn away, repainting becomes a ne-cessity, on account of the many places left exposed. Yet, before repainting can be done, the blotchy, uneven surface must be scraped or burned till the smooth surface of the wood itself is reached. This requires much of the painter's valuable time, and is attended with no little risk from fire.

Avoid this expensive process and the danger which it always involves, by insisting on Pure White Lead in the first place. Don't leave any loophole; specify the brand:

Quincy High Lucky in Game with Adams Academy

Quincy High and Adams Academy met on the diamond yesterday, for the second time this year; the former winning in a ten inning game by the core of 8 to 7.

High took the lead in the second Adams was not idle, and in the seventh A. M. P. M. forged ahead.

In the ninth inning, with two down, and the score 7 to 5 in favor of Adams, the High boys tied the score. An error by Curley allowed Fallon to reach first and he stole second, scoring on a twobagger by Comins, who also crossed the road.

In the tenth, High school by clean hits brought in Nichols, the first man up, and the game was won. Adams came near scoring in the tenth when Snyder was thrown out at the plate by

Quincy Mansion School Reception

The reception given on Tuesday e ing, by Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Willard to the senior class of the Quincy Mansion school was as usual, a most happy occasion for students and friends. From eight until ten o'clock, the guests were received in the parlor by Dr. and Mrs. Willard and the Class of 1906, which numbered fourteen as follows:

Miss Corine E. Barbour, Wollaston, Miss Annie H. Gillingham, Fairhaven. Miss Marion C. Haller, Omaha, Miss Helen F. Many Arrivals At the Seashore.

Things have been humming at the beach this week. Many new families have arrived and new arrivals are reported every day. The beach therefor has begun to assume its summer aspect. Nearly all of the lunch rooms are open every day and there are quite a few daily visitors. This was especially true on Memorial day when there was a crush. Four and five cars were run on every trip and they all went loaded. This week the railway company have put half hour service in force and before the eud of the month will have of its pipe laying gang. fifteen minute time. Large cars of the newer pattern are being run on this line this year and are appreciated.

Ask That Wages Be Restored to Schedule Existing Prior to 12 1-2 Percent Cutdown--Affects 25,000 Mill Workers

Fall River, Mass., June 2.—The Fall River Textile council, at a conference with representatives of the Manufacturers' association, requested the restoration of the reduction in wages of 121/2 percent which was made in the cotton mills here in July, 1904, just prior to the great six months' strike.

A large number of the operatives are said to be dissatisfied with the wage dividend system, which was adopted by agreement in 1905 and which is based on the margin between the cost of cotton in New York and the selling price of standard print cloths. For two weeks only since the dividend system went into effect has the extra wages paid amounted to 10 percent. Since April 28 last the margin has been so small that no dividend has been paid, so that the cutdown of 1904 has been in full operation. For 30 weeks the average wage has amounted to 18.7 cents per cut for weaving.

The manufacturers' representatives stated that they believed that the present dividend agreement was binding for one year from last November, and that until it was definitely decided whether such was the case they could not entertain the proposition that the cut of 1904 be restored. The members of the Textile council said that they had no power to pass upon the question, but would have to submit it to the various unions. The conference came to an end without definite action being

ROOSEVELT ATTACKED

Is Declared to Be Weak and Wavering In Policy

Washington, June 2 .- When Senator Aldrich sought to secure the passage of his resolution giving the president authority to go outside the United States to buy supplies for the Panama canal in case bids in the United States are extortionate and unreasonable, Senator Stone opposed the resolution on the ground that it was useless to pass it.

"No one can doubt," he said, that the president will buy practically all canal materials in America, no matter what the differences in prices here and abroad may be. The men who contributed the stupendous slush funds to carry the last three presidential elections for the Republicans almost of necessity have their grasp upon those who accepted their princely donations.

Senator Stone said that the president and Secretary Taft had announced that they would not be held up in the purchase of materials for the canal by American manufacturers or American shipowners, but that the special interests affected resisted and won.

"Promptly they organized their forces to resist and to discipline him. The president's courage was put to the test and, as usual, proved unequal to the strain. There was a great thundering by him in the index, with the customary Rooseveltian flasco at the finish. Instead of buying canal materials in the cheapest markets, he bought practically everything he purchased-08 percent of the whole-at protected, trust prices in America."

In support of this contention he cited the facts in connection with the purchase from the Ward line of two ships for the canal service. The president, he said, instead of buying two foreign ships of 6000 tons each for $750,000, bought two American ships of 5700 tons for $1,300,000. These vessels, said Stone, had originally cost not to exceed $600,000 and as they had been in service about eight years were worth 40 percent less.

He closed with the assertion that the resolution proposed to give the president a club he will never use. "It is one of those big sticks that will lie idle

Great Earthquake Recorded

Washington, June 2.-The seismo graph at the weather bureau registered an earthquake of considerable magnitude beginning at about midnight of May 31. The strong portion of the motion began at about 12:34 a.m., June 1, and continued for about 11 minutes. The total duration of the earthquake was nearly two hours. The indications are that the origin of the present earthquake was at a much greater distance from Washington than San Francisco. The vibration recorded was greater than any since the disaster at San Fran-

Fifty Thousand People Homeless San Francisco, June 2 .- It is estimated that 50,000 homeless persons will have to be taken care of during the coming 12 months by the authori ties, and it has been recommended that temporary barracks be erected to this end. The rentals are to be nominal. Each house will accommodate from four to eight families. The idea of community living will enter into the plans, for common cook houses, baths etc., will be provided for the barrack

New York, June 2.- Josephine Terranova was acquitted of the murder of her aunt, Concetta Riggio, for which she had been on trial for several weeks. She was, however, not released, being remanded to the Tombs to answer to the charge of murdering her uncle, who was killed at the same time as his wife Judge Scott, in his charge, instructed the jury that they should properly find a verdict of murder in the first degree

Boston and Maine Branches Out

Schenectady, N. Y., June 2.-There is every reason to believe that the Boston and Maine railroad is back of the Schenectady and Southwestern, which was incorporated at Albany with a capital of $850,000. It will connect with purely coal roads and will give the Boston and Maine its long-sought entrance to the mining district of Pennsylvania and also enable it to compete with the New Haven road in New England.

Cripple Shoots Labor Leader

Chicago, June 2 .- John W. Lavine known among labor leaders throughout the United States, was probably fa tally shot last night by John T. Tobias, a fellow member of the Cigarmakers' union. Tobias is a cripple and for some time has been supported by the union. Lavine opposed the raising of more money for Tobias. Tobias was arrested.

President Talks to Negroes

Washington, June 2.-President Roosevelt delivered an address to the graduating class at Howard university. He was given a hearty greeting by the large audience of negro students and others. The president dwelt on the importance of a fixed purpose in striving for the accomplishment of high ideals in the work of life.

Roston, June 2.-Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page at Weston on March 31, 1904, last night | bracers. Come out into the sunshine left the Middlesex county jail at East Cambridge, where he has been confined for more than two years, and entered the death cell at the state prison at Charlestown. From this cell Tucker will not emerge until he is summoned to suffer death in the electric chair in the week beginning June 10 or has his sentence commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Guild.

Tucker's transfer was witnessed by a number of newspaper reporters and citizens. At 6:30 a closed carriage was driven to the entrance of the Cambridge jail yard. Five minutes later Tucker emerged from the jail. He was handcuffed to Sheriff Fairbairn and was escorted by two deputies. Entering the carriage, the party was driven over the Prison Point bridge to Charlestown, arriving at the state prison six minutes after leaving the jail.

BOSTON LETTER.

Guild's Police and Excise Appointments Good.

Members Defend Closed Bribery Investigation.

There is general satisfaction with Governor Guild's appointments for police commissioner and excise commissioners of the city of Boston. When the measure was first proposed for the separation of the licensing and police functions, at that time administered by the metropolitan police commission, there was a general concession that the two duties of the board were incongruous, but there was quite a common fear expressed that unless the men selected to fill the new positions were of the highest character it might be a disastrous move.

The appointments just made give eminent satisfaction not only in Bos-

The legislature has finally enacted the bill for the licensing of express companies to carry liquor. This is a measure asked for by the temperance evil. This bill allows the licensing authorities to license one or more legitimate express companies to transport liquors, and will cut out those expresses in no-license places which have existed in the past for the sole purpose of bringing intoxicating liquors into towns which have voted against the granting of liquor licenses.

The temperance people of the commonwealth are very much pleased at the passage of this legislation, but the measure has had a very tempestuous passage through the house and senate and cost its friends a good deal of anxiety from the time it was introduced until it reached the governor and was approved by him.

Hard to Convict of Bribery

It is always difficult-in fact, well nigh impossible-to secure evidence of bribery. The person who offers the bribe is usually very careful in his selection of the one to whom the bribe is to be offered, and the person who receives the bribe is not likely to testify against himself. A good many suspicious circumstances taken together might lead to valuable evidence, and the committee on rules evidently believed that they could get such evidence more efficiently behind closed doors. Whether this reasoning appeals to any particular person or not it is not an unreasonable point of view.

There is, of course, an honest difference of opinion as to the method by which an investigation of this sort should be carried on. There seems to be no difference of opinion within the legislature as to the honesty and competency of the committee on rules, which has charge of this delicate matter. It is agreed in that body that the committee is made up of men of the highest character, and, as is well known, the investigation has been conducted by Attorney General Malone or his assistants.

Whatever may be thought of the method which the committee on rules pursued to obtain the evidence they desire, there seems to be, now, no doubt that it has made commendable progress and got at some very striking facts. Perhaps the criticisms which have been made on this method of investigation has spurred the members to do all within their power to get at the bottom facts in the case and prove the truth or falsity of the accusations which have been made. The committee is evidently determined to do no whitewash-

The committee has heard a great deal of evidence, for all the members of the house have been summoned to appear and testify, and if any persons have any knowledge of bribery it is wholly probable that the committee will discover it. A great many ridiculous and unjust statements have been made in regard to this and other legislatures. Those who have been longest connected with the great and general court, including the veteran newspaper men, take no stock in the wholesale charges of corruption which have been made in some of the newspapers. WOMEN'S ATHLETICS.

A Physician Warns Against the Dangers of Overtraining.

Dr. Sargent of Harvard is not an enthusiast on public school developments in the way of girls' teams of basketball or hockey players. In a recent talk on the subject he expressed the opinion that girls and women are in possible uanger of overdoing athletics which are popular with boys and men. the lighter and more graceful forms of gymnastics and athletics, says Dr. Sargent, and make herself supreme along these lines, as she has already done in aesthetic dancing. Among the athletic sports and games likely to prove injurious to most women if played in the form in which they are played by men Dr. Sargent mentioned football, ice hockey, basketball, pole vaulting and heavy gymnastics. These games prove injurious to women, he said, because of the limitations imposed by their physical configuration, the tendency to become masculine in form and character if they try to excel in masculine pursuits and their inability to bear prolonged mental and physical strain. Nevertheless such sports could be so modified as to meet the peculiar requirements of the sex, with the result that they could be played by women with reasonable hope of physical, mental and moral development. The advice is so sound and timely that it ought to have the widest possible publicity. The extreme to which some matches of basketball among girls of high schools has been carried right in Massachusetts would be enough of itself to convince the average observer that Dr. Sargent had spoken none too sharply. There can be a hysteria in sport as well as in any other healthy

An Important Factor In Improving a Woman's Appearance.

Few women realize how much their appearance depends on the way they dress their neck. Women with short necks bundle themselves up until they There was a good smart shower at look as if they had chronic sore throats, while a girl with a neck like a giraffe wears a little turndown collar.

Let her who has the long neck wear by the Union Stars in the sixth inning all the high, soft adornments she can get together. With an evening gown she need not be afraid to put a band of ribbon under her necklace, and she will look all the better.

In the daytime medium necked women should never wear a collar that confines the neck too much, in the evencommittee of the House voted ought ing the least adornment possible, and if she be fortunate enough to have a pretty neck and throat she is much bet-Rev. Ward. If done in this way it will not shade white and look shiny.

If a material has a pattern running one way only, care must be taken when cutting out a blouse that the two fronts do not have the pattern going in different directions. Never patch a woolen dress unless it is absolutely unavoidable. Tack a piece of the material underneath the weak place and darn on the right side, and if carefully done the repair will hardly show.

When shirt waist cuffs begin to fray an excellent plan is to dampen the cuffs and carefully cut along the top of the stitching line; then, while still damp, turn in the edges and restitch. This will freshen up your waist and make it last for some time.

A Nerve Pillow.

A "nerve" pillow is something which physicians are said to recommend and which can easily be made at home. One needs only to gather or buy a Star quantity of dried soporific herbs, such as hops and catnip leaves, bayberry smelling, sleepy things as one can think of. Dry and powder and mix all together. Then fill your "nerve" pillow with the sachet powder thus formed. Stuff the pillow with down or cotton batting or feathers, and either scatter the powder thick through the filling, or, what is better, make flat sachet bags and fasten them securely to the inner seams of the pillow.

Choosing Meat. In selecting beef for roasts or steaks see that the lean is firm and red and that the meat is finely grained. The fat should be firm and white. Never accept any meat which looks flabby or discolored or on which the fat is yellow. In choosing mutton the meat should be dark, with plenty of fat in it. Meat without fat shows poorly fed stock. If the fat is yellow and the meat seems wet or moist do not accept it. As a general rule all meat should be firm, never flabby. Lamb and veal should both be light colored, pale-veal, in fact, cannot be too white.

cupying 12 feet 8 inches at the front dainty "Geisha Girls." The passenger compartment is 41 feet 16% inches long, with a total seatng capacity of seventy-five. In outward appearance the car is unlike anything seen at Jersey City before. The front of the car is shaped not unlike the prow of a battleship, and the resemblance to a vessel is further carried out by portholes which take the place of the usual square windows. The entrance is in the middle of the car, the steps being inside. The car is two feet lower than an ordinary passenger coach and has a round top roof.

An ingenious system of ventilation secures a complete change of air every out through the ventilator pipes in the there is no lateral draft of air inside the car, and one may smoke in the forward part of the car without the slightest inconvenience to those sitting at the other end. Acetylene gas is used for lighting purposes, and hot water from the cylinder jackets for heat.

The latest thing in "private" excelence is the locomotive. It is hereafter to be classed along with the private car and the private yacht. Three locomotives are being built at the Juniata shops of the Pennsylvania railroad for the personal use of President A. J. Cassatt, General Manager W. W. Atterbury and General Superintendent George W. Creighton.

These engines are to be speedy, powerful and beautiful and are to be reserved for special service only. For several years past the absence of brasswork from locomotives has been notice able. There will be a return of the brasswork vanity upon these new lo comotives. They will be beautifully i, and all exposed parts will be highly polished. The interior of the cabs will be finished in mahogany, and the driving wheels will be covered to centers, patterned after the Deghlenn French engine.

The Eastern railway of Mexico will be ballasted with gold ore between Texico and Rio Puerto, a distance of 270 miles, says a Texas correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle. This ballast rock is obtained from the gravel bed adjacent to the new line of the road. Repeated assays have shown that the ballast runs upward of $2 in gold to the ton. About 4,500 tons of rock are used to the mile, making the value of the gold $9,000 to each mile and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical frathe next station on railroad trains, says a special dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The machine is so constructed that it always shows in advance the names of the next three streets or stations as they come in regular order, thus informing the passenger of the approach of his street and giving him time to get ready to get off, or if on a railroad train he has the time it takes to run three stations to be ready to get off. Patents have been allowed in the United States and applied for in European countries.

On the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific an order has been issued requiring copies of train orders to be delivered to the head brakeman of each train, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. On passenger trains the head brakeman must show his copy to the flagman. On freight trains the conductor must show his copy to the rear brake-

The Rector of St Chrysostoms Addresses the Odd Fellows

The annual memorial service of John Ianceck lodge of Odd Fellows of Wollaston on Sunday recalled the frightful eccident of the Fourth of July last year when two firemen lost their lives n responding to a fire alarm. One of these Robert T. Fisher was also an Odd Fellow. Another member of the lodge to pass away during the year was Allen G. McKinley.

John Hancock lodge invited several odies of Odd Fellows to participate aged 67 years. and there was a goodly representation rom Mt. Wollaston lodge, Crescent dge, Nepouset lodge, Wompatuck enampment, Manet encampment, Steadfast Rebekah lodge, Reliance Rebekah odge, and Geo. L. Gill Rebekah lodge.

House Ransacked Early in Evening

The residence of Mrs. Mary A. Reed at 51 Coddington street was entered early Saturday evening by burglars who rummaged the house from top to bottom. Everything was turned upside down, drawers turned inside out and in fact every place where the parties thought valuables might be found was overhauled.

Early in the evening Mrs. Reed and her daughter went out for a walk. They returned about ten o'clock. When Mrs. Only nine safe hits were made on the Reed tried to open the door she found about the room and everything was in

Local Brevities About the City

Mayor Thompson is expected home from New Hampshire this week. This will be a week of weddings several being announced to take place.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company have purchased more land of Edwin W. Newcomb.

There is considerable business to come before the City Conneil at its regular meeting tonight.

There were hundreds of visitors at Houghs Neck Sunday and many extra from Crescent park on their return to cars were run by the street railway.

The Assessors have practically completed their field work. It will be some weeks yet however before the tax rate is made up.

There were three companies of the Boys Brigade on Memorial Day; one from Atlantic, one from Wollaston, and one from Neponset; and it was a proud day for the young soldiers.

The Citizens' Temperance Association is becoming interested in the new liquor express law and will protest against the granting of too many licenses and also against granting licenses to those who have been convicted in court for violation of the liquor laws.

H. W. McCabe of this city, will not be booked at Revere Beach this season for the moving pictures and illustrated songs. Mr. McCabe went to Detroit, Michigan, Feb. 1, to take Juries. Immediately those who escharge of the Casino Co's, theatres running continuous moving pictures. He will remain there indefinitely as chief operator for the above company and of stones forming a fulcrum, and the agent for Miles Bros, of New York and San Francisco.

Painting Done by Machinery. The air brush for touching up solar prints has long been familiar in photograph enlarging studios, but the same principle is now applied to a much larger task. At the shipbuilding yards at Devonport compressed air is used to spray paint on the hull of a boat, two men applying the coat in the same time that twelve ordinary painters would require and doing a much better job, since with the air pressure it is possible to apply the paint more evenly. In addition to the saving in the cost of the painters, less paint is required for each coat, and it is declared that the process is bound to extend to all shipyards within a short time. The idea suggested itself to the foreman of the yard while watching the mechanics working with the compressed air riveting machine.-Dundee Advertiser.

Billiards by Telegraph.

Chess by cable has long been an attraction, and perhaps the popularity of dwelling. Shortly after the arrival of this game was responsible for the telegraphic billiard match recently played and St. Joseph hospital those superby two men some 300 miles apart. The table was marked into squares small enough to accurately place the balls. At the end of each play the exact position of the three balls would be telegraphed the other and the balls on the second table placed in precisely the same position as they were left on the first. It required four days to play off the game, as no special wire was used. Had arrangements been made for direct communication the game could have been concluded in little more than the usual time.

Car Crowded With Merrymakers Meets Disaster

NINE INSTANTLY KILLED

Two Others Die In a'Short Time, While Many Are Injured -- The Road Was New to Motorman, Who Coasted Down Hill

Providence, June 4 .- About 100 young people of Providence and vicinity early Sunday passed through the most disastrous street railway wreck in the history of Rhode Island. Nine persons were killed outright, two others died soon after the accident, a dozen persons are in the Providence hospitals suffering from injuries which, in one or two cases will prove fatal, and in addition many persons are at their homes suffering from shock, cuts and bruises. The dead are:

George Atcherson, 20 years old; Edward F. Brennan, 18; Alice Franklin, 17; Enrico Gamboni, 23; John Gavin, 20; Angelo Germain, 30; Gustave Guertin, 25; William W. Luther, 27; Bertha Ethel Whitley, aged 19.

The scene of the wreck was at Moore's Corner, East Providence, and was on the suburban line of the Rhode though experienced in his calling, was unfamiliar with the road, over which he was traveling for the first time. Laucher was put in charge of the car at the solicitation of the passengers, a Catholic society, who were returning to this city from Crescent park, a shore re sort on the Providence river. The car, a chartered open car of heavy build, and containing 15 seats, was crowded when the party started this city. The members of the party were singing gaily as the car sped along towards Moore's corner, where the track curves sharply at the foot of a long, but not particularly heavy, grade. Fog prevented a clear view of the road ahead and the motorman, unable to see far in front of the car, and unaware of the sharp curve below, allowed the car to coast rapidly down PAINTER,

When the motorman felt the car swing into the curve he applied the brakes and reversed the power in an effort to prevent an accident. The weight of a number of men on the running board and the momentum of the car sufficed to derail the great trolley and throw it into the road, 20 feet from the track, where it fell on its side, be tween a tree and a guide post.

Seven of the passengers were pinioned beneath the car and instantly killed. The shrieks and groans of other passengers gave evidence of terrible incaped with little or no injury began ments a large joist lying in a nearby dooryard was utilized as a lever, a pile car was raised from the ground just enough to permit the escape of its imprisoned passengers. Those within then began desperate attempts to squeeze through the narrow openings thus afforded. Two passengers had succeeded in escaping when the joist broke under the weight of the car and the heavy vehicle fell back to the ground, pinioning two persons beneath its weight and killing them instantly. The rescuers again raised the car from the ground and by building a pile of heavy stones kept it in posiion. James Brown, who lived nearby, then went underneath the car and dragged two bodies out. Those of the passengers who were able to assist in the rescue work joined forces with persons living in the neighborhood and soon a grim row of nine dead, six men and three women, was in the grass beside the highway.

In the meantime physicians and ambulances had been summoned from Providence and Riverside. The home of Seth Wood was turned into a temporary hospital, and the victims of the wreck went or were carried into the the doctors from Rhode Island hospital ficially injured were set apart and the more seriously hurt were placed upon a special car and brought to Rhode Island hospital in this city. Two of the injured, John Gavin and George Atcherson, died within an hour.

The panic and loss of self-control which generally characterizes such disasters were conspicuously absent at the wreck. Although most of the passengers were young women, they bore themselves with unusual courage in every case.

The news of the accident spread rapidly through Olneyville and Thornton and relatives and friends flocked to the scene, fearing the worst on account of the exaggerated rumors.

Moore's corner has been the scene of several trolley accidents, none of which specifying laws of husband and wife have resulted in any fatalities. The curve is one of the sharpest in the com-

Forty-Two Killed In Riots

Bisbee, Ariz., June 4 .- The town of Cananea, Mex., now is under martial law, and Colonel Kosterlisky is disarming Americans and Mexicans alike. No shots have been fired since Saturday afternoon. Colonel Greene, chief owner of the Cananea copper mines, makes the statement that the trouble is over. A conservative estimate of 36 Mexicans and six Americans.

Heavy Damage by Sprinklers Omaha, June 4 .- An insignificant fire was the indirect cause of heavy damage to the stock of Haiden Bros.' department store and the asphyxiation of 15 firemen and a police surgeon, all of whom recovered. The fire started the automatic sprinklers, which flooded five floors of the building, ruining half of the stock, valued at $650,000.

BATTLE FOR LIFE

ALLEGED DICKER IN 1892

Tucker Wanted to Swap 25-Cent Pin For One Worth $1.50--Harris Claimed by Both Sides Because of Recent Statements

Boston, June 4.—Charles L. Tucker's last chance for life will come with the hearing on the petition for the commutation of sentence before Governor Guild at the state house tomorrow.

Both sides will enter the battle confident of victory. Tucker's lawyers argely pin their faith on the statement made by George Chase regarding the Canadian stickpin, but they claim also that they have accumulated much other new evidence.

"There is no new evidence. The sitnation remains just as it was when Fucker was pronounced guilty," say he prosecuting officials.

Miss Anna J. Chase, wife of George H. Chase of Brighton, who says Tucker had a Canadian stickpin long before the Page murder, yesterday corroborated her husband's story about the Tucker pin. She said: "I remember distinctly my husband saying that Tucker tried to swap a Canadian pin with him for a clasp pin with the seal of Massachusetts on it This was in 1902. I had a Canadian pin of my own, and Mr. Chase was faniliar with the Canadian seal on it. The seal on the Tucker pin was the same as mine and that of the alleged Page pin offered in evidence at the trial.

"The reason why my husband did not swap pins was because Tucker's pin was a cheap 25-cent pin and his was a gold-plated one worth $150. When my husband saw it Tucker was wearing it in the front of his yachting cap, which was raised in front by means of the stickpin.

"There are others who know Tuckime of the trial, and when he read of have the est that money can buy. the Canadian pin being offered in testi mony, he said to me: 'They can't hold the pin against him, because I saw him with one like it."

Owing to his contradictory statements, Medical Examiner Harris will be claimed by both sides for substantiative testimony. Harris sprung a sensation recently by announcing that his testimony at the Tucker trial was wrong. Later he retracted this statement.

But Messrs. Vahey, Innes & Man& field say that they have names of persons to whom they claim Harris expressed the view that Tucker's knife ould not have made the wounds. It is possible that Harris may be spared the necessity of appearing, by the preentation of an affidavit.

Photographer Turner will endeavor o show by means of an enlargement made by a snapshot taken of Tucker by New and Second Hand nis wife that the prisoner wore a Car dian stickpin in his cap several years will have charge of the opposition to Tucker's plea for clemency, says: "The story told by Chase is not new evidence. Their evidence was disbelieved by the jury as unreliable. It was wholly discredited. What Chase ays is merely accumulative testimony of this same worthless kind. It means nothing more than a repetition of that which has been heard.

The collection includes eight paintings by Rembrandt, four by Rubens and six by Van Dyck. There s a large quantity of splendid 18th century furniture. The collection also contains some magnificent tapestries and fine pieces of sculpture.

St. Petersburg, June 4 .- The possi ollity of a conflict between the lower house of parliament and the government over the abolition of the death penalty, according to The Rech, has been obviated by the decision of the ministry to support such a measure. It is doubtful, however, whether this will extend to cases under martial law, which is exactly the point desired by the house.

Urges Prompt Legislation In Submitting Investigators' Report to Congress--Extreme Filth In Stock Yards and Packing Houses, Where Common Decencies of Life Are Ignored -- Floors Culture Beds For Disease Germs--Old Canned Stuff "Livened Up" and Sold as New -- Scraps on Floors Converted Into Food Products

Washington, June 5 .- Disclosures so horrifying as to be almost beyond belief are made in the special report on the Chicago packing houses prepared by Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and James B. Reynolds of New York, and submitted to congress by President Roosevelt.

In his message accompanying the report, the president characterizes conditions found by the two investigators as "revolting," and urges immediate of health and decency."

disregard on the part of employes of any notion of cleanliness in handling dressed meat, we saw a hog that had just been killed, cleaned, washed and started on its way to the cooling room fall from the sliding rail to a dirty wooden floor and slide part way into a filthy men's privy. It was picked up by two employes, placed upon a truck, carried into the cooling room and hung up with other carcasses, no effort being made to clean it.

Rubbish In "Potted Ham"

In one well known establishment we came upon fresh meat being shovelled into barrels and a regular proportion being added of stale scraps that had lain on a dirty floor in the corner of the room for some days previous. In another establishment, equally well known, a long table was noted covered Referred to Agriculture Committee with several hundred pounds of cooked craps of beef and other meats.

Some of these meat scraps were dry eathery, and unfit to be eaten, and in the heap were found pieces of pigskin, and even some bits of rope strands packers great interest was displayed and other rubbish. Health and Comfort Ignored

The lack of consideration for the health and comfort of the laborers in the Chicago stockyards seems to be a direct consequence of the system of administration that prevails. The unsanitary conditions in which the laborwhich it is carried about, and the tubs | ers work and the feverish pace which and other receptacles into which it is they are forced to maintain inevitably thrown are generally of wood. TUCKER HEARING

a Way Not Yet Mentioned"-Case Comes Before Governor

Boston, June 5.-A woman who has hitherto not figured in the Page murder case will, it has been promised, box and shelves lift out to be cleaned, furnish the sensation of the hearing on the petition for the commutation of Charles L. Tucker's death sentence, to vanized iron shelves and lining, be held before Governor Guild at the nished in hard wood kiln dried, and & state house today. Strict secrecy is being maintained by the attorneys for the defense regarding her identity and the nature of the evidence which she will offer, but they say it will be sensational and will save their client.

When asked concerning this person. one of Tucker's lawyers said: "We regard the testimony of the woman of vital importance. It affects the Page murder in a way not yet mentioned. This woman will make a revelation which will prove of more value to Tucker's cause than even the statements of George Chase and Mrs. E. J. Burnes egarding his having owned a Canalian stickpin like that found on him when arrested. In short, we are satised that what this witness says will of itself furnish sufficient cause for the commutation of the death penalty. Yes, this is the new evidence which we have been guarding so carefully."

The last efforts to save Tucker from the death chair will have its setting in the executive chamber. Former Attorney General Parker will lead the opposition to the Tucker movement and he will be assisted by District Attorney Sanderson. Senior Counsel Vahey expresses confidence that he will emerge victorious.

No one but the counsel and witnesses will be allowed to participate, but full reports of the session will be given to the press. The parents of the conlemned youth will be on hand to enter personal plea with the governor. In addition to evidence from witnesses, Messrs. Vahey, Innes & Mansfield will base their claim for clemency

Coal Company's Guard's Were Ambushed by Large Force of Strikers and Retired In Disorder After Exchanging Shots

Steubenville, O., June 5 .- While the situation in Jefferson county is more pacific relative to the miners' troubles at Dillonvale, Plum Run, Bradley and other mining towns in the vicinity of which a battle occurred between the striking miners and armed guards yestrouble and the fear is general that the situation will become most acute when troops that were ordered from Columbus arrive.

At Dillonvale the strikers are in a most turbulent mood. It is reported that they and their sympathizers made Sawed and Split to Order at Short Notice large purchases of rifles, revolvers and ammunition and, finding an insufficient quantity at Dillonvale, extended their purchases to Steubenville and Wheeling. Every attempt is being made by the leaders of the mine workers to hold the men in check, but the failure to pay | 1 ard off Milit. Deputy Sheriff Murray, who is stationed at the Bradley mine, telephoned Car of Trust Funds. to Sheriff Voorhees last night, saving that the miners threatened to "clean out" the guards before the troops arrive. The guards will leave as soon as the troops arrive. Voorhees said he asked for troops only when threats were made to burn mining property and use dynamite

The guards of the United States Coal company who were involved in the outbreak yesterday are entrenched near Crow Hollow, and persons living in the vicinity are fearful of trouble and keeping to their homes.

While various estimates have been made of the casualties, it is impossible to verify any reports of deaths, although it is known that 10 or more were hurt. The coal company denies known that one of the wounded guards have the est that money can buy. who fell into the hands of the strikers was taken to Smithfield as a prisoner.

The clash was the direct outgrowth of the alleged abuse by the United States Coal company's guards of an Italian union miner from Pittsburg on Sunday afternoon. Yesterday morning 68 of the company's guards started to march across the hill from Plum Run to the Bradley mine, and at Crow hollow were ambushed by a force of 200 to 300 strikers. In the battle that ensued several hundred shots were fired, but the strikers' aim was bad, which accounts for the few casualties. DR. CLAYTON R. MARSTIN The guards were forced, after 20 min nghting, to retire in disorder to Plum Run.

Dynamite Used on Bridge

Cleveland, June 5 .- With a roar which shook buildings for many blocks exploded last night under the east end Jan. 31. of the long new trestle which is to carry the Nickel Plate tracks over the Cuyahoga valley to this city. The force of the explosion was downward instead of upward, and comparatively little damage was done. Work on the structure has been in progress by non-union Invading Force of Three Thousand Mexico City, June 5 .- The latest news from the Guatemalan revolution is that General Castillo and his forces have effected a junction with General Toledo, making the total invading force 3000 well armed men. President Cabrera, it is alleged, has not only imprisoned disaffected citizens, but has arrested men who would take no part in the revolution and held them as sus-

FOR SALE AT THE

The Marriage Law of 1975

In the year 1975 the government assumed control of all marriages. District courts were instituted with a view to promote marriage, prevent unfortunate matches and mate only healthy persons. The court was given power to order marriages and to refuse applications to marry. A couple ordered to marry must appear before the clerk of the court within thirty days after the serving of the order and be married by him in civil form. Couples Power Co. marrying without or in defiance of permission of the court were by virtue et al of such disobedience divorced without process of law.

The law was popular with all thinking men over forty and with all elderly women who had not entered into bell (2) the matrimonial state. It was only opposed by young people to whom applications were refused and whose applielse should be refused. At first it seemed to be working well. No bribery or corruption of the court officials was possible. The sentiment of all right minded people being in favor of it, the malcontents did not lift a voice against it. But it goes without saying in that when a couple comes into that condition called "love" they are if opposed like a stream of water seeking an outlet. Water will not always flow openly on firm ground. It is constantly looking for some weak spot which it will cover up, then proceed to soften, bore, widen, till at last it has found the coveted outlet. So it is with lovers. They will always choose underhanded

The beneficent law of government ownership of its propagators came to grief by means of this veiled trickery of young lovers who had either been To Free and Correct the Blood a Uric-O refused certificates or were ordered to mate with proper persons, or both. Many were astonished that there was no evidence of opposition from this class. The fact was these young people of blighted pedigree were secretly undermining the operation of the law.

It was the Blythe-Tomlinson, Harvey-Erskine cases that opened the people's eyes and caused an investigation which revealed more duplicity, more subtle evasion of the marriage law than was discovered by our ancestors the management of their life insur ace companies.

The following order was promulgated in distric', No. 57,493: First. - The application of William Blythe to marry Rebecca Tomlinson is refused. Second .- The application of John Harvey to marry Jane Erskine is refused.

Third.—John Harvey is ordered to mar-

The records of the hereditary department show that there was excessive temper in William Blythe's family, his mother having fractured his father's skull with a rolling pin It is also recorded that Jane Erskine's father died while trying to win a bet that he could drink a gallon of whisky within one hour. The hereditary records of John Harvey and Rebecca Tomlinson were perfect. Never was a matrimonial order better calculated not only to pro mote the ultimate happiness of the parties concerned, but of generations unborn. No shrews, no sots, would result from the union of these two perfectly healthy persons, the descendants of perfectly healthy parents. It was the thirtieth day after John Harvey had been ordered to marry Let the aim of your life be a little Rebecca Tomlinson, a hot day in June violets. The clerk, an elderly man, who When we enlighten you about prices had been dozing in his chair, roused

"Won't you have a whiff of my violets?" said the bride, smiling sweetly at the old clerk.

She poked the flowers under his nose:

he drew a long draft and felt pleasurable sensations. Then another couple came in and identified the first. "John Harvey," said the man voucher, pointing with one thumb to the groom and with the other to himself. Then the for the bride. The clerk felt a mist coming before his eyes and, hurrying through the simple ceremony, pronounced the candidates man and wife.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Nerfolk, on the thirteenth day of June, A. D. 1906, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. woman attendant repeated the process

"John Harvey-Rebecca Tomlinson." "Why, I married that couple," said the clerk, vainly trying to fix his eyes on his record. The woman he had just married shoved her violets under his nose, and he felt himself near a soporific collapse. He concluded he must be mistaken. The first groom vouched for the second groom, this time pointing to him alone. The first bride repeated the process for the second bride. By this nefarious trick were married, first, William Blythe and Rebecca Tomlinson and, second, John Harvey and Jane Erskine. The trick was soon after discovered, the court marriage records overhauled and such knavery laid bare that the law was declared inoperative and was finally repealed. ARLINE PHILLIPS.

The chapter decided to accept the ordial invitation of Mrs. Laura Wentworth Fowler to visit Daisy Farm at Dedham on Thursday June 21st as her guests. If stormy the chapter will go the following day.

A fine program had been planned for the afternoon and at the close of the short business meeting there was a piano solo by Miss Drake followed by a most interesting talk on Concord. Mass., by Rev. Mr. Bulkley of Beverly. He gave much of the literary side of concord as well as its history. As it was his ancestral home and he also at one time preached there, his address was full of personal reminiscences. The program closed with another iano selection by Miss Drake which was heartily applauded, after which social chat was enjoyed until car time. Ices, fruit punch and cake were disensed by the hostesses. There was a arge attendance and it brought the hapter meetings for this season, to a very pleasant close.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

The fact that the City Hospital of Quincy now stands free from debt has given the Hospital Aid association fresh courage to work for a Nurses' Home. The president, Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, proposes to hold a sale in November, at her home on Goffe street, in aid of this much needed object. All members and friends are urged to keep this in mind during the summer and to make either useful or fancy articles and to solicit contributions for this sale in the autumn. The fund is already something more than a thousand dollars. Let all try by united effort to Home take tangible shape in the near future. Remember it was the Hospital Aid association that built the hospital laundry and it is apparently to be their work to furnish suitable quarters for the faithful nurses.

Hitchcock and the Cat That Came Back

HILE we were on the road with "Easy Dawson" I had the chance of my life to pose as a wit and show (if I possessed it) my gift for repartee. But alas for the wonderful speeches that come too late for appreciation and applause! It was my cue for a song. The director waved his baton, the musical prelude began, and I stepped toward the footlights, when suddenly from the wings a black cat came forth and, walking between the leader and me, sat down and, looking up into my face, gave a terrifle

"You go right back. This isn't your eue," I said quickly, and the cat got up and walked off as if she had been chearsed. I had no sooner made this most ordinary speech than the thought occurred to me, "Why didn't you distinguish yourself by saying, 'This is not Tuesday," in allusion to the well known rule at Henry W. Savage's office, "All voices tried on Tuesday." That was what I remembered too late. and I told the company about it after the curtain came down. We all had a augh about it, and I said, "Well, just et that cat try it again, and I'll show

The next night, at the same hour and at the psychological moment, the cat came back and did the identical stunt that she had done the night before. By this time all of the people on the stage were watching me expectantly, and I could hear whispered everywhere: "Go George H. Brown, Att'y, Adams Building it, old man! My, but you're lucky!" And to save my life I couldn't say a word to that cat. I laughed until my sides ached, but I could not articulate a single word, and the cat walked offand never came back.-Raymond Hitchcock in Judge.

How to Stop Them.

"Don't you think it perfectly awful the way these muck rakers are writing about our prominent men?" asked Mrs. "It is," the new minister admitted.

"I confess that I have been sadly shocked by the things they have put in print. It is discouraging to think of." "I know it. I was talking with my

CLEANING HOUSE

Exposures Cause Packers to "Get a Move On"

A GENERAL RENOVATING

Rush Orders to Obliterate Filth -- Signs Demanding Cleanliness and Forbidding Use of Tobacco

In Food-Producing Rooms Chicago, June 6 .- One of the immediate effects of the president's disclosure of packing house conditions is seen in a frenzied attempt in at least three of the big plants to remedy the conditions condemned in the report. Practical confession of the truth of the criticisms is seen in the hurried manner in which toilet arrangements are being renovated, floors cleaned, walls scraped, light and ventilation improved. The surroundings of the workers in the three plants have been improved 50 percent in one day. It is said that the packers knew of the report Sunday night, and that early in the morning gangs of men were taken from their work and placed at various cleaning and whitewashing jobs in preparation for the throngs of visitors who were sure to come. The general manager house. Atest for paint purof one big plant spent Monday in a down-town plumbing establishment picking out the latest sanitary plumbing. "We have been a little lame on the washroom conveniences," he said. "In this the report is just. But if a man is looking for things that are wrong he can find them in his own kitchen.

Besides renovating the plumbing the packing companies put up a variety of signs all over the plants enjoining cleanliness. The foremen were told that the rule against expectoration must be enforced or discharge would result. Another new rule posted conspicuously was that forbidding the use of tobacco in all food-producing rooms.

While denying the existence in their meat-preparing rooms of the condition described in the Neill-Reynolds report, officials of the Armour and Swift companies proved reluctant to permit in spection by a newspaper man of the packing processes criticised. Superntendent Conway of the Armour plant finally was induced to permit a view of the rooms in which the various meat products are prepared.

As pointed out by the investigators. the main part of the carcass of the animal being prepared goes through the process under comparatively immacu late conditions. The filthy modes of handling are incident to the disposition of the lesser products. On a wooden covered table, surrounded by a dozen men with flying knives, a great trough delivers at regular intervals the head of the hog. First it goes to one who snips off a piece, and to another, who snips off another piece, and so on around the circle of butchers. All these scraps are thrown into wooden carts, which are constantly going full and returning empty. The describes them. Some were incrusted along their upper edges with dry grease and filth. The barrels in which some of the trimmings are also hauled away looked even worse. "These carts and barrels are thoroughly scalded and cleansed every night, said Foreman Byers of the hog killing house. "They're not dirty now. They may look that way to a person who isn't used to slaughtering sur- Mr. and Mrs. W. Rollins Abrams, roundings, but porcelain earts wouldn't be any cleaner. We use the zinc-covered tables wherever we can. But we couldn't use zinc over there where they are trimming heads. The butchers couldn't keep their knives sharp working on a zinc table." Foreman Jeuck of the sausage department declared that no meat from which sausage is made is ever taken from the floor, as the government agents reported as seeing in some establishments. While he was speaking. however, a chunk of meat tumbled from the long table to the floor beside one of the women workers. While the meat lay on the floor a passing male employe expectorated near it. The girl then paused in her task long enough to lift the chunk of meat back to the heap on the table.

yards, Mayor Dunne has announced a new municipal ownership project. He declares himself in favor of the city Telephone, Quincy 105-3. owning a slaughtering plant where the packers will be compelled to kill their cattle and prepare the meat for sale to the public, under strict municipal supervision. The only difficulty foreseen by the mayor is the problem of raising the necessary funds for such an undertaking.

Three sanitary inspectors have been sent to the stock yards by Commissioner of Health Whalen, with instructions to make a thorough inspection, and to make an immediate report concerning any unsanitary conditions that may be found. Building Commission er Bartzen also sent a number of in spectors to the stock yards to examine all the buildings in the yards, and report any violation of building ordi-

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy) INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earn-estly appeal for donations and bequests for the En-downment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may dealre, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary. Timothy Reed, Adams St., Culncy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad c confer "th any one or to answer any inquiries."

Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian 850CLATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great lue of the work which is being done for the young en and boys of our city, make their appeal for donains and bequests toward paying the mortgage inbedness on the new Association Building. When e building is free from debt it will serve as an adowment, as there is a goodly income from the mittories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor. The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gav, will be happy to answer inquiries.

The Kaiser's Portrait.

During the last maneuvers of the German army the kaiser rose one morning at daybreak in order to get a general impression of the disposition of his troops. So, followed by his entire staff, he made for a distant hill that commanded an extensive view, says the London Chronicle. There was a village on the hill, and the clattering of the horses' hoofs on the cobbles brought most of the inhabitants to their windows. The one person who slept through the din was a deaf old chemist, whose flat roofed residence was perched right on the summit. That or. So he called a halt, and one of his

The throng which filled the Stadium was greatly excited and cheered frantically as young Sherring, escorted by the prince, approached the royal box and received a bouquet from the queen of Greece. The race was over a course of 26 miles and 170 yards, and Sherring covered the distance in 2 hours and 51 minutes. There were fifty-one competitors, among them nearly forty Greeks, and Sherring took things easily when he started out, letting others set the pace. Endorse Request For Restoration of Reduction In 1904--Outlook Worries Business Men

-- Attitude of Millowners

Fall River, Mass., June 7.—The weavers, mule spinners, slasher tenders and carders, at special meetings of their unions last night, voted to endorse the action of the Textile Council in requesting a restoration of the 121/2 percent reduction in wages which was made in the cotton mills of the Fall River Manu- a two months' visit in Western Iowa facturers' association on July 25, 1904. The Mule Spinners' union, the only one to name a date for the proposed resto; ration, recommended that the council ask the millowners to advance wages on July 2.

The vote at all the meetings last night was unanimous. On Tuesday night the Loomfixers' union voted in favor of a restoration, and tonight a special meeting of the Textile Council will be held Simpson Kays, Beale street, tonight. to act on the recommendations made by the various unions. before Governor Guild over, the chief question of the hour now is, will Guild deny the plea of Charles L. Tucker asking for commutation and send him to the electric chair next week?

In case of reference to the council, there would have to be a special session of the council or else a reprieve would have to be granted, as the death warrant calls for Tucker's death to occur some time during the week beginning next Sunday.

All day yesterday Governor Guild went over the testimony. Judges Sheldon and Sherman, who tried the case in court and also assisted Guild at the hearing, have rendered their opinions to the governor, but what that opinion is will not be given out to the public for a time at least.

Neill-Reynolds Report Lisc ed ited by Packers

DATE ON CANNED GOODS

Would Serve No Purpose Except to Injure Their Business--Claim That 'Slaughter Houses Are Not Unsanitary

Washington, June 7 .- The packers were given a hearing before the house committee on agriculture. Thomas Wilson, representing all the big Chicago packers, was heard. Listening to the packers' report was Charles P. Neill, one of President Roosevelt's investigators; Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, and Chief Melville of the bureau of animal industry. All three will be heard by the committee in reply.

Mr. Wilson objected to taking the business of the packers out of the hands of the packers and placing it in the hands of "theorists, chemists and sociologists."

Taking up the recommendations of Neill and Reynolds for the improvement of conditions, Wilson said the packers did not object to government regula tion of sanitary conditions, but that they did object to the secretary of agriculture being made the judge of what is sanitary. Supervision of every branch of the packing business was not objected to by the packers, said Wilson. The government might put on as many inspectors as it desired, he added, so long as the packers did not have to pay for them.

In addition to the question of who shall be the judge of sanitation, Wilson said that the only other suggestion made by the Neill-Reynolds report to which the packers would have any objection was the requirement that the date of canning be placed on all canned articles. He said that would serve no purpose except to injure the canned meat business. "Naturally a buyer will choose the article with the freshest appearance label," said Wilson, when, as a matter of fact, the canned neat does not deteriorate with age."

On and after July 1, 1906 Dr. Melvin was questioned concern ng ante-mortem examination of cattle ought by packing houses. He explained that these examinations were all conducted in the stockyards. He was asked if he believed any diseased meat was put on the market in any form, but he would not express an opin-

Asked about the statement that employes relieved themselves on the floor, Wilson was inclined to question this entirely. If it was seen it must have been in one of the smaller houses.

As to the character of the employes, Wilson denied that they were the refuse of humanity. "I think," he said, "that the people employed in the stockyards are more than the average a healthy class. There are a few cases of tu-

ELECTRIC CURRENT AWRY

Explosions Cause Cables to Burn. Filling Great Bore With Dense Smoke--Firemen Make Circuit With Water and Are Shocked

Boston, June 7 .- Through the uncontrollable pranks of the electric current that supplies motive power for the elevated railway trains, thousands of persons were delayed in getting to their homes last evening at the close of their day's work, three persons were slightly injured, several firemen received severe shocks, hundreds of people were badly frightened and all transportation service through the subway shut off for nearly two hours.

The trouble occurred at the Boylston street station of the subway, under the southeast corner of Boston common. At this point there is a manhole through which pass four large electric cables, two of which carry the current for the elevated trains and two supply the surface cars with power. The elevated cables became short-circuited and an explosion followed. The cables began to burn and the subway quickly filled with smoke. All elevated trains running through the subway came to a standstill and were unable to proceed for nearly two hours.

The surface cars, however, continued to enter the subway from the public RICKSECKER" on it, you may be certain you garden for a time. The smoke was so have the est that money can buy. dense and choking that by the time the surface cars had reached the Boylston street station the passengers had great difficulty in breathing and many of them were nearly exhausted when they staggered, blinded and choking, up the exit stairs to the outer world. Finally the surface cars ceased running through the subway, and in consequence thousands of persons were unable to get to their homes without long delay.

A company of firemen were summoned from a neighboring fire station. The subway is equipped with hose and water supply, but the instant that the water was turned on the burning cables every man who had hold of the hose received a severe shock.

Just about this time another explosion occurred in a manhole near the corner of Tremont and Eliot streets. Chief Mullen led a party of firemen to the spot. Here the burning cables had set fire to a pile of newspapers that had been thrown through a grating from the street above. Near this spot is a large steel ventilating fan and in leaning against the fan Mullen was knocked down by an electric shock. He was not seriously injured. Three manholes at the Pleasant street entrance to the subway were the next to be affected, explosions occuring in all of them. When these manholes blew out three persons were injured. Max Trautman, 10 years old, was burned about the head, Andrew bruised, and Miss Anna O'Donnell was knocked down and hurf by an iron gate of a store which was blown off its hinges by the force of the explosion. Several windows in the neighborhood were shattered and a delivery wagon was wrecked. There was a little more trouble at the Boylston street station before repairs could be made, four large switchboxes blowing out. At 7:10 p. m., a little less than two hours from the time of the first explosion, the cars and trains were again running through the

The corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, where last night's series of explosions began, is the scene of the great explosion in March, 1897, when several people lost their lives and more than a score were seriously injured. At that time the subway was under construction and the trench became filled with gas which was ignited by a spark from an electric surface car.

FOUR BITTEN BY DOG

Animal Shot After Great Excitement Had Been Created

Boston, June 7 .- Great excitement was caused last pight at the corner of Havre and Marion streets, East Bos- Entivivisection meeting in London, ton, when a Boston bull terrier sprang kays a cable dispatch to the New York r 6 13 abc ipon and badly bit Helen Parker, 12, and Joseph Carey, 9.

The two were playing when the dog, which was frothing at the mouth, attacked them and bit them severely on the legs. Daniel F. Broussard heard their cries and, catching the Parker girl, held her above his head, when the dog attacked him. After a struggle, in which Broussard was bitten several times, he succeeded in pushing the dog nto a cesspool.

Patrolman Trask appeared on the scene and shot the dog. The owner is said to be Richard De Best, who was also bitten in the fight with the animal. The affair created great excitement and drew a large crowd to the scene.

revenging themselves for wrongs done them. One of the modes of capital ptmishment that used to be in vogue for a parricide was ingeniously cruel. A supple tree was bent over and fastened to the ground by means of a rope. The prisoner's head was bound into the upper branches, his hands were tied behind him and then the rope holding the tree was cut. The nalefactor was shot into the air and emained hanging from the branches until he strangled to death.

Twelve Rooms

The Proposed Schoolhouse For Atlantic

The plans for a school building at Atlantic sent to the City Council Monday evening by the Committee on Pubic Buildings call for a twelve room building, to be located on the lot pur

The proposed building has a frontage of 107.4 feet. The main building ha depth of 47.6 feet. There is an L on he rear of the building which has a width of 103.2 feet and a depth of 29.3 eet. There are three entrances to the building, one at either end for the oupils, and one in the centre front for he teachers and visitors.

In the basement there are rooms for he girls and boys' toilet, each 21 by 28 feet, two coal bins each 17 by 17 6 feet, about 82 by 40 feet. The play rooms are so arranged that if desired in the future a cook room can be maintained in the girls' playroom and a wood working room in the boys.

The arrangement of the first or street oor is an admirable one. A long cor ridor 13 feet wide runs lengthwise o he building. Entrance to the six chool rooms are from this corridor. There are four school rooms in the nain building and two in the L, each f which is 28 by 32 feet. There is alo a wardrobe for each school room.

The front entrance opens into a corider which crosses the main corridor and leads directly into the master's room, which is located in the L, be ween the two school rooms. The maser's room is 13 by 16 feet.

The arrangement of the second floor s identical with the first floor except hat the space over the corridor of the front entrance is used for a library, and the room over the master's room is set apart as a teacher's room.

The upper floor is reached by two tairways, one at either end of the main corridor. The hall if one had been ocated in the building would have been on the third floor, with stairways a each end of the building over the other

The order in Council calls for an appropriation of $66,000 for the building ncluding a hall, and can be reduced $3,000 by eliminating the hall.

$5,000 Added To Cost of Bridge

Quincy's assessment for the new oridge over Fore river between Quincy and Weymouth will not be known for some weeks yet, but progress is being made. In the Senate this week the act to provide for the expenses and compensation of the special commissiners was engrossed, and sent to the House. The bill adds $5,000 to the $100,000 already authorized for the bridge, and it is said Quincy's assess-To Cost $63,000 ment may be $40,000 to $50,000. The

A Decision On the Constitutionality Of the Act

The "Pony Express" law goes into effect June 24, 1906.

A. T. Saunders, Esq., town solicitor of Clinton, has furnished the selectmen of that town with an opinion concerning the constitutionality of the so-called pony express" law and the time when goes into effect. This opicion is concurred in by Melvin M. Johnson, legislative attorney for several of the State emperance societies, Guy Ham, assistant U. S. District Attorney and counse! League, and other well known lawyers. The substance of the opinion is as

Section 5 of this Act reads "This act shall take effect on the first day of May in the year 1906." The question of the date of its becoming effectual arises from the fact that it was not approved by the Governor until May 25, 1906.

As a general rule acts of the legislature should be assumed to be constitutional by the town officials until they bass without celebration, but others have been declared unconstitutional by planned differently. They were invited the judicial department of the State This section is, however, so clearly against the constitutional provisions Dunbar. Under their plates they found the question asked cannot be given

Act as to affect the constutionality of t, but that the Act may be intelligenty constructed without said section. It is my opinion that Section 5, being oid, the Act in reference to the time of its taking effect would be construed in the same way as if there was no provision in the Act as to when it should take effect, and that it does take effect on the thirtieth day next after the day on which it was approved by the Governor, that is, on June 24, 1906.

against the constitutional provisions forbidding the passage of ex post facto laws that its enactment in this form can be accounted for only by mistake or accident, and an intelligent opinion upon the question asked cannot be given without a discussion of this phase of the subject.

Section 5, quoted above, clearly seeks to punish as a criminal act a certain act, (that is, the transportation of spirituous or intoxicating liquors into or in a town which has not granted licenses of the first five classes without having obtained a permit from the selectmen) which at the time the act was performed was not an offence against the law of the commonwealth. It is therefore my opinion that Section 5 must be void as unconstitutional. (Mass. Declaration of Rights, Art. 24).

It is however, well established that when a statute is unconstitutional in part, it does not effect the remainder of the storus for in reply to those requests for a sample.

Executive Clemency Refused the Slayer of Mabel Page

GOVERNOR ISSUES LONG STATEMENT

Made Personal Investigation In Addition to Listening to Pleas For Commutation of Sentence -- Has Undoubting Belief of Condemned Man's Guilt and Sees Nothing to Warrant Interference With Judiciary

Boston, June 8.-Charles L. Tucker, convicted of the murder of Mabel Page at Weston in 1904, will be electrocuted in the state prison at Charlestown during the week beginning June 10. No Grounds For Mercy Plea "The causes usually urged for mercy to a convicted criminal are either extreme youth, notable public service, intense provocation, or a previously blameless life. No such plea can be entered for the prisoner. Men of no greater age than his have commanded armies. Not only is no claim of public service made for the prisoner, but he never rose or remained for any great length of time in any private employment. His habits of life seem almost impossible to one whose bitter duty it is to resist the appeals of his clear-eyed brother, his sorrowing mother and his father.

Brundige Thinks He Sees It In the White House

EXTRAVAGANCE RUNMAD

Talks of "Muck Rake Nonsense" and Criticises Appointment of Barnes as Postmaster--Grosvenor Defends the President

Washington, June 8 .- The house listened to a bitter arraignment of the president at the hands of Mr. Brundige (Ark.), a member of the appropriations

Taking the items for the refurnishing of the White House, the care of the grounds and the traveling expenses of the president as his text, Brundige contrasted the expenses of the last Cleve land administration, the McKinley administration and the administration of Roosevelt.

Under the Cleveland administration there was expended for the executive department, including the salary of the president, $137,200. Under the McKinley administration there was expended $143,500, while the bill under consideration carries for the executive de partment, including the care of the Furniture and Piano Mover, White House greenhouse, $253,340. In addition to this Brundige said that boats, and that of the Wollaston is the there were 40 policemen detailed to the care of the White House and grounds and this was an additional $40,000, bringing the total to nearly $300,000, to make a bid to do some street light- which he denominated as extravagance

He criticised the Item appropriating $25,000 for the traveling expenses of the president, and incidental thereto said it was probably made for the pur pose of providing for a repetition of the "muck rake speech.

"As for myself," he said, "and I be lieve for a large proportion of the people of this government, we have heard enough of this muck rake nonsense and tom-foolery and we are disgusted with it. No wonder, in view of present appropriations and present expendituresno wonder the president should hold up to public ridicule magazines and newspapers of this country and public men and private citizens who dare to criti-

"I entertain the hope and belief that the time will never come in the history of politics of this government when any man occupying a position of public trust and public office will rise so high and become so great that the humblest citizen and the humblest newspaper to the largest may not justly and properly crilticise his official conduct and ac tions.'

He spoke of the president's stable and enlarged on the number of horses contained therein. He finally spoke of the arrest of Mrs. Minor Morris and the appointment of the assistant secretary to the president, Mr. Barnes, as postmaster of Washington, as showing the high-handed way the present president conducts his office.

He declared the Barnes appointment n insult, referring to Barnes as th who ordered Mrs. Morris' ejection which he termed "repulsive to decency and honor.'

Mr. Grosvenor (O.) characterized the attack on the president as a relic of antiquity. He said it could have no effect upon the American people. He said if he would attempt by an illustrated lecture to impress upon the people of the old world the absolute domination of plain, every-day Democratic living and plain Democratic administration of a great government, he would take them to the White House and show them the every-day life of the present occupant. Speaking of the appropriation of $25, 000 for the president's traveling expenses, he characterized the criticism made on it as "unjustifiable and unfor tunate." He said he had yet to meet the man who was opposed to the appropria

"THE JUNGLE," BY UPTON SINCLAIR.

AND THE BEVERIDGE BILL. The Novel Caused President Roosevelt to Investigate Packingtown

and Led to the Introduction In Congress of a Meat Inspection Measure. Packingtown is the latest place to get squarely under the searchlight of public opinion. Packingtown is the leadquarters of the meat trust, the district of Chicago where the vast operations of the big meat manufactories of that city are carried on. To Packingtown come every day thousands of head of cattle, sheep and hogs. The proportions of the packing industry are such that the importance of its being conducted on lines consistent with public health is obvious. Suspicion that this was not the case was caused by the publication of the now famous nov el "The Jungle." In this book the author, Upton Sinclair, sought to show that the struggle for existence among the workers of Packingtown is akin to the struggle for life among the wild beasts of the jungle. According to the novel, the grossest abuses prevailed in Packingtown under a reign of graft and greed. The story closes with the conversion of the hero to socialism, as a remedy for the conditions described Mr. Sinclair was born in 1878 and

KILLING A THOUSAND HOGS PER HOUR AT THE CHICAGO STOCKYARDS.

New York and Columbia university By the time he was seventeen he had produced a literary output remarkable in point of quantity at least, for he had then written several stories, one a romance of 80,000 words. He lived for our years in shanties and tents in Canada, often subsisting on game, and in this way wrote "King Midas." His next story, "Prince Hagen," was at first rejected by all the publishers, and the winter following its completion he nearly starved in New York. It was then that he wrote "The Journal of Arthur Stirling," which embodied his experiences. "The Jungle" came as the result of his socialistic investigations and his life in Packingtown. He married in 1900 and now lives in Princeton, N. J.

When "The Jungle" got into the ands of President Roosevelt an interesting train of events was started. The president determined to learn if here was a measureable degree of ruth in the descriptions of the book and he first ordered an investigation by experts of the government bureau of animal industry as to the conduct of ing section of Chicago. They are said to have reported that the book told the truth only in patches. Not satisfied with this report, Mr. Roosevelt next put on the trail of the meat trust two of labor and sociology, Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, and James Bronson Reynolds of New York, the settlement worker. The report of these gentlemen confirmed in the main the statements of Mr. Sinclair. Then the Beveridge meat inspection bill was introduced and passed in the senate.

James B. Reynolds has given a great deal of study to sociological matters, is a lawyer of forty-five, is a Yale graduate and was a fellow of sociology at Columbia. He has been head of the University settlement in New York for over a dozen years, was a member of the state tenement house commission and was secretary to former Mayor Seth Low of New York. He is a man of means and paid his own expenses in the Chicago investigation,

Mr. Neill succeeded Carroll D. Wright as labor commissioner. He is forty-one years old and is a native of Illinois. He left school at an early age to earn his living, but at twenty-five forsook his trade to take a college course. He was connected with the anthracite coal strike commission and was a professor in the Catholic uni-

Three Features Embodied In His Immigration Bill

A FIGHT ON TWO ITEMS

Educational Test and $5 Head Tax Sure to Meet With Strong Opposition--Would Cut Down | shade. Specify the Number of Immigrants

Washington, June 8 .- Convinced that a majority of the house is in favor of immigration legislation at this session of congress, Representative Gardner (Mass.), who will represent the committee in the house, is making a determined effort to get this bill up immediately after the sundry civil bill, which is now under consideration, has been disposed of. Gardner has already caused the house organization considerable discomfiture by his activity in behalf of the immigration bill, and it has been made a privileged measure subject to the call of a majority of the house for its consideration.

Confusion apparently exists in Boston and elsewhere about the character of the committee bill, which Gardner will present at the instance of the committee. When asked about the general feature of this bill Gardner said: "The bill contains three features: Clauses designed to cut down the number of immigrants to be admitted to this country; clauses designed to improve the quality of the immigrants which shall be admitted; administrative

"The principal fight comes on two ne-the educational test and the $5 head tax. The educational test requires that an adult alien must be able to read in English or some other language or dialect before he can be admitted. The $5 head tax is an increase of $3 over the present amount the steamship companies must pay be-

It is neither desirable nor possible to regulate immigration from Canada as stringently as which we think is second to none in this city. European immigration. The United States has always taken the ground that intercourse on the North American that intercourse on the North American continent should be made as free as Tho WEEKS-HILL Pharmacy, possible, and although I am not classed as a man friendly to Canada, nevertheless I do not wish to see that government placing any restrictions in the way of our farmers in the northwest who are endeavoring to better their condition by taking up waste lands

"It is a fact not generally known that 95 percent of the Irish, English, Real Estate and Insurance of all kinds German and Scandinavian immigrants to this country can both read and write. Much of the talk that we hear on the question of illiteracy is absolutely inaccurate. So far as my own opinion goes the practical value of the educational test will be that it will operate to cut down the number of immigrants, and will also result in our se curing a better class of immigrants. "I by no means am so foolish as to think that a man cannot become a splendid citizen merely because he cannot read, but I do contend that 100,000 Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages who can read will average up better than 100,000 who cannot read. If such is not the case, then our theories of compulsory education are based on a compulsory education are based on a Care of Estates a Specialty.

fallacy. Over 2100 petitions have been 1256 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 15 received from different organizations urging this legislation, and countless individual letters in its behalf have been referred to this committee. Women's organizations, labor organizations, political associations and clubs of all sorts are earnestly urging immigration legislation at this session." The president is in favor of the legislation and the senate has passed the Dillingham immigration bill. Gardner believes he will get the committee bill up and that a majority of the house will vote for it. The next few days should determine the question whether it is to be considered at this session.

CRASH OF STEAMERS

The City of Bangor Is Damaged by Her Sister Ship

Portland, Me., June 8.—Had not Cap tain Roix of the steamer City of Rockland displayed great presence of mind in sending his boat full steam ahead, when the steamer City of Bangor loomed up before him out of a bank of fog, it is thought by the local officials of the Eastern Steamship company that a disaster would have occurred. As it was, the two boats were badly damaged, but were able to make port under their own steam. The Rockland proceeded to Rockland, while the City of Bangor, with its bow completely stove in, came into this port under escort of the steamer Calvin Austin. The collision occurred shortly after midnight about 25 miles off Portland Head light, during a dense fog. Just before the fog lifted slightly and the captains of both boats recognized the danger of a head-on collision.

The boats were too close to prevent a collision altogether, but when it came it was only a glancing blow, for the City of Bangor struck the Rockland just aft the paddle wheel on the port side. The boats drifted around for over three hours making temporary repairs, the Bangor being the more seriously dam-

BOSTON LETTER.

Democrats Likely to Nominate Bartlett For Governor.

ARE AFRAID OF JOHN B. MORAN

Legislators.

The outlines are already being drawn for the plan of the next state campaign So far as the Republicans are con cerned the state ticket will be the same as last year. Governor Guild has made such a splendid record that his renomination will be unanimous, and Lieutenant Governor Draper will be named for second place with practical unanimity. The Democrats have also practically decided what their course will be in the fall convention. General Charles W. Bartlett of Boston will probably be the candidate for governor. The recent proceeded very far in the case. conference of Democratic leaders in Boston at which the general was present was practically the first definite step toward placing Mr. Bartlett at the head of the ticket for another campaign. This action was probably taken with sentiment around Mr. Bartlett before The bidders must specify definitely the kind the friends of John B. Moran had an opportunity to corral any delegates in any of the cities and towns of the commonwealth. With the Democrats John the several school buildings on or before B. Moran is a disturbing element. The Democratic leaders in Boston do not take kindly to the idea that he might aspire to the Democratic nomination two committees dissenting. for furnishing 12 cords of Soft Wood and 5 this fall. They are extremely afraid of him, and will endeavor to see to it that any effort on the part of his friends to control the fall convention is frustrated.

Men like Colonel William A. Gaston former Governor Douglas, Josiah Quincy, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald James Donovan and W. T. A. Fitzger ald would be willing to make a tre mendous fight rather than see Moran secure a regular nomination for gov-

Strength of Mr. Moran

When one takes into account the facthat Mr. Moran was elected district at torney of Suffolk county on nomina tion papers against M. J. Sughrue, who was the regular candidate of both po with considerable concern. They are could repeat the exact performance of regular Democratic nomination for governor this fall.

Democrats who are willing to talk about it profess to believe that Mr. Moran is not nearly as strong today as he was last year, and that if he were to be a candidate this fall for re-election as district attorney of Suffolk county he would be sure to suffer defeat.

However that may be, it is undoubt edly true that the Democrats of Bos ton do not intend to permit Mr. Moran will leave nothing undone which will aid in securing the nomination of candidates who are acceptable to the Democratic machine, which Mr. Moran is not.

Moran as an Independent

At the present time, however, the general opinion seems to be that Mr. have stayed at home and gone hun-Moran will not be a candidate for a regular party nomination, but that he will insist upon following the same course pursued by him in the district attorney fight last year. That is to say, he will run on nomination papers as an independent candidate and seek the votes of the people regardless of their party affiliations on pledges similar to those which he gave a year ago in the district attorney campaign.

As a matter of fact, friends of Mr. Moran state in the most positive language that he will begin to secure sigtime next month, and by this course cut himself off from the possibility of a Democratic nomination. Some of his friends state that he has said unequivocally that under no circumstances would be accept the regular Democratic nomination; that he beindependent canvas, along the lines milk in the plate. pursued in his canvas for the district attorneyship.

Whether this is true or not, it may be taken for granted that the Boston Democracy would not permit his nom: nation as the regular Democratic candidate if there is any possible method by any better than our parents." which to prevent it, and they believe they know of several.

With a strong financial backing Mr. Moran would be able to make a very wolled over exhausted. strenuous campaign for the governorship, and if he did not desire to resign his present position it would not be compulsory for him to do so, although many Democratic leaders regard it as highly desirable. It is said that the Democrats this fall will make their chief fight on securing the election of as many members of congress as possible, with the general poor little disobedient mice .- Atlanta expectation that the Republican state ticket will be re-elected in any case. Whether this is given out with an idea of lulling Republicans to sleep cannot now be determined, but there have peptic. "I may eat anything I choose been no campaigns in the last two or except everything that I like."-Washthree years in which Republicans have ington Star.

not round it necessary to make as strong a contest as possible in order to roll up a safe majority.

No Immanity For Legislators The best legal authorities connected with the legislature are of the opinion that Mr. Moran is mistaken in his claim that appearance before the committee on rules of the house sitting jointly has brought immunity to members of the lower branch. Attorney General Malone also is said to be quite sure that members who have testified before the committee can be brought into court and sentenced if found guilty of bribery or an attempt to bribe.

The committee on rules proceeded with its deliberations in the face of Mr. Moran's allegations, feeling entirely satisfied that he was not dealing in good law. The committee has secured sufficient evidence to give one or two members of the house a very uncomfortable feeling, and undoubtedly action will be taken in these cases on the part of the house.

Members of the house feel that Mr. Moran, in making the statement he did in regard to immunity of members, was offering an excuse for not taking further steps to push the matter before the grand jury. His remarks indicate that it is certain he will make no further attempt to investigate the charges of bribery made against members of the legislature. He started such an investigation only to drop it before he had

No indictments were reported, however, by the grand jury. It is entirely probable that the house will do more than Mr. Moran has done toward discovering and punishing individuals who have attempted to corrupt the leg-

The Merger Measure

The committee on street railways and railroads, sitting jointly, have reported the merger bill allowing steam railroads to purchase street railway properties. It is not a unanimous report, but it is as nearly so as could be expected, only three members of the

This bill was considered by the legislature last year and by it referred to a special commission which considered the whole subject, drafted a measure, and presented it to the present great and general court. With two committees so nearly unanimous in its favor, it seems almost a foregone conclusion that it will meet with the favor of both branches of the legislature.

The legislature is having a hard battle over the bill providing for a subway to Cambridge for the Boston elevated railroad. The measure provides for an elevated structure on the Boston end and this has been bitterly opposed by the representatives of that section of Boston known as the West End.

The Cambridge people are very much interested in the measure because they have been greatly opposed to an elevated structure for that city and are unwilling to see the measure which em- more missionaries. Recognized As A Nuisance

Quincy was well represented Friday at the hearing before the Railroad Commissioners to abate the whistling nuisance on the lines of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

The Railaoad Commissioners were apparently thoroughly conversant with the situation for it was not necessary for any of those present to say anything about the nuisance.

The Commissioners said that warning was necessary in some cases but that they would recommend to the railroad that whistling be discontinued at such grade crossings that were protected by gates, flagmen or bells, as far as continued.

MUENTER LETTER

Received by Uncle of Missing Man's Dead Wife

DATED AT NEW ORLEANS

posed Murderer Has Been In That City, From Which Mysterious Pamphlets Have Been Sent to Harvard Professors

Milwaukee, June 9.—A special from has struck Illinois. A vanvass amon Fon du Lac says: Lewis F. Haas, an the Democratic editors of the stat uncle of Leona Muenter, the woman who died under mysterious circumstances at Cambridge, Mass., is in re- are unanimous in support of the celpt of a letter which he believes is Nebraskan. from Eric Muenter, the woman's husband, who is wanted on a charge of murder. The letter is unsigned and is dated New Orleans.

It starts out with a description of the murder of a woman, the details of and reporter of the supreme court. which correspond with the supposed Massachusetts crime. The letter then harshly criticises the newspapers for giving so much notoriety to the case. The last two pages are filled with pleadings that the dead woman's relatives will believe him innocent of the crime of which he has been charged. Then the writer denounces his brothersn-law for calling him a murderer.

Mr. Haas says that the letter gives the names of all the dead woman's brothers and for this reason he is sure that it must have been written by the missing Harvard professor.

New Orleans, June 9.-The New Orleans police have received information from the chief of police of Cambridge, Mass., that Erich Muenter was probably in New Orleans on June 2. All efforts to discover his whereabouts here thus far have been unsuccessful. Several detectives are looking for him.

Cambridge, Mass., June 9 .- President Eliot of Harvard university and several professors at the college recently received a printed pamphlet from New Orleans, which the Cambridge police think may have been mailed by Muenter. The pamphlet is mysterious ly worded and crudely printed. The document refers to mysterious murders and to the writer's lifetime in Germany. The statements are incoherent and were evidently written by some person disordered mentally. The pamphlet was not signed, and Muenter's name is periencing high temperatures, which not mentioned in it. Muenter was an instructor and special student at Har-

Oscar's Feelings , Considered

Christiana, June 9.—Sweden will not be represented at the coronation of King Haakon VII on June 22. The Swe dish government declares that this decision is not the result of ill will or a breach of friendly intercourse, but that it is dictated out of regard for King Oscar's personal feelings, it being considered here as quite natural that King Oscar should not permit a member of his dynesty to assist at the coronation of his successor in the sovereignty of a portion of his former kingdom.

Stole List of Subscribers

New York, June 9.-Charged with having in his possession the stolen circulation list of a trade magazine, published in this city, and with attempt ing to sell it to a rival publication, William L. Berkowit, an advertising agent, was arrested last night. The publishers whose list of subscribers was stolen valued the list at $40,000. According to the police, the accused man tried to sell the list for $30. The rival publishers notified the original owners and the arrest followed.

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy) INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad c confer with any one or to an wer any inquiries.

Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment as there is a woodly invome for the Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gav, will be happy to answer inquiries.

LAID TO LOVE AFFAIR

Explanation of Attempt to Dynamite an Italian's Home

Wakefield, Mass., June 9 .- To the love affairs of an Italian girl, the police Tucker Has Not Broken Down now attribute the attempt to wreck the dwelling place of Franco Lanzello with dynamite. Fearing that he and his family will be blown up by the unknown person who placed the stick of dynamite under his piazza, Lanzello has asked Chief of Police Brockbank for a patrolman to watch his house at night

Parties who claim to have knowledge of affairs in the Italian colony say that belief is entertained that a pretty Ital an girl resides in Lanzello's house, and that one of her jilted lovers, for re venge, placed the dynamite under the

The honest inspectors are working harder than ever; the dishonest and slothful ones are bestirring themselves to do good work for once in their lives. The upstirring of the trouble has made it a possibility for a few weeks for the people to get better and cleaner food than they have been able to buy in some places in many years. Those who protest against muck raking and against "arousing discontent in the breasts of the people" no doubt have an argument to show that it would have been better if the Chicago conditions had never been brought to light. We don't know just what that argument can be, but no doubt it is there. Those folks never admit that by any possibilty is an excuse for disturbing the established order of things for any reason whatever. Town Meeting

At Braintree

Tuesday evening there was a large attendance at town meeting the main attraction being to hear the report by the committee on electric light department investigation. There were about fifty women in the gallery, some of whom attended town meeting for the first time. Moderator John Kelley call-

There came a big surprise to the

young lawyer) in his first speech in town meeting requested a report from the committee appointed to enforce the criminal laws. Mr. Kelley said that he might question the legality of the appropriation, at a recent meeting of $750 to enforce the criminal laws. That the appropriation was illegal because the committee on appropriations had not considered or recommended a sum for

Mr. Crathern as chairman of the committee made a spirited appeal in favor of the former vote and accused Mr. Kelley of being a mouth piece for the

MESSAGE GOES WITH IT

President Says Investigations Are Not Completed, but Sufficient to Call For Immediate Action Has Developed

Washington, June 9.-In response t a request from the house committee or agriculture, President Roosevelt forwarded to Chairman Wadsworth of the committee the report made to him by a committee of the department of agriculture regarding conditions in the Chicago meat-packing houses.

Accompanying the report was a letter from the president, in which he points out that there is no conflict in substance between the Neill-Reynolds report and that of the agricultural department experts. The president quotes a letter received "from a most competent and trustworthy witness in Chi cago," to the effect that the packing house proprietors are manifesting almost "a humorous haste to clean up, repave and even to plan for future changes." New tollet rooms are being provided, with additional dressing rooms and clean towels. The presi dent's correspondence says that "the haste towards reform would have been amusing if it were not so nearly tragic.

The president says his investiga tions have not been completed, but tha "enough has been developed in my judg ment to call for immediate, thorough going and radical enlargement of the powers of the government in inspecting all meats which enter into interstate and foreign commerce."

A part of the department of agriculture report on packing house conditions is a letter from A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, in which he says, commenting on the sanitary conditions: "From personal observation, I know that sanitary conditions at abattoirs where this bureau maintains inspection, while not always satisfac tory, are more superior to those at the average establishment without such inspection."

He says the report of the committee of three officials of the department is fully approved by the bureau of animal industry and that wherever weakness in the system of inspection has been indicated steps will at once be taken to remedy the conditions.

The committee began its work at Chicago March 12 last and continued until March 22. All abattoirs having government inspection and two others were inspected. The committee visited every room in the institutions mentioned. The report says: "The sanitary condition in some of the abattoirs is good, in some it is fair, and in others

The report states it is impossible to make a generalization of sanitary conditions, and details with great minuteness the conditions in the numerous dethe killing rooms, storage cellars, beef duce the books and answer the queshouses, pickle rooms, tripe rooms, tions. smoke rooms and sausage rooms. In some instances floors were carefully washed, but in most cases floors, walls and windows were in a filthy condition. Attention is called to instances of toilet and washrooms unflushed and in an insanitary state. Of one canning room the report says:

"The room was very dark and steamy, with a noisome atmosphere. Fumes from the solder-pot was observed. Water was dripping from the ceiling on girls employed in soldering. One meat stuffer was being worked in such a way that a quantity of meat was falling on the floor. From the ceiling above the conveyer large patches of whitewash were hanging down.

The cooking, stuffing and soldering room in No. 2 abattoir is thus described: "This room contains a processing machine, in which the canned product is cooked in oil and the roon is ventilated over this machine. The room is in a fair condition as to pain and whitewash and the floor fairly clean. The ventilation about the solder ing machine is not clean. Near the cooking room old clothes of the work ers were piled or hung on racks. The room was steamy and a quantity of steamed yeal having the appearance of age were observed. The rafters were much encrusted with dirt, in some places to the depth of an inch, in the vicinity of the cooking retorts.

"The pork and bean room was very steamy and the ventilation was poor There was plenty of air entering this room, but no arrangement for carrying off the steam. The floor was strewn with salt for preventing putrefaction of blood, etc., in cracks and crevices." Abattoir No. 96, the report says, reminds one of the typical country slaughter houses, being indescribably filthy In the sheep-killing room the floors were encrusted with dirt to the depth of about two inches. "The end of this house," says the report, "is disgraceful, and more unsanitary conditions for an sbattoir cannot well be imagined. There were no water closets in this establishment."

A number of other abattoirs were wisited with no complaints.

The report concludes with recommendations for inspection legislation, which seem to have been followed in the Beveridge amendment. A supplemagazines. As an answer to the criticisms, this report says: "The process of slaughtering cattle and packing the product is carried on in Chicago on a colossal scale and it is true, in many instances, that sanitary features, such as light and air, are sacrificed to increase the capacity of the plants. The inference that horses are slaughtered for meat in Chicago is erroneous and without foundation, so far as this committee is aware."

Some of the criticisms made in the 'Jungle" articles describing killing ooms are concurred in.

The report says, regarding the statements made that the inspector does not ttempt to examine sausage or similar products after they are finished: "Federal inspection is made at the time the nimals are slaughtered and dressed."

In reply to a statement in an article published in New York, that pork rejected for export is put up for the domestic market, the report says: "This report is grossly misleading."

The affairs of his household had not been administered so badly since his wife died. The cook was capable and honest and had been reigning over the kitchen for eight years. The seamstress, who had always spent a month each spring and autumn "sewing up" for the young Walkers, contin ued her visits, with the added responsibility of selecting and purchasing material.

The eldest girl, Madge, was promising to be quite a practical little housekeeper, but John Walker knew that a wise feminine hand and heart were essential to the guidance of his active, romping, unruly troop of youngsters.

He began to call assiduously upon Cecilia Rayne, a young woman renowned for her intellect, practicality and excellent judgment. She accepted his attentions, though reservedly, and with a general air of careful consideration and "weighing in the balance."

His intentions were regarded as unmistakable when he invited her, with her mother, to visit his home and drink tea one afternoon. The children on this fateful day had never been so noisy or unattractive. Even Madge was boisterous and untidy.

John Walker did not know that it was malice aforethought on the parof his offspring. Madge was precocious and acute eared. She had heard it said that John Walker would marry just as soon as he could find any one to have him. She had sized up Miss Rayne as a home ruler, and in the mother of Miss Rayne she scented a natural enemy. So she instigated and encouraged rebellion in her many sisters, and their deportment carried the day. John Walker escorted his guests to their nome and returned with the firm intention of administering unto his own something stronger than rebuke. He found his flock white robed and sweet voiced, awaiting with uplifted mouths his good night caress, and he could not bring himself to mar their slumbers by so much as a word.

"If she only could have seen them as they are now!" he thought, with a regretful sigh.

Madge's busy little brain worked overtime that night on the solution of and rushed to the boathouse, intending two after the eventful visit of Miss | besides anxiety surged within him, and Cecilia Rayne, as John Walker was he knew now that he loved this play passing a little park, he met two or three kindergarten teachers walking with their young charges. Mt. Wollaston And Geo. L. Gill Lodges Mourn Death of Six

The memorial service of Mt. Wellaston lodge, I. O. O. F., and George L. Gill Rebekah iodge, was held Sunday afternoon at Christ church. The lodges with its united bodies which included delegates from Manet and Wompatuck Encampment, John Hancock, Neponset and Cresent lodges, and George L. Gill, Reliance and Steadfast Rebekah Todges occupied the body of the church.

The exercises opened with a pro essional and service of evening prayer arranged by the rector, Rev. William E. Gardner, for this service.

The necrologic address for Mt. Wol aston lodge was made by Past Grand Charles A. Hobart. He spoke feelingly of those near and dear to the lodge and of the many noble influences they had exerted in life.

Since the reinstitution of Mt. Wollas-Refrigerators made the last few of ton lodge March 10, 1884, it had lost by death thirty-seven members which he enumerated. It is the story of a man who did not listen to the voice within himself. He had intelligence, he was educated and he had a conscience, but he lacked the children's really believed. God gives this power to a man in the study of Christ and his teachings; had Nicodemus yielded himself to Christ, he would have had this

To know Christ in a manner that will enable us to grasp this power we must begin and study him as a figure in history. The tendancy today is to come to Jesus by night. We are a little ashamed to be found on our piazza or in our parlors or on the beach reading the New Testament, and yet it is only in the New Testament that we find the history of Christ. When a man has sincerely studied the historical Christ he will have attained the power which will enable him to obey the voice with-

Prison Warden Grants Tucker a Day of Life

IS CONTRARY TO CUSTOM

Electrocution Postponed In Order That Condemned Man May Obtain Spiritual Consolation to Be Derived From Baptism -- Stoutly Maintains Innocence

Boston, June 11.-Charles L. Tucker. who, in the death house of the state prison at Charlestown, is awaiting execution for the murder of Mabel Page, has at least one more day of life. Contrary to custom Tucker did not pay the forfeit of his crime last night. The warden of the state prison, who has harge of all details connected with he execution, will not say when the entence of the court will be carried out. but it is known positively that Tucker will not be executed before midnight tonight. The warden is authorized under the law to select any time between the hours of midnight and sunrise in the week that began yesterday.

It is understood that the reason there was no execution last night was in order that the condemned man may today receive the rites of baptism. Rev. Thomas Bishop, a former pastor of the condemned man, and who is acting as his spiritual adviser, will perform the service.

No member of Tucker's family visited the death house yesterday. It is understood that the last farewells were spoken Saturday and that the father, mother and brother of the prisoner will ot again visit the prison.

During Sunday Tucker was visited by three of his counsel, James H. Vahey, Thomas F. Vahey and Phillip Mansfield. The prisoner now realizes that all hope of preventing the execution is gone, and apparently he is resigned to his fate. He still maintains stoutly that he is innocent. His remarkable calmness and courage has not deserted him, although he no longer appears buoyant and hopeful.

In the four previous cases where risoners have been electrocuted at the state prison the execution has taken place between midnight Sunday and sunrise Monday, and Tucker's case, therefore, is a notable exception. So much secrecy of necessity surrounds the execution of a condemned man in Massachusetts that no details of the arrangements are obtainable.

The general impression among the jail officials is that Tucker's baptism will be followed by a confession regarding the murder. The prisoner gave a bulky envelope to Senior Counsel Vahey yesterday which, he desired should not be opened till after his death. Mr. Vahey said last night: "Just as I was about to leave Tucker tonight he produced a bulky envelope addressed to me and stamped. This envelope I will not open tonight. There is a long personal letter to me and three separate letters, to his father, me tonight that he would rather not have the envelope opened until after his

ENTIRELY FREE OF DEBT

An Imposing Structure With a Seating Capacity of Over Five Thousand -- Many Thousands at Followers of Mrs Eddy Attend Was Written by Her

Boston, June 11 .- One of the most remarkable religious demonstrations ever Christian Science temple in the Back Bay district was dedicated. From every state in the Union and from all parts of the world came members of that faith to be present at the dedicatory services. It was estimated that more than 40,000 Christian Scientists were in the city.

Six services were held to accommodate the vast throngs, but even then there were thousands who were unable to gain admission to the temple. The years, and during the last six months seating capacity of the new edifice exceeds 5000 and at each service yester. lays of men working eight hours each. day hundreds stood in the aisles and in the rear of the church.

The first service was held at 7 o'clock in the morning. As early as 1 o'clock hundreds of Christian Scientists were the doors to open. At 5 o'clock there were at least 3000 in the street outside the church, and an hour later this number had swelled to 5000. At 7 o'clock there were 10,000 persons waiting, twice the seating capacity of the new

As quickly as one service was completed and the congregation had departed the temple was quickly filled again, and still there were thousands outside who had been unable to gain admission. All day long the hot June sun grade, the chauffeur having no control poured down on the heads of the waiting throngs, but hardly a person left his place in the line. It is estimated Science doctrines attended yesterday's

The railroads have been taxed to a considerable extent to bring all the Christian Scientists into the city in time for the sergices. At the close of the lesson sermon, in the Christian Science church, in response to an invitation of the first read: cers of the cavalry guard and the Preer, the entire congregation knelt in siture of the services. At the close of tributed to various towns in conseeach service Edward A. Kimball of Chi- quence of the discovery of revolutioncago presented a reply of thanks to ary literature in its quarters. Mrs. Eddy for her dedicatory address and for her general work in behalf of the church.

The reading of the address from Mrs. Eddy was the most interesting part of the service to the members of the church. The address is a lengthy document and deals in the main with Christian Science tenets. Referring especally to the dedication of the new temple, Mrs. Eddy wrote:

"Beloved, I am not with you in propria persona at this memorable dedication and communion season, but I am with you in spirit and in truth, lovingly thanking your generosity and fidelity, and saying virtually what the prophet said: 'Continue to choose whom ye

The new temple is one of the most Imposing structures in Boston and is said to be the largest church in New England, its seating capacity being 5012. Christian Scientists all over the world have aided in its construction and it is intended as a tribute to Mrs. Eddy in recognition of her labors for her church, as well as to meet the demands of the increasing number of attendants at the annual communion, as well as at the regular services of the Boston church. The church stands in the heart of the and Listen to Address Which Back Bay at the juncture of three streets-Norway, Falmouth and St. Paul. Won in Ninth By Fore River

The Fore River team defeated the fast East Boston club at Quincy Point on Saturday by the score of 4 to 3 in the most interesting game of the season. Several new faces were seen in the home team line up, and everybody expressed themselves as highly pleased with the Yale Football Authority to work of the new men.

Van Amringe who played third made several hair raising stops, and hit the ball for keeps. Gumm by a marvelous catch at the extreme end of the field robbed him of a sure home run with the bases full.

Bjorkland came in for a world of praise by his steady work and fine stick work, his hit in the ninth winning the game for the Fore River.

Maloney at short played a great gam and hit the ball like a La Joie.

Camp to Explain New Rules

Meet Officials In Various Parts of Country to Interpret the Technicalities of Recent Gridiron Legislation.

That Walter Camp, the Yale football authority, has not lost one iota of his former prominence in connection with the game of football was brought out at a meeting of the central board of officials of the American intercollegiate football rules committee recently, the details of which were announced by the chairman of the board, Dr. James A. Babbitt of Haverford, Pa. In the course of a long discussion on the question of bringing about a uniform interpretation of the new football rules it was suggested that Camp be sent to the various local committees, and the plan was adopted. Camp in fact showed all through the talk that he was most fit to handle the interpretation of the rules, and for this reason the work was turned over to him.

The first suggestion of Camp's command of the rules of the game came when E. H. Hall of Dartmouth, also a member of the rules committee, made a report on steps taken to organize a local subcommittee on officials in the New England states. Hall said the committee was in process of formation and that five of the leading New England colleges would be represented. The central board decided that Hall, in conference with Camp, should form the New England committee.

Then the board discussed the advisability of conferences at various places to interpret the rules. A motion was made requesting that Camp should meet the subcommittees in the various localities and whoever they may desire to include in their conferences at some time prior to the termination of the present college year. To Abolish Grade Crossings

Whether Quincy people are to ride to Boston up in the air or almost under ground is still an open question. A Boston paper says the residents of Harrison square, Dorchester, in continuing their fight for the abolition of the grade crossings, will make a final appeal to the railroad commissioners. A number of hearings have been held before the special commissioner appointed by the superior court judges, and the mayor's office has been the scene of a number of conferences. The officials of the, New York, New Haven & Hartford have planned to elevate the track, while the residents have favored depressing the tracks. At a conference held in the mayor's office the other day, President Mellen of the New Haven announced that his company stood ready to stand by the deeision of the special commission. His report will be made in a few days, and the representatives of the improvement associations of Dorchester, realizing There was quite a little excitement that the report will be against their

A NATION OF CRIPPLES RHEUMATISM BEYOND

CONTROL

The Only Hope to Rheumatic Suffers is we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terribie destructiveness of this lisease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had heir affliction brought on by Rheumatism. How many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and whom we never see. Rheumatism from the very nature of the disease, can never cure itself, and if neglected, is bound to grow worse rather than better. If yone for have any twinges of Rheumatism go to E. J. Murphy's drug store right here in Quincy, and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful new Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and it is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the museles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheuma.

And drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease, and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place.

There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it because it is in the end by far the cheapest method. You can test Uric-O free of charge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y., and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will send you a free sample which you can test and try free of charge.

The medical witnesses agreed that the electrocution was successful and also agreed that he was unconscious, if not quite dead, at the very moment that the 1820 volts of electricity shocked his body.

During his last day Tucker gave evidences that the terrible strain was affecting his mind. His body remained healthful and he ate regularly and heartily on the day of his death. In the morning, in consequence of his own request, the sacrament of baptism was administered to him by Rev. Mr. Bishop and by Rev. J. F. W. Barnes, the prison chaplain. Throughout this ceremony, which was that of the Methodist Episcopal church, the prisoner appeared earnest and sincere and received the final baptismal blessing with words of prayer upon his lips.

THE CRIME AND TRIAL Great Efforts Made to Save Life of Condemned Man The electrocution of Charles L. Tucker marked the final chapter in the history of the murder of Mabel Page at her home in Weston, March 31, 1904, and also marked the close of the most desperate legal battle ever waged in for the life of the convicted murderer. Following Tucker's conviction in the Middlesex county court at Cambridge, hearing in the United States supreme

A decision by the highest court in the land sustaining the ruling of the lower courts did not discourage Tucker's lawyers, Vahey, Innes & Mansfield. A petition to Governor Guild to save the condemned man from the electric chair was prepared and circulated throughout the state and when finally it was preented to Governor Guild there were over 116,000 names attached to it. Even with the presentation of the petition the lawyers did not rest. In fact, as the time for the execution approached they labored so incessantly in their search for new evidence to be placed before Governor Guild in a final appeal for the commutation of the sentence that Tucker's case became the chief sub ject of conversation in this city and in

Plea For Executive Clemency

The attorneys for the prisoner went before Governor Guild, not only with made a short statement to the jury is new evidence, but with a general plea for executive clemency and with affidavits which, it was frankly stated, would have no standing in a court of law. The most important of this new evidence related to the stickpin which it was alleged by the prosecution during the trial had been stolen by Tucker from the Page house. The defense claimed that the pin was the personal property of Tucker and additional proof in support of this contention was placed

It was at this time, when Tucker could count his days upon this earth upon the fingers of both hands, that trial. Dr. Harris told the jury that the in a plea before Governor Guild. his written ones. The famous stickpin from the outse seemed to be the pivot upon which the case against Tucker revolved. This was true at the trial and it was true at the governor's hearing. Vahey said that the stickpin and its identification by Amy Roberts, a servant in the Page household, convicted Tucker. At the first time produced a witness who posiof Tucker.

Evidence Largely Circumstantial In prosecuting the case, Attorney General Parker maintained that robbery preceded the murder, but the wounds in the woman's body bore mute testimony that her assassin was fiendishly brutal. The first thrust of the knife made a mortal wound, but the knifeblade was plunged deep and often afterwards. The evidence at the trial was largely of a circumstantial nature and counsel for the defense produced witnesses to prove an alibi, but the pin and the knife played more prominent parts than did any witnesses produced by either the prosecution or the de

Amy Roberts, the servant in the Page home, identified a stickpin-commonly known during the trial as the Canadian pin-as the property of Mabel Page. It was at this point in the commonwealth of Massachusetts | the trial that Mr. Parker abandoned for the moment his vigorous cross-examina tion of the witnesses for the defense and he graciously refrained from ques tioning the mother of the prisoner.

Mother Selected New Pin The defense, however, produced two pins, one the Page pin and the other a pin purchased in Canada by the de fense. Both were of the same genera design, but they differed radically in color. Holding the two pins in his out stretched hand, Attorney Vahey walked up to Mrs. Tucker and requested her to pick out her son's pin. Every eye in the courtroom was riveted on the wit ness and Tucker leaned forward in the prisoner's pen and gazed intently at his mother as she hesitated for a momen and then, with trembling hand, so lected a pin, saying: "That is Louis."

Attorney Vahey's pale face indicated only too plainly that Mrs. Tucker had picked out the pin which had recently been purchased. She allowed to remain in his hand the pin which had been stolen from the Page home.

Tucker Did Not Testify

Tucker did not go on the witness stand, but at the close of the trial he which he declared his innocence. Th jury took the case and deliberated for five hours, twice asking for instruc tions from the court. The verdict wa "guilty of murder in the first degree." The announcement of the finding brought from the prisoner his only sign of emotion. He wept long and bitterly When the sentence of death was passed upon him, however, Tucker did no seem at all perturbed, and during the last few weeks of his life he exhibited remarkable calmness.

Since Tucker's trial and convictio Edwin Page, the father of the murdered girl, has died, as has Professor E S. Wood of Harvard university, who was the expert analyst for the prose condemned murderer, was so affected by the strain of the trial and subse quent events that several times he has been reported in a criffical condition.

KILLING JUSTIFIED

Servant Who Shot Midnight Intruder Is Acquitted

North Andover, Mass., June 12 .- After a formal hearing in the town court Judge Frye decided that the fatal shooting of Reginald B. Stafford by Edward Ruby early last Sunday morning was justifiable, and Ruby was discharged from custody.

Ruby, who is the butler at the summer residence of Mrs. Mary Sutton of New York, testified that he shot Stafford without knowing his identity when he found the man hiding behind a couch in the drawing room of the Sut ton residence. It was not until the light was turned on in the drawing room after the shooting that Ruby discovered that he had shot Stafford, who had been a chauffeur in the employ of the family for two years. The object of Stafford's visit to the house did not appear from the evidence. The mat had taken off his shoes and had left them with several packages on the piazza of the residence before he made his way into the drawing room.

Judge Frye said that Stafford was evidently a trespasser in the house, and the fact that he attempted to hide upon the appearance of the butler and another servant indicated that he realized

Ostentation and pomposity were in Mr. Smart's line.

Mechanically the girl drew out her opera glasses from their bag, but she did not use them. Instead, with a little sigh of content, she leaned back against her wrap, a gorgeous thing, ermine lined, belonging to her aunt, which she had been coaxed into wearng. The lights of the house were low, and as she leaned for a second, a billowy mass of chiffon and lace against the ermine, her heavily lashed eyelids half closed, and she smiled faintly.

Ah, it was so good to be faultlessly dressed from the top of her head to the tip of her shoe all at once-just once sure of herself all around! Not as it had always been with her down in dear old Kentucky-a gown achieved just as her hat was going out of fashon, a new wrap when her evening dresses were beginning to look a bit worn, boots a little shabby just as she was able to get fresh gloves and veil. Her eye fell on the billowy blouse of her bodice. How all her life she had loved lace-real, cobwebby lace! And ermine to nestle against-the lordly

"feel of the thing!" Well, now she was in the way to have it all. This month's visit with her aunt in New York had been fecund in results. Dances and dinners, suppers, theater parties, had filled the hurrying days and nights, but still, with her aunt's worldly insistence, she had found time to engage herself to the man beside her. "Capital, my dear!" her aunt had said when she heard the news, kissing her lightly on the cheek. "You see, Alberta, I knew what I was doing when I sent for you to come up from that poverty stricken Kentucky, and you had only to come to conquer. Of course Mr. Smart isn't exactly a paragon of beauty, and he's a bit 'new,' but think of his cool little million, his yacht, his horses, his splendid motor and all that sort of thing. Music Hall Block; or at residence, 10 Foster Oh, I'll be proud of you yet, my poor

As a matter of fact, she hadn't noticed a single bit of "business" on the boards nor heard a single line. Now, however, she raised her glasses. It gave her right hand some occupation. It had been lying peril-

Then out of the cottage, rosy, smiling, came a girlish figure with her sleeves rolled up and an apron on, to say goodby to her lord before he went to his day's labor. The sire kissed his child and set him down, patting the curly head. Then he drew the woman to him. "Goodby, and God bless you, dear, till I come home tonight," he said in a voice softened with

Curtis of than started on the matter, put it over to the next sitting of the grand jury. Meanwhile the legislature itself took action upon the matter, and decided to send the whole case to the house com-

It seems that he believed all the Quincy, Mass. | time that they would be immune if they were called before the committee and testified. Some men would have gone to the speaker of the house and said to him, "Mr. Cole, if you follow out this course you will defeat the ends of justice." But Moran did not do this. He sllowed the committee to proceed until practically the entire legislature had been called to testify, and, if he were all immune, and then he makes his announcement. This is a rather remarkable method of proving his desire to have the guilty men, if there were any in the case, brought to justice. As has been stated, Mr. Moran claims that under the statute anyone who testifies to anything concerning the bribery which the legislature is investisating, is immune from prosecution. This is not so, in fact. Anyone who testifies before the committee to facts which will incriminate him is exempt from prosecution; but to say that anyone who has testified before the committee, and has not incriminated himself, cannot be prosecuted, has no warrant in law. Those who have testified have presumably not testified to their own wrongdoing, and if it can be proved, or if it has been proved by other testimony, that they have been guilty of giving or of receiving bribes, they ean be prosecuted.

Mr. Moran's Purpose.

Exactly what Mr. Moran's object is n interpreting the statute as he has is difficult to discover. The only explanaion which seems reasonable is that Mr. Moran, wishing to discredit the legislature, and knowing that he would be unable to prove the extensive bribery which he claims exists, has taken refis visiting her friend, Mrs. August V. DEMOCRATS SAY HE IS FAILURE uge in this interpretation of the statute to avoid further action and failure.

In other words, it is a "crawl" on the part of Mr. Moran, and is intended to

Of course, Mr. Moran has it in his power to refuse to prosecute, and to refuse to use any evidence that the legislature may put at his disposal. A district attorney has extensive powers, for good or for evil, and it is quite possible that the district attorney for Sufnomination came to the surface a few er to the advancement of his personal days ago, in the announcement that the | Political fortunes rather than for the administration of justice.

He has been fond of saying ever since his election that he had not sufficient help in the office with which to do the work he desired to accomplish, and yet he has had as much assistance as any other district attorney who has preceded him, and in most instances his predecessors tried their own cases without calling in hired help, and many of them have had a very large amount of work to do. He has complained because the legislature has not given him the assistance he has to inquire at this juncture whether asked, and it almost looks as if he had gone out of his way to insult the legislature, hoping that the members would Among other things he declared: "I kill his bill for extra assistance in orwill stop graft in Boston; the Fenway | der to furnish an excuse for not having done what he promised before his election that he would do if successful at given him an additional assistant and

Eleven Innings

Quincy High Defeated by Dedham High In Close Game

Quincy High's string of victories was roken on Tuesday at the park, when in an eleven inning game they were defeated by Dedham High 9 to 5.

For ten innings the Quincy boys du olicated the score of the visitors. Dednam was the first at the bat and was blanked; so was Quincy. When Dedam scored one in the second, Quincy did likewise; and it was so in the third when each made two.

Somehow there was a mistake in the $3,000. leventh inning; either in allowing Quincy failed to score. The visitors hit Michael freely in this inning.

Both pitchers gave the same number of bases on balls during the game, but Riddle of Dedham struck out more. The Quincys made 5 errors to 2 for the Bon Voyage.

Mrs. Frank McNeil, of Pleasant street sailed Tuesday, on the Cunard Steamship Ivernia for London, where she will meet her father on his arrival from India, where he has been in the employ, for twenty-five years, of the English government. They will tour England, Scotland and Ireland, to visit their relatives, and friends and will return sometime during October.

Friends and neighbors gathered at her home Monday evening to wish her bon-voyage, and also escorted her, to the steamer where her state-room beld many beautiful flowers, as a rememberance of friends, while crossing the briny deep and gave her a royal send-

Flag Day

Thursday, June 14, will be the 129th anniversary of the adoption of the flag of the United States, as we know it today, composed of stars and stripes, with the only variation in the number caused by the addition of States. The sentiment of reverence for the national emblem is growing, and the observance of the anniversary aids the movement. The exercises in the schools and those of the Grand Army and the Relief Corps help it along. The flags should be displayed on Thursday, as they are THE School Committee of the City of on the Fourth of July, as an object lesson of patriotism.

TO HUMANIZE WAR

Red Cross Delegates In Convention at Geneva

AN EXTENSION OF RULES

Likely to Be Made Applicable to Naval Warfare--Regulations Must Be Made to Suit Modern Conditions of Warfare

Geneva, June 13 .- Delegates to the Red Cross convention continue to arrive and the rollcall yesterday after- he has until next fall. noon showed that 39 nations were represented. The American delegation consists of General Davis, Surgeon General O'Reilly, Admiral Sperry and William Sanger. Committees were appointed to examine questions submitted to the conference.

The Red Cross movement received its first impulse from the carnage of Solferino. A Swiss physician, Dunant, living in Geneva, witnessed the sufferings of the soldiders wounded in that battle, and returned to his home with an inflexible determination to do everything in his power to reduce the horrors of war. His first convert was Moynler, a medical associate in Geneva, and in the course of five years they succeeded in inducing the Swiss government to given by Ambassador and Mrs. Reid a identify itself with the humane policy Dorchester house last evening for Rep of neutralizing ambulances and hos- resentative and Mrs. Nicholas- Long pitals in time of war and of protecting everybody under the Red Cross. The first convention was held in 1864, when the American Union was distracted with the horrors of civil war and unable to take part in the proceed ings. The second convention assembled in 1868, without American repre Driver Lyons of the West Quincy fire sentation, and applied the principle of humane treatment of the wounded to maritime warfare. The American gov ernment accepted in 1882 the obligations of the first convention, and adopted during the war with Spain two of the most important provisions of the second convention; and at the peace congress of 1899 the American delegates ment so as to adapt it to the altered conditions of warfare and to include maritime operations. The original Red Cross charter provided for the neutrality of ambulances and hospitals, the protection of members of the staff and their withdrawal from the field; the return of wounded displayed. It was in accord with the ideas of warfare and hospital practice prevailing 40 years ago, but has become

With the increased range of artillery pedients for the exchange of wounded at outposts are no longer practicable; and the utility of many arrangements for the protection of the disabled sol diers has been seriously impaired. The Geneva convention was designed tances between firing lines were com paratively short and artillery and small arms were of limited range, and not for campaigns like that in Manchuria where the battlefields were immense and encumbered with entrenchments

What is urgently needed is a revision of the charter of humane activities for the relief and protection of the wounded so as to adapt it to existing methods of warfare and surgical practice. Even a minimum advantage is only possible when modern commanders exercise their discretion and try to secure respect for the Red Cross on the white ground and there are liabilities to charges and countercharges of abuse of privileges and wanton disregard of the usuages

The maximum advantage can be restored when a new agreement is based on the actual range of artillery, the extent of the theatre of operations and the modern practice of rapid deliveriestage, from the fighting line to field hospitals in the rear.

General Davis and his colleagues agree that the main work of the international conference will be accoun plished if it succeeds in adapting the primary convention to modern condi tions. There is also the application of humane principles of warfare to Laval | whaler Neptune as an additional cruiser operations, especially the neutralization of boats employed for rescue. Measures have been tentatively proposed, but so many objections have been raised that the conference will have to begin at the bottom and make a code that will be generally accepted. As the peace congress of 1899 opened the way for a reconsideration of the whole subject of the humanities by land and sea in time of war, so also the revised Red Cross conventions, when the Geneva conference has finished its work, will be reviewed and probably canctioned by the next congress at The

QUADRUPLE DROWNING

Sailboat Containing Four High

School Youths Upset Bangor, Me., June 13 .- Four boys, members of the graduating class of the Brewer high school, were drowned by the upsetting of a sailboat on Hymes pond, 10 miles from this city. The names of those drowned are: Norman Herrick, aged 17; Winfield Brown, 17; Lamont Parker, 18, and Lawrence

Aiken, 19. The boys were in a party of 13 members of the class who spent the day at the pond. The four named went for a sail in a small boat. Suddenly a gust of wind keeled the craft over, and the occupants were thrown out. The boat became submerged and the boys, unable to help themselves, sank from view. Their companions on shore saw the accident, but no other boat was at hand and they could do nothing to aid the four. The bodies have not been recovered.

Long Sentence For Burgiar

Bridgeport, Conn., June 13 .- John Brown, charged with burglarizing the house of Mrs. Antoinette Morrill of New York at her summer home in Greenwich, was found guilty and sentenced to a maximum of 20 and a minimum of 12 years in state prison. It was claimed that Brown was the mysterious masked burglar who entered the house and shot Mrs. Morrill through the jaw, inflicting an injury that almost proved fatal. The charge of assault was not pressed.

Three dories containing members of the crew of the Etta Mildred, a fishing schooner, were lost at that time The boat picked up by the Volant had evidently drifted at least 90 miles since that time. Nothing about the dory gave an indication of the fate of any of the crew of the Etta Mildred.

Firemen Had Difficult Job

Boston, June 13 .- Choking in dense black smoke and hampered by the almost entire absence of openings in the solid brick walls, Boston firemen spent more than three hours last night in subduing a $10,000 fire in the plant of the Boston Brewing company in the South Boston district. Not a spark of fire was visible from outside. A number of firemen were temporarily put out of commission by smoke, but no serious injuries were reported.

A FUNEREAL DINNER.

Table Draped In Black-Skull at Side of Each Plate.

Julius Brown, son of the war governor of Georgia, gave a remarkable dinner the other night at Atlanta on the occasion of his fifty-eighth birthday, says the New York Times. There were twelve persons present, one of whom was Governor Terrell. On the table was a black velvet cloth, and the dinner cards were black. There was a skull at the side of each plate, while suspended from the chandelier was a huge skull, and beneath it on a black pedestal sat the figure of a monk draped in black.

There was on the table a candle for every course of the dinner. With the end of each course a candle was snuffed out, this being continued until no lights were left on the table, though those in the corners of the room were still burning.

DOCUMENT CAREFULLY DRAWN UP

lowa Couple, Each of Whom Has Been Married Before, Have Put In Writing What Shall and Shall Not Be Exacted-Many Points, Even to Visits of Relatives, Covered.

In what is probably the most remark-Isaiah F. Harding of Jasper county, in Iowa, and Mrs. Isabella Englebrecht of Des Moines, Ia., recently proded happiness, says a Des Moines dispatch to the New York Sun. The smallest detail of their married life for a term of fifteen years is set out in the contract which was placed on record before their marriage by a Des Moines justice of the peace. If their married life proves unhappy it may be terminated within the fifteen years by certain settlements and mutual agreement as to various other things. At the end of fifteen years either party to the contract may end the married existence without the formality of a divorce under the conditions therein stated.

Harding is a wealthy farmer. Mrs. Englebrecht is also wealthy. Both had been married twice before. The marriage contract was drawn up to meet the various difficulties which made their previous marriages less than perfectly happy. The document, which covers three closely typewritten pages, is carefully drawn by able lawyers. Mr. and Mrs. Hardir are satisfied that it is the solution of all matrimonial troubles.

The contract first disposes of one-half the real and personal property owned by each party, which is divided among their respective children, share and share alike, the children agreeing to forever forego any claim upon their

The contract then provides that each party shall retain his or her remaining property independent of the other. Some of the provisions are given in brief as follows:

There shall be settled upon the wife a weekly income of $15, with which to pay the household expenses. Rent, gas and coal bills shall be paid by the husband. While living upon the farm the wife shall have the profits from one cow and all chickens.

The family shall never consist of more than three children, and for each child there shall be an additional allowance of $3 a week. The wife shall have one servant girl and a nurse whenever necessary. She shall have entire control of the servants in the house and the husband of whatever servants he may have outside. Relatives of either husband or wife are permitted to visit the family during the first two weeks in May and the last two weeks in October.

The sole care of the children shall belong to the wife, and she shall have charge of their schooling until they reach the age of sixteen years, when the husband shall take charge.

If for any reason, loss of property or any other, the family shall be required to get along without servants the wife shall start the fire and get breakfast during the six months from April to September and the husband for the remainder of the year.

No guests at meals shall be brought home by the husband without the previous consent of the wife.

The husband has the right, if he should so desire, to fix the menu three days in each week. Intoxicating liquors are not allowed in the house. Both husband and wife shall attend church at least once each month unless prevented by sickness.

In case the family moves to town the husband is not required to go into society more than twice a week, and one of these occasions must take in the

CHINA'S AWAKENING.

Rev. M. B. Eubank Tells of the Empire's Progress In Six Years. The Rev. M. B. Eubank, M. D., formerly pastor of Emanuel Baptist church at Kansas City, Mo., recently returned from Huchau, China, with a wonder story of the "new China" that is awakening, says the Kansas City Star. "I left Kansas City," he said, "in October, 1899, to take over the Huchau mission at the direction of the northern division of the Baptist Missionary unions. I have been in China, therefore, barely six years, and this is what I have seen happen:

"There were in all China when I went just six newspapers. Now there are hundreds of them. They are active in getting news, and all of them are creditably conducted. The telegraph is everywhere, away even in the Seehuen province, right on the Tibetan borders In 1898 the empress revoked every reform promulgated by the young emperor. The public opinion created by the newspapers has forced her since then to grant every one of them. Even the ancient system of education has been abolished, and in its stead there are thousands of public schools teaching modern subjects.

"Six years ago there were only 150 miles of railroad in China; now there are fully 2,500 built or building.

"And Yien Shi Kal, viceroy of Chili province, has an army of 200,000 men, trained by Japanese and German officers and both uniformed and equipped on modern lines. There are 10,000 Chinese students in Japan.

"China is awakening more rapidly than the people anywhere dream," Dr. Eubank concluded, "and it will not be long before she becomes a world power and a great one. Of that I am firmly convinced."

HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy) INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earn eatly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St., Julincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad c confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Young Men's Christian Association laid in 1869. OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

NOVEL WAY OF LIVING

Unique Quarters Being Prepared For Chicago Bachelor.

NO WALKING IN RAIN AND HEAT

Robert Edgcomb Will Have His Business, Residence and Clubrooms All In the Same Building and Richly Furnished-Woodwork of Mahogany and Profusion of Lights.

There is a man in Chicago who within a short time will have his business, his home and his club in the same building, says the Chicago Post. No running to catch trains for Robert Edgcomb; no time spent in going to rain and heat. Those things which are essential to his life he is concentrating under one roof, and the result is a Apply or write for information to the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, Quincy, Mass.

being erected at Clinton and Washington streets in Chicago. The building is to be 150 by 113 feet and eight stories high. Construction work was begun some time ago, and three stories are now given over to offices.

On the third floor will be Mr. Edgcomb's bachelor quarters, and the entire eighth floor will be given over to the West Side Business Men's club, which is being organized now and for membership in which almost 500 applications have been made,

"I have been convinced for a long time," said Mr. Edgcomb recently, "that the business men of the west side should have some organization and some meeting place, and I am only too glad to have such a club make its home in my building.

"The front rooms on Washington street will be the reading and drawing rooms, and the rest of the floor will be given over to the dining rooms and kitchen. One thousand people can be served at once in these rooms, and ev erything will be of the best. One of the best known restaurateurs of Chicago will have charge of the cafe. We hope to have the clubrooms ready for cupation by Dec. 1.

"I don't see anything so strange in my fitting up apartments for myself in the building, although it has seem ed to surprise many people. I have had apartments for many years and find it the most comfortable way to live. I am much interested in the erec tion of the building, and when any one asks me why I am to live in it I say I have two reasons-to be 'on the spot,' if I may be allowed to use slang, and to be economical."

The living rooms of Mr. Edgcomb are nearing completion, and he hopes to be in them in a few weeks. He describes them as "plain, but comfortable," but to those adjectives should be added "beautiful." The seven rooms, which are exclusive of the servants' quarters, are large and light. All the wood work is of mahogany, some of the mantels and consoles being of the white variety.

There will be upholstered window seats, wide fireplaces and a profusion of lights shaded by the most artistic globes, all of which are being made in the building under the supervision of closets for linen and china as would delight the heart of any housewife. Each office in the building is to have a shower bath.

Household Electricity. Consul Covert reports that during the > Cornerstone a Photo Engraver. A remarkable illustration of the action of chemicals on zinc was recently discovered when Senator Andrew J. Sloper of New Britain, Conn., opened the box in the cornerstone of the First Baptist church, which is being demolished for a modern building, says a special dispatch from Hartford, Conn., to the New York Press. It had been lined and sealed with zinc. A picture of the old church which had been placed in the box had, by the chemicals with which the photo was toned, been reproduced on the zinc lining. The reproduction is not unlike that of a newspaper half tone. All the contents were in good condition. The stone was

Revolutionary Propaganda Is Now Spreading Through the Whole Army--Two Newspape: 8 Which Criticised Council of the Empire Are Suppressed

St. Petersburg, June 14 .- Ominous of the government's inability to cope with prospective agrarian disorders is the news which comes from Poltava, one of the richest and most populous farming provinces of Russia, that the governor is in dally receipt of requests for troops for the protection of estates from the peasantry, who have not the slightest awe of the rural guards.

The governor will be unable to comply with these requests because the local troops, one regiment of which mutinied on Sunday last, are so infected by the revolutionary propaganda that detachments sent to the villages immediately fraternize with the peasants. The governor therefore begs the St. Petersburg authorities to send him fresh

The conditions in Poltava with regard to the army probably are widespread. Indeed, the army is a frail reed for the government to rest upon if it rejects parliament's agrarian scheme. The general staff objects, moreover, to furnishing further troops for police duty, and has refused requests for guards for government liquor shops, which are increasingly subject to attacks, on the ground that to comply with all these demands would interfere with the strategic necessity of the em-

SENATORS ATTACKED

Clergyman Thinks That the Nutmeg State Is Misrepresented

Hartford, June 14 .- Speaking on the subject: "Inspiration to social service." before the annual meeting of the General Association of Congregational Ministers, Rev. Gerald H. Beard of Bridgeport took occasion to pay a tribute to President Roosevelt and then attacked the United States senators from Connecticut, Messrs. Bulkeley and Brandege. He said:

"I wonder sometimes whether we have lost all sense of Christian patriotism-whether manhood itself is not oozing out of us-if we are content to sit still and do nothing while our grand old commonwealth is so misrepresented by the men who, in the United States senate, sit in the seats of General Joseph R. Hawley and that man of unfailing integrity, Orville H. Platt.

"Is there no need, no inspiration, for social service on the part of the Christian ministry of Connecticut when the senior senator of this state, called by reputable men on all hands without successful contradiction, 'the arch-conspirators of Connecticut politics,' attempts to justify before the country the use of trust funds for political contributions?"

The speaker at this point attacked the policy of the junior senator, saying: 'He tells the state that he does not believe that our business interests should be hurt for mere sentimental considerations, by which term, with all the brazen effrontery of a coarse materialism, he describes the moral obligations which, before God and man, we Americans owe to the Filipino."

A One-Armed Boy Hero

Boston, June 14 .- Just as the waters of the Mystic river were closing in upon Leo Mahoney, 5, for the third time, Richard Dunn, 12, who has only one arm, heard the drowning lad's cries for help and, without stopping to remove his clothing, plunged into the river and with the timely assistance of Joseph Clancy, 15, rescued the boy. The onearmed hero jumped overboard when he heard the screams and in a twinkling caught the boy by the collar. In order to save himself Dunn had to tread water until Clancy came to his assistance

FISHING FOR BIRDS.

Catching Gulls and Albatross With

Curious though it may seem, it is a fact that birds are caught with rod and line in many parts of the world. The pastime is declared to be almost as fasclnating as fishing. Gulls in Newfoundland are caught in this way in large quantities. In New England fishing for gulls and petrels is an important industry.

The method of bird fishing is practically the same as that of ordinary fishing. Two men go out in a dory and throw pieces of cod liver on the water. When large quantities of birds have It Was Filled--Overflow Meet- been attracted to the spot more cod liver is thrown out on a hook. This the birds greedily swallow and thus fall

Lawn Party of The Huscarls

The lawn party conducted by the boys lub the Huscarls of the King, Thurslay evening was a great success. Alfred Artist, on his bicycle, "leaped the gap." William Staples, Eddie Lee and David Newcomb, dipped 10 gallons of ce cream. Carlton McNeil, Charles French and William French attended to the sale of tonics. Tom Skinner, David Melville and Russel Oliver assisted at the fortune tellers tent. Daniel McQueen, Clarence Metcalf, Roy Wales, Louis French and Harry Brown looked after the tent containing the phantasmagoria exhibit.

Thus the crowd of 250 people was kept a moving and entertained. Ten attractive young ladies of the Point Sunday School served ice cream, strawberries and cake. Music was furnished by Mr. James Melville, Mrs. Selleck, Miss Auwelda Smith, Miss Ermina Kane, Mr. Chester Mellan and Mr. Alfred Brown.

Great credit is due to Mr. Lee, manager of the boys club and to his faithful assistants and friends of the boys, for the success of the evening. The Huscarls are to spend a week camping, in July.

Speaker Cannon Resents Insinuations of "Traffic"

HIGHLY DRAMATIC SCENE

Uncle Joe Takes the Floor and Explains His Attitude on Statehood, Refuting Statement of Delegate From Arizona

Washington, June 15 .- Not in years has the house of representatives witnessed a more dramatic scene than the one incident to the adoption of the conference report on statehood, when Marcus A. Smith, the Arizona delegate, took occasion in a guarded way to insinuate that there had been undue influence used in postponing an agree ment in conference.

Smarting under what he believed to be a direct insinuation against him Speaker Cannon impetuously left the chair, calling Mr. Dalzell (Pa.) to the desk, and asked for five minutes to explain his position. Thunders of applause greeted the speaker, Democrats and Republicans participating. Finally order was restored and then, measuring every word, Speaker Cannon said: "The coming into the Union of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory meets my approval. If I had my choice and were supreme, I would infinitely prefer to see Oklahoma and Indian Territory come separately, with an aggregate population of almost 2,500,000, with four senators, rather than to see New Mexico and Arizona come together, and God knows, rather than to see them come singly, with about 300,000 popu-The annual graduation exercises of the lation, with four senators. New Meat Inspection Bill Not Adequate to Requirements

Washington, June 15 .- A careful examination of the substitute proposed Unexpected Appearance of Expert by the house committee on agriculture for the meat inspection amendment of Senator Beveridge to the argicultural bill was made by President Roosevelt and it can be said that he is opposed to the house substitute in its entirety. He may not go so far as to veto the bill if it should be enacted by congress with the house amendment attached, but he has Put Senators and Representamade it clear that he does not deem the house provision at all adequate.

Chairman Wadsworth of the house committee on agriculture had a confer ence late yesterday with President Roosevelt regarding the action of the house committee. He submitted to the president the substitute for the Bevercommittee. The president told him frankly that he disapproved of it abso-

The bomb was thrown from the balcony of a house in Alexandrov street. mmediately after the explosion Jews began to fire revolvers from the windows of the house into the crowd. Solliers surrounded the house and fired two volleys into the windows. Meanwhile the exasperated Christian's at tacked the Jewish stores in Alexandrov and Suras streets, demolishing the fixtures and windows and throwing the goods into the gutters and beating and murdering the Jews. A crowd of Jews fled to the railroad station, pursued by the mob, which killed many of them there. Three Jews were thrown from second story windows of the railroad station building.

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor.

That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most in tant organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

Dear Doctor Knowlton:-

You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

The Q. Y C. Smoker

The annual smoker of the Quincy Yacht club was held Thursday evening at the Yacht club house at Houghs Neck. It proved to be as successful and as enjoyable as in other years. There was a very large attendance of yachtsmen, who freely applauded the several nembers on the program.

Previous to the entertainment there was a short business sessions. Commander Crane briefly outlined the plans for the season, speaking particuarly of the race of July 26, which he plan, and it is further ordered that a public said would probably be the greatest event ever held in Quincy bay. Besides being the annual Y. R. A. M. open race it is the data of the inter-

Several amendments to the bylaws were then adopted. These in brief provided that the annual meeting should be held the first Thursday in February, instead of the first Saturday. That the office of rear commodore should be added to the list of officers, and a committee of five to be known as the recepion committee. Flags for the rear commodore and leet surgeon were adopted as well as paragraphs defining their duties. Then came the entertainment. Com-

nodore Crane introduced the artists. The first was Miss Sadie Barton, the soubrette late of Paris, who rendered popular songs.

Ben Johnson, the rube violinist proved to the audience that he could play the violin equally as well with a tin dipper, saw, knife, old hat or other articles as with the bow.

Ben also contributed some stories which gave evidence that he had travelled some, even is he was a rube. Little Miss Leo Hanson contributed ongs, to which the audience joined in the chorus. She also gave a marvelous exhibition of dancing.

Joe Montgomery, the coon shouter, added a number of coon songs, and if some one had not stopped him he would be shouting yet. A professional pianist from Boston presided at the Nate Keith, a well known club mem ber, was then pressed into the service for some of his inimitable stories, and the singing of popular airs by the club ended the program. All then repaired to the lower piazza where coffee, crackers and cheese were served by Janitor Pray.

Wishes He Had Half a Dozen

The Fore River Shipbuilding company should soon have orders to build several more steam trawlers. The Herald of Thursday says:

Scoring a record-breaking trip, and winning a new reputation for herself, the steam trawler Spray, Capt. 'Dexter Malone, arrived at T wharf this morning, only 48 hours out from port, with a cargo of 37,500 pounds of fresh fish that sold for $1600.

"She is just striking her gait," said John R. Neal, president of the company half a dozen just such vessels."

"If she can make $8000 a day we will have to stand aside and watch her,' said one of the schooner captains this morning.

The Spray has made six trips in eight weeks and each time has brought in from 40,000 to 75,000 pounds of fresh fish. On her last trip she took in several hauls 35,000 pounds of haddock, 1,500 pounds of codfish, 1,000 pounds of hake and 200 pounds of halibut. Under full head of steam the trawler rushed into port, getting her fish on to the market early this morning, with only three schooners in port to compete against.

The article of ball that Merrymounts have been putting up is the kind that warrants the turning out of large crowds. Last year they earned the title of champions of Quincy.

Little is known as to the makeup of the Quincys this year, but Manager Flynn has not been idle and from what information has been obtained relative to his team, the new players are capable of playing a fast game.

There are only a few of the players this year who played on the team that won the league championship a few years ago. They are Capt. Pitts, Dorley at first base, Rooney, outfield; Powers at second, and Manager Flynn.

The new players are Stewart, formerly of the State Mutual, and also Gildea. The former is a fast infielder and a good hitter. Gildea has earned the reputation of being one of the best outfielders in the state and is also strong with the stick. McDevitt, who will play third base, has earned the reputation of being one of the fastest semi-professional ing fielders in New England, and this year has turned down flattering offers, owing to the fact that politics in Boston forced him to look after his interests, as this year he is to make a fight for Representative honors from ward 13, South Boston. OF A LOCK TYPE

lecision of the House In Regard to Panama Canal

BURTON GIVES A LESSON

Amendment to Sundry Civil Bill Appropriates $25,000,000 to Continue Construction of the Canal -- Approved by President

Washington, June 16 .- In committee of the whole, the house, by a vote of 110 to 36, voted in favor of a lock canal scross the Isthmus of Panama, an amendment to the sundry civil bill to that effect being presented by Representative Littauer of New York.

With members of congress sitting on the short steps in the aisles of the house around the space in front of the speaker's desk, with a large membership of the lower branch of congress, with the galleries filled and with Mr. Burton (O.), pointer in hand, indicating by charts the difference between a seaevel and lock canal, the house presented every appearance of the class room of a great university.

Mr. Burton had given notice that when the item in the sundry civil bill was reached appropriating upwards of $25,000,000 to continue work on the canal he would ask for an hour in which to present his views on the lock level type of Panama canal.

He prefaced his remarks by stating that lately there had been strong agitation for a sea-level canal and he believed that the time had come when the question of type should be settled and the matter removed from the domain

"It is not fair to the president and to the executive officers of the government who have this great enterprise in charge," he said, "to say to them with one breath: 'Proceed with the canal with all the speed you may,' and with another breath to say that 'we have not yet made up our minds what kind of a canal you shall build.' It is unjust to the subordinates who have gone to the isthmus to give the best years of their lives and their best efforts to hamper and embarrass them by failing to decide

Taking his position in front of the maps, he called attention to the vital difference between the two types, and remarked that when the topography was understood it would be the very strongest argument for the lock canal. He said if the banks would not cave, if large boats could go through without running against rock at the side and could be properly steered, then a sealevel canal would be the enterprise which would be naturally preferred.

"But such a canal, convenient for modern shipping and for prospective shipping, would, in the judgment of those who have carefully studied the subject, cost the sum of $400,000,000 or more, and would exhaust 20 years and more of time in building."

He would protect it wholly by neu- government depositories. trality, as the Suez canal is protected. This statement met with a round of applause. When he concluded he was tendered an ovation.

Mr. Bartlett (Ga.) made a point clearly new legislation and argued the question from that premise.

"In the interest of safe and sane legislation," said Mr. Sullivan (Mass.), death list of 12. "we ought to proceed slowly on this very important subject.'

He said he had heard but one side of the question and if he had to vote now he would vote for a lock type in view of having had but one side presented. He thought, however, that the amendment was out of order.

The chair, Mr. Watson (Ind.), held the amendment was in order and cries of "vote" were heard. Without further discussion the Littauer amendment was adopted. If congress should send a measure to President Roosevelt providing for the construction of a sea-level canal on the Isthmus of Panama, he would veto it. This statement is made by authority. The introduction by Representative Littauer of the amendment to the item in the sundry civil bill, appropriating $25,000,000 to continue the construction of the Panama canal, providing that no part of that sum shall be used in the construction of a sea-level canal, was done with the approval of the president.

The Muth Kidnapping

Philadelphia, June 16 .- The local police say they are close on the trail of a man suspected of being the abductor of Charles F. Muth, aged 7, who was stolen last Tuesday. The man suspected is an Armenian. There are more than 100 detectives on the case. The parents of the missing child are on the verge of collapse, neither of them having slept since the boy disappeared.

The Guatemalan Revolution

Mexico City, June 16 .- The Guatemalan revolutionists claim that their forces are daily augmenting and that General Toledo will in a few days begin a rapid march on Guatemala City. He has received a large quantity of ammunition and arms from some quarter condition for a campaign.

Canned Filth Dumped Overboard

London, June 16 .- In the course of yesterday's inquiry into the South African war stores scandals evidence was given to the effect that army officers sold 20,000 cases of canned meats including the Armour brand, Helmet brand and Mitchell's brand, to a con tractor for 2 cents a pound. The con tractor complained that the meats were bad and returned the cases. The officer who sold the canned meats testified that he subsequently ordered the "filth to be dumped into the sea" and much of it afterwards floated ashore and was picked up by Kaffirs, who ate it, with the result that a number of them died of ptomaine poisoning.

FIGHT WITH HOUSE

The President Opposed to Meat Inspection Measure

LEANS TOWARD PACKERS

Letter to Wadsworth Is Made Public, and Chairman Comes Back With Declaration That the President Is Wrong

Washington, June 16 .- President Roosevelt has thrown down the gauntlet to the house leaders who are op- tabernacle, came a voice warning him posing an effective meat inspection law. to "arise and go." "I went," said Dow After a long conference with Speaker Cannon, the president gave out a portion of his letter to Chairman Wadsworth and the speaker informed the tabernacle had been wrecked." Illinois delegation that he would stand for the packers or words to that effect. Heretofore the speaker has been mak- pressed for an explanation as to how h ing a pretense of neutrality.

The action of the president in making public his letter to Chairman Wadsworth shows that he means to defeat the scheme of the house leaders to put casion, when a voice repeated thre through a bill which has been emascu- times the words: "Go forward." lated by the packers' representatives, Chairman Wadsworth of the house agricultural committee and Representative Lorimer, also a member of that commit-

The president is not telling the house leaders whether or not he will veto such a bill as they propose to pass, but he told Speaker Cannon that there were equally effective ways for a president carrying out Secretary Root's idea that o show the weakness of a law than by vetoing it. The president, of course, shall announce that the bill passed by for original appointments. congress, in his opinion, does not provide for any effective inspection of meat

This is the first real fight which the president has had with the house at this session. He refrained from expressing himself on the tariff in order to obtain the support of the house leaders for the rate bill. But he regards the passage of an effective meat inspection law as vital to the interests of the country, and he has let the speaker know that he proposes to obtain such receipts averaged from $1200 to $1500 a bill despite the opposition of the house leaders. The outlook is that the president will win his fight.

Secretary Loeb gave out the following summary of the letter President Roosevelt wrote Chairman Wadsworth disapproving of that committee's substitute for the Beveridge amendment to the agricultural bill regarding the inspection of meat products:

"In the letter of Mr. Wadsworth the president stated that almost every change in the proposed house amend ment was a change for the worse as compared with the senate amendment, and that, no matter how unintentionally, it was, in the president's judgment so framed as to minimize the chance of rooting out the evils in the packing business; that the president felt it would doubtless suit those packers who objected to a thoroughgoing inspection, but that he also felt it would in the long run be a heavy blow to the honest stock raiser and the honest packers; that the proposed amendment would gravely hamper the secre tary of agriculture in doing the work appointed him to do, and would simply defer the day when we could restore the foreign and interstate trade in meat to a satisfactory position. The president has explained verbally that he is far less concerned with the question as to whether the packers or the government should pay for the inspection than with certain other features in the bill."

Chairman Wadsworth of the house committee on agriculture made public last night the correspondence between President Roosevelt and himself regarding the meat inspection bill pre pared by the committee. In his reply to the president's letter Wadsworth says in part:

"You are wrong, 'very, very wrong' in your estimate of the committee's bill. It is as a perfect piece of legisla tion to carry into effect your own views on this question as was ever prepared by a committee of congress. Every member of the committee is absolutely as honest and sincere as yourself in his desire to secure the passage of a rigid meat inspection bill. They know the meaning of the English language."

Mr. Wadsworth calls attention to provisions of the bill which the president criticised and continues: "The rest of your letter deals with generali ties and a general condemnation of the committee's bill. If you or our advisers will point out specifically wherein it actually fails to accomplish your pur pose, I can assure you it will be promptly remedied.

"You say in your letter: 'And I cannot even promise to sign it, because the provisions are so bad that, in my opinion, if they had deliberately designed to prevent the remedying of the evils complained of, they could not have been worse.'

"I regret that you, the President of the United States, should feel justified by innuendo, at least, in impugning the sincerity and the competency of a com mittee of the house of representatives You have no warrant for it."

CROWDS ATTACK POLICE

Troops Reply Without Overaweing Fomenters of Trouble--Ingress of Bloodthirsty Peasants Makes Matters Worse

St. Petersburg, June 16.-Disorders appear to have broken out at Bialystok yesterday afternoon with even greater fury than characterized Thursday's No dispatches have been received direct from Bialystok, where the telegraph office is closed, but semi-official messages from Grodno and Minsk report that the excesses were started again by the throwing of several bombs.

The crowds, according to these dispatches, then opened fire on the police station, to which the troops replied, and there was a constant interchange of shots between Jews in their houses and soldiers in the streets. A mob of peasants, armed with clubs, scythes, etc., who had found their way into the city Thursday, are participating in the rioting.

A dispatch from Minsk states that the authorities had been fully forewarned of the possibility of trouble Thursday and had recalled a battalion of infantry and several squadrons of cavalry from their summer camp to strengthen the garrison, but without over-aweing the fomenters of trouble.

Grodno, June 16 .- According to reports from Bialystok, fusillading has continued throughout the city, Jews firing from the windows of their houses, the soldiers answering with volleys, crowds of peasants armed with clubs and scythes pillaging and beating Jews, and cavairy patrols hunting down pillagers. The city has been cordoned in order to prevent the ingress of more peasants. Exact details of the disturbances are lacking, but Thursday's pillaging is attributed largely to peasants from the country.

Time For Strenuous Action

St. Petersburg, June 16.-It is reported that several of the ministers have determined to raise at the next cabinet meeting the question of the advisability of continuing Premier Goremykin's policy of inaction, declaring that the situation now is comparable to that preceding the armed outbreak of last December and demands a firm and energetic policy. Extreme apprehension has been excited by the progress of the revolutionary propaganda in the army and the movement among workmen, who everywhere are organizing.

Fears of an Uprising

St. Petersburg, June 16.-It is rumored that the government is negotiat ing with Germany and Austria-Hungary for joint action in case there is an uprising in her western provinces, and that Grand Duke Vladimir's visit to Berlin is connected with this matter.

REPORT ON BRIBERY

Expulsion of Member of the Legislature Is Recommended

Boston, June 16 .- The committee on rules on the part of the Massachusetts house of representatives, which has been investigating the charge of bribery in connection with the "bucket shop" bill or other legislation, reported in the house as follows: "Your committee sincerely regrets that it must call attention to the contradictory character of the statements made by a cerain member of the house The evidence contains conflicting state ments made by Representative Swig, of such a character that they should not be passed over without some recognition of the body of which he is a member. Your committee believes that Rep. resentative Swig deserves the censure of the house of representatives. "Your committee finds that Frank J Gethro, a member of the house of repre sentatives, approached other members of the house, and tried to influence them improperly by suggesting a money reward for their votes against a bill pending before the house, namely, the hucket shop bill, so-called.

"Recommended, That Representative Frank J. Gethro be expelled from membership of the house of representatives.

"Recommended, That Representative Simon Swig be censured by the house of representatives."

The report is signed by all the 11 embers of the committee. The report says that no evidence has een presented to show that any member of the house of representatives has accepted a bribe.

Moran May Prosecute

Boston, June 16 .- District Attorney Moran announces that he will person ally take up the entire legislative bribery matter anew, and, if he finds evidence which warrants, he will prosecute criminally whoever may be involved in any criminal way. He says that he has resolved on this course, regardless of what action the legislature takes on the matter.

you downstairs.' Elsie looked up to see her mother in the door and dropped the warm cloak she was about to put on. She was a quiet, gentle girl, so unassuming that her dark prettiness was more unnoticed than it deserved to be. It had been long since John had come to see her in the old friendly fashion of the time before Rose Lisle moved to their town. The girl gave another touch to her smooth hair. Her mother stood watching her and then remarked:

"Mrs. Dent told me today that John and Rose have been out for over a month. He has just come home. If a quarrel with Rose is all that sends him to you, I should think that"- Elsie wheeled impatiently.

Elsie greeted John as if she had seen him yesterday and soothed his evidently overwrought mood with a gentle, half laughing tact. He was tall and blond, with fine blue eyes which tonight were clouded, and his face was a little careworn. Sometimes he gave random answers as if he had not heard what she said. After a half uneasy hour of the March twilight he turned to her in awkward masculine gratitude for her patience with him.

March was gone and April had had her last day of grace. It was the evening before May day. Elsie, happy hearted, was waiting on the porch in the twilight. John was to come. Now he nearly always came. They were going for another walk in the spring twilight to wander across the green hills and back along the roadways in the white moonlight. Elsie thought only of the moment, but she could not help a little throb of gladness that he so seldom spoke of Rose. She did not. as at first, regret the coolness that had sprung up between her and Rose. Nothing seemed to matter but being happy without thinking why. John called her "sister" half jokingly, but with entire affection, and while he sometimes wandered off inconsolately by himself he seemed content to be with her. And so she waited. As she waited her fifteen-year-old brother called distressingly from his room:

"Sis, for goodness sake get my good coat from the closet in the hall! I'm goin' to be late to that party."

Elsie went to the dark closet and emerged with a coat. She knocked at

"Oh, come on in and help me with this fool tie! Great snakes, if you haven't got the wrong coat! Just like a girl! Haven't worn that old thing since winter!" He snatched it from her impatiently upside down. A letter fell from the pocket.

Elsie picked it up, and as she glanced at the address her face went white. "Terry! What is this?"

At the sound of her voice he turned to look, and then stood stricken with tardy penitence. It was addressed to John Copeland, and in the lower left corner was inscribed in Rose's hand, 'Kindness of Terry." Terry stared and struggled with the refractory tie.

"A pretty mess! Rose gave me that months ago, and I promised to take it straight to John. And like a fool I forgot!" Then he cheered up. "Well, they're off anyway now. Probably she'll be glad he never saw it. I will take it back to her tomorrow." He wondered at the strange brightness of his sister's eyes, at the extreme whiteness of her face.

"Gee! Not even Rose can touch you for looks, Sis. I don't wonder that John"- She turned from him as John's whistle sounded below. She still held the letter.

shall tell him you forgot. I"-Then she went down to John. He sat contentedly on the porch with his hat pushed back on his fair head. He looked careless and happy enough

"I shall give it to John. It is his, I

At her approach he rose. "Ready, sister?" Her smile was odd, and she held the letter out to him. She spoke as if she had been running: "John, take this into the parlor and read it. No one is there. I told you there was a mistake. It is to you from Rose. She gave it to Terry, and he forgot it. I just found it in the pocket of his winter coat." John did not know he almost snatched it from her hand. When he came back from the parlor

"Elsie, you are an angel! You have the heart of a sister! You have given her back to me. She did love me. She Elsie smiled and gave him a brave little push.

"Well, you silly boy, go to her this minute!" He snatched her hand and pressed it hard. Then he went from her with an eager swiftness that he had never shown in coming to her. She knew itshe had always known it, but nevertheless it was not easy to see. And under her breath she whispered bravely:

"The heart of a sister!"

The Robber's Grave at Montgomery.

In a corner of the churchyard of Montgomery, writes a correspondent, is a bare space, known as "the robber's grave." It is not a raised mound of earth, but is below the surrounding ground, which is especially luxuri ant. The date of the grave is 1821, and numerous attempts have been made to grow grass upon the bare spot. Fresh soil was frequently spread upon it, but not a blade of grass is to be seen. The shape of a cross is still distinctly visible. It is the grave of a man named Newton, charged with highway robbery and violence and sentenced to be hanged. He protested his innocence. "In meek dependence of a merciful God, whom I have offended, but who, through the atonement of his blessed Son, has, I trust, pardoned my offenses, I venture to assert that if I am innocent of the crime for which I suffer the grass for one generation at least will not cover my grave." Men of eighty bear witness that never since they were children has there been grass on the grave.-Westminster Gazette.

Traveling Incognito.

Some investigator of curious subjects has discovered that the inventor of traveling incognito was Peter the Great of Russia. The next after the Jamous Russian sovereign to adopt the practice was Joseph II. of Austria, who in 1777 made a little stay in Paris unwent away a few weeks. I could not der the title of Count von Falkenstein. During the revolutionary period Louis XVIII. buried his temporarily useless royal dignity under the privacy of Comte de Lille, while Charles X. passed as the Comte de Marles. (Continued From Page Seven) ricks, boilers, engines, quarry supplies and other property. Said personal property is fully described in said decree, dated May 29th, 1906, to which reference is hereby made for a complete description thereof.

The sale of said last above mentioned personal property shall be made upon the same terms as the sale of the mortgaged premises and personal property. except that only the sum of Two Thousand dollars shall be required to be deposited by the bidder as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid and complete his purchase; and the further exception that upon being reported to the court and accepted and confirmed, the balance of the purchase price bid for said unmortgaged personal property shall be paid in cash by such purchaser. The Special Master is authorized, at the request of the solicitors for the complainants in this cause to adjourn or postpone the said sales and, without further notice or advertisement, to proceed with such sales on any day to which the said sales may have been adjourned.

The court expressly reserves the right to reject any bid, and also to retake possession of and resell said premises and property upon the failure of any purchaser for twenty days to comply with any order of court requiring 87 any payment on account of the purchase price.

If any bid shall be accepted by the court, and the person or persons making the same shall fail to comply with all the conditions of sale and all orders f the court in respect thereto, the sum leposited by the bidder may be forfeited and shall be applied as the court may direct.

For further particulars and for a more specific description of the property ordered to be sold, both that mortgaged and that unmortgaged, reference is made to the above mentioned decree of said court, copy of which may be seen in the Clerk's office of said court or at the office of the American Loan and Trust Company, 53 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, or at the office of the Quincy Quarries Company (in charge of the undersigned, its Receiver,) Quincy,

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor. The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gav, will be happy to answer inquiries.

As preparations had been made it was decided to hold the sale in the club By C. H. JOHNSON, . - Auctioneer house and the tables and booths were quickly transferred. All of the rooms on the Goffe street floor were in use, and everything looked very attractive. There was a fairly good attendance in the afternoon and a much larger one in the evening so that many of the articles were sold. From a financial point of view, however, it was not as successfu as it must have been had the original plans for an out of door affair been carried out.

In the evening there was music by the Finn band and chorus singing by the Swedish church choir.

As stated above the tables were arranged about the several rooms. At the right of the Goffe street entrance were the lemonade and confectionery tables, the former being prettily decorated with roses. These tables were in charge of the following ladies:

Lemonade. - Miss Ada M. Nightingale, Miss Mary L. Gavin, Miss Annie M. Chamberlin, Miss Emily Gassett, Miss Alice E. Townsend, Mrs. Clara Penley and Miss Helen Gavin.

Arrowack Was First

Another interesting race of the cat oats of the Quincy Yacht club was held off the club house at Houghs Neck on Saturday afternoon. The wind was light from the southeast at the start, but shifted to the south before the race was over. The usual course was sailed giving the boats two reaches and a run, the change of wind preventing any

RUIN IN ITS WAKE

Story of Sickening Work of the Bialystok Mobs

A THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

ply Crushed Masses of Bone Beastiality Shown; by Rioters and barytes) has been

St. Petersburg, June 19.-The emlifted and a press correspondent has surface, necessitatruin and desolation left in the wake of

The story told by the correspondent is a sickening one and there are indica tions that he has been prevented by censorship from relating some more ghastly details about the condition of corpses, the utter bestiality of the mob with the excesses during the first days of the rioting. It is evident that the excesses assumed the character. excesses assumed the character of three-cornered fight between the military, the mob and armed members of the Jewish bund, who, instead of spbmitting passively to slaughter as their unarmed co-religionists have done here tofore, carried the war into the enemy's camp and fought bravely, though with out inflicting appreciable loss on the troops, among whom no serious casualties have been reported.

The correspondent of The Bourse Ga zette, who arrived in Bialystok in com pany with Deputy Stechepkin and who nanaged to send his story by a mes senger, says he was utterly unnerved by the sights he witnessed in the hos pital. "Merely saying that the corpse were mutilated," the corresponden writes, "fails to describe the awfu facts. The faces of the dead have los all human semblance, and the corps simply are crushed masses of flesh and bone soaking in blood. It is imposs ble to conceive of such bestiality. The corpse of Teacher Apstein lay on th grass with the hands tied. In the face and eyes had been hammered three inch nails. Rioters entered his home and after bestial outrages killed hin thus and then murdered the rest of his family of seven. When the corpse arrived at the hospital it was also marked with bayonet thrusts. Beside the body of Apstein lay the corpse of a child whose leg had been chopped off with an axe.

"I am told that soldiers entered the apartments of the Lapidus brothers which were crowded with people, who had fled from the streets for safety, and ordered the Christians to separate themselves from the Jews. A Christian named Kikar protested and was killed on the spot. Then all of the Jews were

"In one corner of the yard was a de nented Jewess trying to cover the body of her husband, but her efforts were in vain, as the pulpy flesh simply oozed from beneath its inadequate covering. From the wounded in the hospital th correspondent heard many pitiable stories."

The correspondent, who adopts the bitterest tone towards the government, holds that the slaughter undoubtedly was provoked and attribute the responsibility to Police Lieutenant Shedmatieff. He says the distinctive characteristic of the outbreak, in which it differs from the excesses at Odessa, Kishineff and Kief, aside from bestiality, is the comparatively small amount of actual robbery committed. The participants seemingly were not inspired by motives of loot, but of murder and destruction, pure and simple. He also holds that the participation of the troops has been completely proven. and quotes Deputy Stechepkin as saying that this is clearly shown by the denoralization of the soldiery consequent on the removal of all restraint.

The correspondent declares that not only the soldiers, but their officers also participated, and that he himself was a witness as late as Saturday to the shocting down of a Jewish girl from the window of a hotel by Lieutenant Miller of the Vladimir regiment. The governor of the province of Grodno, who happened to be passing at the moment, or dered an investigation. The Novosti of Odessa publishes dispatch from its correspondent at Bialystok, saying: "I personally counted 290 Jewish corpses, a great number of which were horribly mutilated. Only six Christians were killed and eight wounded."

Powers Should Intervene London, June 19 .- The London news papers, and especially the government organs, consider the Bialystok massa cre distinctively a case for the powers to intervene, recalling President Roose velt's memorable protest with regard to the Kishineff massacre, and in any event consider that unless the Russian government takes proper steps in the matter it would not be right for Great Britain to make a naval fraternization

DEATH WAS UNEXPECTED

Governor of Ohio Succumbs to a

Long Spell of Sickness Cincinnati, June 19 .- John M. Pattison, governor of Ohio, died at his home in Milford, a suburt of this city. He had passed a good night and there had been no report of any serious change during the day. During yesterday afternoon the news from his home was onsidered favorable and the later announcement of death came as a great shock to the governor's friends. His physicians had expressed confidence in his recovery up to a few hours before his death.

Just before the death of the governor yesterday, in a court case, both of the governor's physicians testified that he was able to transact official business. His private secretary also testified to his good condition, explaining that he had recently gone over much business

Not at any time a man of powerful physique, Pattison entered on the responsibilities of his office in a weakened condition and had been sick since his inauguration. He continued to oversee the work of his office and, through his private secretary, Lewis B. Houch, who had been his running mate on the Democratic ticket, transacted considerable public business, even when unable to rise from his bed.

John M. Pattison, born in Clermont county, O., on June 13, 1847, retained his home there during his entire life. For the last 15 years he had been president of the Union Central Life Imsurance company. As a Democratic leader in the state senate, he supported legislation for a more stringent observance of the Sabbath. There is to be no data on the label of the packing of meat food products. In this the president yields to the committee. The language which gives in spectors the right to the packing plants at all times is amplified by the words "whether the same be in operation or

With these changes made, the president has indicated his entire satisfaction with the measure which was reported from the committee as a substitute for the Beveridge amendment, and was yesterday recommitted to the committee that the changes might be made.

Ordinarily Speaker Cannon does not take such active part in legislation as he has in the present instance. It has been explained, however, that he regards the passage of an adequate meat inspection bill with all possible speed as vitally essential to the welfare of many important industries throughout

UNREST IN RUSSIA

Agrarian Troubles Rapidly Extending to the Army

BLOOD MAY SOON FLOW

The Government Appears to Be Waiting For It Before Raising Its Hands--Bialystok Massacres Have Been Checked

St. Petersburg, June 18 .- The pitiable affair at Bialystok apparently has burned itself out. No further bloodshed is reported and no more is expected. This confidence is based on the action of the governor of Grodno, who is hated and distrusted by the bureau- Fairfield authorities. crats, and who, after investigating the situation at Bialystok, took the unprecedented step in order to prevent a spread of the massacres of telegraphing the authrities of all towns within the Jewish pale denying the alleged official reports that the disorders were due to the wanton throwing of bombs at a Christian procession by Jewish revolutionists. This measure, aided by the Catholic clergy, who yesterday throughout Russian Poland implored their congregations not to believe reports spread broadcast for the purpose of stirring up bloody excesses, was efficacious in calming the agitated spirits among the Christian population. The Catholics of Warsaw cancelled a great religious procession which was to have been held yesterday in order to avoid the chance of a conflict. The general situation, however, is the country seems to be on the verge of another gigantic upheaval. In St. Petersburg and Moscow the populace its knees. The protelariat leaders, who name of the doctor is also known. have been preparing for months for a blow, believe the moment has come to strike. The agrarian troubles now are sufficiently extended and disorders in the army are rife. The government mands of parliament and a rupture is imminent.

The government appears to be waiting for the blood to flow before raising design of several ministers to raise the question of a more active policy during the cabinet meeting Saturday was apparently fruitless. Heavy patrols have been placed in the streets and the railroad stations are occupied by troops, but no action has been taken to stop the agitation. The czar is reported to be spending most of his time playing tennis at Peterhof. It is significant as indicating the progress of the revolutionary sentiment that a general strike is expected to be inaugurated on the Nicholas railroad, between St. Petersburg and Moscow, which was the only line out of Moscow that was not affected during the uprising last December. The workmen in the shops of the Syzran and Vyazama road already have struck, but apparently the demonstration is premature. Admiral Belief, commandant of the fortress at Cronstadt, has received agrim warning in the shape of a coffin, which was delivered at his house.

State Charter Means Too Much

Practical Politics does not enthuse much over the Brockton canal. It says a the current issue:

"The action of the house on Thurs lay in advancing the Brockton ship canal bill is without excuse. After the vote had been taken, it was explained by the men who had supported it that it was done out of compliment to Hanock of Brockton, who, during all the lebate, sat smiling in his seat. In other words this is another of the courtesy acts which this strange house is always doing.

'Coartesy acts are well enough at the baginning of a session, albeit they are always a trifle dangerous, but when it comes to carrying them on in the closing days it is a different proposition. This is a bad measure no matter how it is viewed. Admitting that the original estimate of the harbor and land commissioners was conceived in haste, the point is that this bill is a dangerous one because the job which the promoters have taken on is wellnight impossible, and it does seem as it the anxiety of the promoters was more about the stock and the bonds which they can issue than over the actual dig-

"Gov. Douglas never took this seriously during his term of office, and his business judgment certainly can be relied on in matters of this sort. A state charter means too much to people who do not understand state machinery. If granted, it will be simply an advertisement to the unwary which will be taken to mean that the state somehow or other is interested in this proposi tion, or that it stands back of it, and that is the bad feature of it all. The infortunate part of the campaign gainst it, and this is said in all fairess, is that too many Cape Cod canal men spoke against it. The house thus raced out a relationship which should not weigh in the balance."

Body Recovered.

The body of Frederick J, Butrick of 28 West Canton street, Boston, who was drowned off the club house at Houghs Neck, June 10, during the squall, was recovered on Monday. The body came up off the end of Peddocks Island, some distance from where it went down. It was towed over to Hull where it was identified by papers found in the clothing. The remains were placed in charge of an undertaker after being viewed by the medical

With the installation of the new engine noted above the company can now be said to have one of the most modern and up-to-date electric light plants in existence. There is almost no limit to the amount of current it can supply and there is now no fear of poor lights on account of inability to generate suffi-

No expense has been spared in the nstallation of the plant and nothing has been omitted that would add to its fliciency. Previous to the new installation of the engine above noted the enerating machinery consisted of two engines, one of 500 horse power, conecting with a 200 kilowatt generator, and one 240 horse power, connecting with a 150 kilowatt generator. It will herefor be seen that the capacity of he plant has been more than doubled. In order to control this enormou mount of invisible energy it is necessary to have switchboards and the like, which to the uninitiated are somewhat uzzling. One of the most modern of hese switchboards has been erected fron which the current supplied for the ommedial and municipal lighting sysems of the city is easily controlled. It is possible in the shortest space of ime imaginable to shut off the current from any section of the city or to turn t on to any section so that at all times the powerful invisible current is in perfect control of the engineer at the power station, some of whom are on duty every hour of the day and night.

In order that the city officials and nembers of the city council might see the fully equipped plant in operation, an invitation was extended to them to visit it after the Council meeting Tuesday evening. All of the Councilmen present at the meeting accepted the invitation and in addition a large number of officials including Mayor Thompson.

After the City Council had adjourned arriages were in waiting to take them o the power station. At the station they were welcomed by President Pattee, Treasurer Faxon and the board of directors of the company who divided the party into groups and escorted them through the plant, explaining the ises of the different machines.

Few had any idea of the extensiveness of the plant, and the visit proved an interesting one for all, as well as to show the citizens that the company was now prepared to meet any demands that night be made upon it for current for ighting or mechanical purposes.

A lunch was served in one of the rooms by T. D. Cook & Co. of Boston, including salads and rolls, sherbets and ces, after which carriages took the party back to their several sections of

It would not be an unhealthy spot. It was not wholly for Boston people but for Quincy people. The stock of the company could be purchased by Quincy people. He would be glad to have it all purchased here. No stock had been sold as yet. The company had bonded about sixty acres and may have one hundred acres. He could not tell the price of lots as yet.

He had no difficulty in securing the land. The people understood thoroughly what it was to be used for. Administration buildings would be erected and a large and handsome gateway.

House Passes Measure Relating to Meat Inspection

Is Part of Agricultural Appropriation and Entirely Satisfactory to the President, Who Will Endeavor to Remove Prejudice

Washington, June 20 .- Passage by the house without division of the meat inspection amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill, as agreed upon by the president and Speaker Cannon at a conference, and the sending of the bill to conference, removes the last serious obstacle to an adjournment by congress by the end of this month.

This amendment is entirely satisfactory to the president and his opinion will enable the federal government to conduct a rigid investigation of all meats and meat products for the home and foreign markets. Then when the inspection has been initiated under the new law the president will take steps to reassure public confidence at home and abroad in the integrity of American meats and meat products.

Informal assurances have already been received from the London and Berlin governments that their co-op peration in the removal of public prejudice against American meats might be expected as soon as President Roosevelt announced his approval of a law passed by congress.

Widespread as has been the criticism of the president among Republican members of the house of his intervention in pending legislation, many of then realized that it was a hopeless task to attempt to reassure the American and foreign public by passing a bill which was not satisfactory to President Roose

Speaker Cannon was inclined at first to side with the packers, but he soon saw that they could be best protected by passing a bill satisfactory to the president. The fight on the meat bill has been short lived, but it has been a hard one, harsh words have been abundant on both sides, and the contest has left some scars between the house and the White House, which may or may not disappear before the next ses- testament of Bailey, that it was obsion of congress.

Mr. Wadsworth, chairman of the committee on agriculture, in explaining the changes made in the substitute for ment, said that the changes were mostly in verbiage, and then took them up seriatim. He called attention to the elimination of the court review clause and the date of inspection. Wadsworth facetiously took up small changes in the verbiage, inadvertently saying "they inserted" in one or two cases, but amid pays tribute "to Theodore Roosevelt. laughter changed the statement to "we inserted." Worcester Mystery Unsolved

Worcester, Mass., June 20 .- Although several persons have called at the morgue, none of them were able to identify or throw any light on the mysterious woman who died at the city ospital here on Sunday after givina birth to a baby boy. So closely has the young woman kept her identity a secret that it is the opinion now that it may not be learned. Before her death the woman gave the names of Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Gertrude Atwood.

Americans and Germans to Compete Boston, June 20.-The management of the Eastern Yacht club received a cablegram from the Kaiserliche Yacht club of Kiel, announcing dates for the races to be held off Marblehead under the joint management of the American and German clubs. City Is Outside Europe's Bomb Belt, but Precautions Are Being Taken--Norwegians Loyal to Their New Ruler

On the pier was built a great pavilion in the old Norse form, decorated with greenery and the nation's colors, and flanked by tribunes. Around the pavilion were gathered members of the diplomatic corps from Christiana, offieers of the army and navy and municipal officials.

At 6:05 o'clock the guns of the Danish warship Hekla booming the royal salute gave the crowds the announcement that the king's yacht was approaching. The full salute was fired, but the granite walls of the fjord had not ceased re-echolng it before the Heimdal rounded the promontory.

The crowds waited sllently until the vacht entered her slip, when they broke into the short, sharp hurrahs that express Norwegian enthusiasm. The first figure discernable upon the deck was Crown Prince Olaf, held high above the rail by his nurse. The king soon joined the prince and the crowd barked out another cheer, which was renewed when Queen Maud appeared. The members of the royal family speedily landed. The municipality presented an address of welcome, for which King Haakon returned his thanks. Then, taking the crown prince In his arms, the king, accompanied by Queen Maud, entered a carriage and, escorted by a troop of cavalry, drove to the governor's residence through cheering crowds.

Trondhjem, the ancient capital of the Viking fathers of Norway, is reached from Christiana by a narrow guage railroad that winds its tortuous way through miles of dreary pine woods, over sombre mountains flecked with snow and through valleys in which lie countless lakes. The railway runs for miles along the banks of the River Glommen, whose roar as it dashes along its rocky cleftway rises above the polse of the train. The road passes REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE, through many quaint villages and towns which now are gaily decked in jubilation over the events which are to reinstate Norway in an independent place in the family of nations. Trondhjem also is reached by steamers up a rugged coast where there are nothing but villages and lumber camps to mar the guant splendor of the rock-bound,

BOSTON LETTER.

Rules Committee Recommends Expulsion For T. J. Gethro.

Guild's Appointment of Dana as Judge Is Excellent.

Gethro of Boston is guilty of having ofbill, and recommends that he be ex- ties or the increase of fares. pelled from the house. The committee | The bill had also been amended so good standing have testified that they it might purchase other lines. were offered bribes by Gethro to vote ton and Goodhue of Ipswich.

Gethro, but some of the out-of-town Democrats will not support this course.

The fact that the committee recomnends the censure of a Republican as well as the expulsion of a Democrat shows that no partisan spirit governed its action. The members of the house as a general rule are convinced that the case is sufficiently clear to warrant the immediate expulsion of Mr. Gethro.

Power of the Legislature

The legislature can only expel a member who has been found guilty by a committee of the house or by the whole house sitting as a committee of the whole. It has no power to prosecute It has therefore done everything it can do when it has reported the facts to the house and expelled the guilty parties. The district attorney is the only official who can prosecute. In Suffolk county this official is John B. Moran. That official says he will proceed to act on the report and take refuge in the fiction of the "immunity bath," which he alleged that Mr. Gethro had received by testifying before the committee.

Mr. Gethro intends to make as bitter fight against expulsion as possible He is already rallying his Democratic colleagues to his support and is preparing to pose as a martyr.

Mr. Gethro has retained as his counsel Timothy W. Coakley, and he has been advised by him throughout the whole investigation, not only before the committee on rules, but also before the grand jury. Mr. Coakley is very close to District Attorney Moran.

The Tucker Case

The Tucker episode is over and the record is made. Power brings res bility. Few governors, however, have had so many momentous questions to decide in so short a space of time as has Governor Guild during the first six months of his term. In the Tucker case he was called upon to decide whether the verdict of the court should stand. He was sworn to do his duty regardless of all else. It would have been much easier for him to have commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life. He was not there, however, to consult his own convenience or his own ease. He was there to uphold the law as he had sworn upon his inauguration to do. He was there to say, if the case called for a modification of the sentence, that it should be granted. He gave the matter many days of study and investigation. At the end of that time he was convinced, regardless of his own preference, that there was no reason for his interference with the verdict of the tive. court, and he gave his reasons therefor in one of the ablest and most conclusive state papers ever promulgated by a Massachusetts executive. Those who differ with him in his conclusions must respect him for the honest and manly way in which he expressed them. There is no doubt that in a remarkable degree he has won the commendation of the thinking people of the commonwealth.

Governor Guild's Appointments

The governor has made a great record along the line of his appointments. The men he has selected for office are of the highest character for ability, integrity and standing.

In his appointment of William F. Dana, president of the senate, to the superior court bench, to succeed Judge Maynard, he has selected a man of the highest legal training, with a special bent along the line of constitutional law. Mr. Dana is a quiet man. There is nothing self-assertive about him, but he is one of the deepest students who has ever presided over the upper branch of the great and general court.

As president of the senate Mr. Dana has shown great ability and the highest integrity. As a man he is without a peer. He is just the sort of a gentleman one would select for a jurist. He is careful, conservative, erudite.

The Boston Herald in an editorial, clares, that the appointment is po- salt. litical. It hopes that Mr. Dana will vindicate his appointment. The Herald the charge that they are political. This ally.

is indeed delicious, coming from The Herald, in view of all the facts.

When Governor Douglas appointed John J. Flaherty of Gloucester to the superior bench he selected the man who, as chairman of the Democratic state committee, had conducted the campaign which resulted in the election of Mr. Douglas. That appointment might reasonably have been regarded as a political one, notwithstanding the high character of the man selected, but The CENSURE FOR SWIG IN THE CASE Herald did not feel called upon to criticise it, when made by a Democratic governor, nor even to insinuate that it was a mistake which might result to the detriment of the courts of the commonwealth.

SPEEDY JUSTICE

Abductor of Young Muth Gets Sentence of Twenty Years

Philadelphia, June 20 .- Twenty years of hard labor in solitary confine ment in the Eastern penitentiary was the sentence pronounced on John J. Kean, the abductor of Freddie Muth. The enormity of the man's crime which had aroused the whole city stirred the officers of the law to quick action and the swiftness with which justice moved has never been equalled in this community.

Kean, who had the Muth boy with him, fell into the clutches of the law Monday afternoon about the time the courts were closing. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was photographed and measured by the Bertillon system. Twenty-five minutes later he had been arraigned before a magistrate and committed to court without bail. The grand jury quickly found a true bill and at 11:20 a. m. he was in the criminal court awaiting his turn to face Judge Sulzberger. Shortly after 12 o'clock the judge passed sentence upon him and at 1:30 o'clock the doors of the penitentiary closed behind him.

In his quick trip from liberty to the solitude of Cherry hill no friendly hand or voice was raised in the prisoner's behalf. If he behaves himself his sentence under the law will be reduced to 12 years and three months. The court had the power to give him a life sen-

Much sympathy is expressed for the wife and three children Kean leaves without means of support. Mrs. Kean is prostrated by the disgrace brought upon the family. She will break up her home here and remove to New York, where she has relatives.

A Chance For His Life

ver was a horse named Eureka. Eureka had been with the battery for over two years and had made two successful Indian campaigns when a tragedy came into his life. One of his hind legs began to swell, and in three or four days he was disabled from duty. The veterinary took him in hand at once, but made no progress. The limb swelled to three times its normal size, and no remedy was found to be of nounced, and all knew what the end better, and the flat went forth that he was to be shot. "Corporal Brixton and guard will shoot him," read the order, and the colonel added verbally, "And do it as decently as you would shoot a man."

would be, and all pitied him. At the end of three months the leg was no

When Eureka was ready to be led gathering to bid him goodby. He was everybody's horse to admire and praise, but it was only the battery men who neck and smoothing his velvet nose and telling him that he should never be forgotten, though replaced. Strangely enough, the ailment had not affected the horse's general health. His eye was just as bright and his spirits just as high as when able to move with the swiftness of an antelope. He rubbed his muzzle against the cheeks of the men and whimpered for sugar, and when he went limping away caps came off and men felt a lump gathering in their throats.

The cortege wound over the hill a quarter of a mile away and then descended into the valley, and the pace was that of a funeral procession. When it was out of sight of the fort Private Daily asked of Corporal Brixton: "Corp, are ye a man or a scoundrel?"

"I'm a man, I'd have ye know, and I've proved it fifty times over," was the answer. "And have ye got a heart in yer you are driving at, and you leave it to Half a mile across the valley they came to the fringe of bushes and entered them. Eureka had but the slightest use of his leg, but he hobbled on after a fashion and made no complaint On the contrary, he snorted and sought to dance around as in the days of his strength. By and by a glassy glade was reached. Here was food and water for a hundred horses, and the cor poral called a halt.

"Daily and Henderson, listen to me," he said. "The orders are to shoot Eureka. I won't." "Bully for you, old man!" they shout-

"I shall have to report him dead, but it will be a lie, and if either of you ever betray me I'll have a bullet ready for you in the first skirmish that takes place. If I was cold blooded enough to

Uncle Sam to kick me out of the army and me own mother to go back on me Make ready now-aim-fire!" The carbine shots rang out. The noise did not startle the horse in the least, but it might have been heard at the fort by any one listening. The men had aimed above the horse, and their bullets went singing through the treetops. "Is he finished?" asked the corporal

as he turned his back on the feeding "He is, sir," answered Daily. "Then heaven rest his soul for a good horse, and forward march." For four or five days thereafter the men of the entire garrison looked askance at the three men and drew away from them. They had acted under orders, but they had shot down Eureka. They knew what ailed their comrades, but they kept their own counsel. The report of the corporal was accepted without question, and the incident passed into history.

Had Eureka been well in limb he would have made his way back to the fort before dark. As it was, he fed and drank and slept. They had given him his discharge from the servicehad made an outlaw of him, and he had no further right on the lines or in the stables. He did not move out of the glade that day or night. About midnight a big timber wolf came out of the foothills and circled around him and glared and growled, and the horse rose up with painful effort and made ready to defend himself with teeth and boof. The wolf did not attack, however, and when daylight came the crip ple hobbled up the valley in search of more secure retreat. That was in the last days of May. The valley was not settled, and the horse had it all to dimself except for the few deer, buffao and wild horses that strayed in occa

June, July and August came and went, and one day early in September the battery was taken out for drill. It had been at work for half an hour with evolutions when it suddenly wheelal into position, unlimbered and went into action and the guns began to boom. Of a sudden the men set up a wild cheering. Captain, lieutenant and first sergeants sat on their horses in scowling worder at such a breach of discipline, but it was only a moment before the puzzle was solved. Gallopng toward them down the sloping hillside, with mane and tail flying in the breeze and his heels in the air half the ime, was Eureka. M. QUAD.

humor and philosophy. He was here he said to tell what little he had learned since he took his diploma. Like Emerson he went to his school; his books, his teachers, his business, his church and he found himself. You will go out into the world and you will find yourself. Lots of people are looking for trouble and they generally find it. The reason is they find themselves. There are more things in the world than you can attend to. Life is like an old fashioned patch work quilt; made no of small pieces of different colors. Some people's lives are like a crazy quilt. It all depends on the choice you make, moment by moment. Some people go about seeking sunshine, and they find it. You can find yourself by asking what kind of a world you are DAY, June 23, 1906, no more ashes will be finding.

You can tell the kind of a person you are by the kind of people you find in it. It is what point of view you take rather than being rich or poor.

Mr. Cummings spoke along these lines for three-fourths of an hour summing up by laying down the following rules for a happy life :

First,-Get out of bed on the right side. You can if you try.

Second,-Smile before breakfast. Be true to yourself, and smile before breakfast, if you don't feel like it. Third,-Pick quick in order to be true to yourself.

Fourth,-Every day do or say the two kindest things to the people who are nearest and dearest to you. Those who you love best and those who love

Rev. Ellery C. Butler, chairman of the Board of Managers, spoke briefly to the graduates, and presented them with diplomas.

The exercises closed with the reading of the class ode by Miss Marguerite Davis, as follows:

The gates of Life's arena swing apart, Three blasts of brazen trumpets shrilly

And thrice the heavy hammer strikes the mark To summon us to loss or world renown. Whate'er the proof, whate'er the foe we meet,

Or be it Man or Beast or Wooden Cross, Let's on with courage high and strong heart To win the vict'ry, seorn the thought of loss.

When laurel-crowned Vict'ry's palm is raised And thunder echoes thunder of applause, Heed not the World's vain-glorious, flatterin True judgment follows the ensuing breath less pause. While tier on tier with one accord arise To catch His words, the Judge of every strife To thee is due, this day, the victor's prize,

The guerdon that shall ever crown thy life. There were 34 graduates as follows: Carlena Walker, Margnerite Davis, Lillian Josephine Aulbach, Elsie Marion Badger, Stella Barker, May Olive Berry, Mary Ellen Boyle, Grace Yard off Mille: Street. Tel. 207-2, Quincy Italian Passion.

The emotional temperament of the Italians is shown even in their "agony advertisements." This is from an Italian paper: "Yesterday when I saw you I had not then received your dear letter. Imagine in what state of desolation I had been. The day was to me a veritable agony. I could not discover a reason for your silence. You may guess how I suffered. But at last yesterday evening I again saw your adorable handwriting. Thanks, thanks, with the whole of my soul. Thus, at any rate, we may part with tranquil hearts. But when I think we shall never see one another again my soul freezes. Write to me often, for I have need of your gentleness, and I have a foreboding that I shall succumb to the pestilential climate of the country I am going to. And I shall write every other day to you. To you all my soul, all my love, sweetest and most adorable creature."

ON A STONE SHELF

Human Bones Are Found In a Mysterious Cave

UNDER MOUND OF EARTH

Ancient Books and Other Relics Indicate That It Was Used as a Hiding Place For a Political Refugee Over a Century Ago

Woodstock, N. B., June 21.-The discovery of an ancient cave containing human bones near the village of Johnville in this (Carleton) county, by John E. and Charles E. Stewart, is attracting hundreds of curious persons from other

The Stewarts, while walking through a stretch of wild land last Sunday, found a mound of earth at the base of a large tree, the roots of which had grown partially over it. After clearing away a mass of weeds and other undergrowth, they attempted to determine to what the peculiar contour of the mound was due. With sticks they dug away the earth and uncovered a huge rock, which appeared to have been placed there by human hands.

Not having any implements available with which to move the obstruction, they abandoned the work for the day, but on the following day they procured a stick of dynamite and blew up the rock. Their next discovery was a set of stone steps leading down to an underground passage seven feet in length and about two feet wide, opening into a cave 12 feet square. On a stone shelf in the cave, about two feet from the bottom, they found a quantity of human bones, which crumbled as oon as they were handled.

Near the bones was a gold ring with the inscription "John Long, Dec. 4. 1779." A silver watch bearing the date of 1740 was also found. The Stewarts uncovered a rusted iron tea kettle, in which were found three books, two in Latin and one in English. One of the Latin books was Suetonius' History of Rome and bore the publisher's date of Within the cover was the fol-1667. lowing: "B. A. Strong, Oxford college, May 24, 1676." Underneath this appeared the name "James Hayward,

The other Latin book was 1685." Seneca's Tragedies, and was dated 1659. The English book had the following printed on the first page: "Memories of Cardinal De Retz, containing all the great events during the ministry of Cardinal Mazarin. Done out of French. Printed at Dublin by I. Riley, Court Hill, for Stearn Brock, bookseller at the Stationers' Arm in Castle street, 1736. Inside the cover were the names o David Fowles and Michael Carney.

Around the books, which were in a good state of preservation, was a large piece of bark, on which were marks thought to indicate the location of other caves. At one end of the room, underneath the passage to the cave, were the remains of an old fireplace.

None of the residents of Johnville car throw any light on the mystery. It has been suggested that the occupant may have been an Irish officer in the Bri ish army or some person who left Ire land on account of political troubles and who desired to keep his whereabouts secret from the British troops who were quartered at various points along the St. John river in the latter part of the 18th century.

DECISION UNANIMOUS

Fall River Textile Workers Reject Manufacturers' Offer

Fall River, Mass., June 21 .- Without a dissenting voice, the textile workers of this city last night refused to accept the offer of the cotton manufacturers. made to the Textile Council after the latter body had demanded for the operatives a restoration of wages to the scale in force prior to July 25, 1904, when the great Fall River strike was inaugurated.

The offer of the Manufacturers' assoriation was a guarantee of a weekly dividend to each employe of at least 5 percent of the amount of his wages. The Textile Council referred this offer back to the individual unions for their ection upon it.

All of the five unions in the Textile Council held meetings last night. At every meeting there was a heavy attendance, and in each case the business was transacted quickly. When the vote was taken it was decided unanimously by every union to reject the offer of the Manufacturers' association. It was also voted to instruct the delegates to the Textile Council to adhere to their demands for a restoration of wages to the scale in operation previous to the strike of 1904.

The Textile Council will meet tonight to decide what further action shall be taken. The sentiment among the operatives is in favor of a strike un less wages are restored to the scale paid prior to the strike of 1904.

Fatal Freight Wreck

Mansfield Depot, Conn., June 21 .-One man killed, one slightly injured, an engine lying at the bottom of a 10-foot embankment, several freight cars wrecked and the tracks torn up for a considerable distance, are the results of a rear-end collision between two freight trains a quarter of a mile above this place. George Stanton, head brakeman of an extra freight, who was in the cab of the engine, was caught beneath it as It rolled down the embankment and cremated.

Passenger and Freight Trains Met Manchester, Conn., June 21 .- The passengers on a Boston express were considerably shaken up by a head-on collision between that train and a freight train a quarter of a mile west of here last night. The pilots of both engines were smashed, but no one was seriously injured. It was stated that a brakeman had been sent ahead to flag the express, but the engineer of the train claims that he was not flagged. The brakeman has disappeared.

Law Regulating Child Labor

Boston, June 21 .- The child labor aw, presented in the Massachusetts legislature by Representative Ross of New Bedford, has been signed by Governor Guild. The measure is based upon the recommendations of the governor in his inaugural address. It provides that any truant officer may apprehend and take to school, without a warrant, any minor who is employed in violation of the provisions of the child labor laws.

Five Yachtsmen Missing Boston, June 21 .- A Boston actor, a West End undertaker and three other business men of the city are among the missing in the complete disappearance of the 45-foot schooner yacht, the Naerd, which has not been heard from since Saturday evening. The party on board the Naerd, which is feared to be ill-fated, comprises James O'Donnell, Jr., George Warren, Ralph Warren, Frank Harding and Jack McGlory.

[Disbarment Proceedings New Haven, June 21 .- The trial of Attorney Harold Durant of Waterbury has begun in the superior court here. Durant is charged with obtaining evidence improperly in the case of a woman whom he is alleged to have represented when she was seeking to obtain a divorce from her husband. The prosecution is endeavoring to show tify the disbarring of Durant.

His First Case In Court

[Original.] George Crawford left the high school of his native village to go to college with a view to becoming a lawyer. How he was to pay his way no one knew, for he had not a cent in the world. Moreover, there was a love. match between him and his schoolmate, Maggie Pixley, the beginning of which neither could remember. The affair first began to look serious when George went to college. At least, it was then that Maggie's father first took notice of it and showed his opposition. He reminded his daughter that she was at a marriageable age, while her lover had four years at college, three at law school and no one could tell how many more in getting a practice at his profession. But all this depended on his getting the money to pay his expenses. Maggie made up her mind to wait for George Crawford. George at his entrance to college won a scholarship that by dint of rigid economy helped him through his first year. After that he did odd jobs, taught, won prizes, thus scraping together enough to put him through college. When it came to studying law, he found a position in a school requiring but a few hours of each day. This gave him what he needed to complete his legal education.

George was advised by most of his professors to plant himself in a large city, but one of them, differing from the rest, recommended the country, where, if the field was smaller, the competition was less. George chose the | r 8 43 abc country and settled in his native vil- r 9 13 abc

When one finds himself on the wrong side of a question the more the case goes against him the closer he is tempted to cling to it. MAKING PORCELAIN.

The Most Exciting and Romantic

Trade In the World. The maker of porcelain and pottery has decidedly the most exciting and romantic trade in the world.

The great factories of Sevres and Dresden were founded by Bernard nished on application. Palissy. This man invented white enamel, but it took him sixteen years to make the invention-sixteen years of hunger, misery and persecution, which culminated in the episode, used in H. A. Jones' play of "The Middleman," wherein Palissy maintained his furnace fire by burning all the furniture in his house and finally opened the furnace door to find within the glaze which he had sought throughout the best years

Bottgher invented hard porcelain He was an alchemist, and one day, chancing to discover that his powdered wig was powdered. This kaolin was Quincy. the substance for lack of which Bottgher's investigations had for years failed.

When Elers opened a porcelain factory at Burslem he employed none but the most stupid and illiterate workmen, so that his secret processes might not become known. But Samuel Astbury resolved to learn the Elers method, and, affecting ignorance and stupidity, he got a place in the factory, mastered al a plant of his own, wherein he duplicated in every detail the work of Elers. Exchange.

MANY, MANY DOCTORS.

A Sixteenth Century Wager That Might Be Won Today. The story is told in Joubert's "Popu lar Errors Concerning Medicine," pu lished at Bordeaux, France, in 1579 that one Gonelle, a jester at the cour of the Duke of Ferrara, insisted one upon a time that the trade which had the most followers was that of doctor To prove his assertion he left his hom one morning to go to the palace wit his nightcap on and his jaws wrappe up. The first person he met stoppe matter with you, Gonelle?" "A terrib toothache." "Oh, is that all? I'll te you what will cure it." And every per son he met had some advice to give

When the jester reached the duke's chamber, the same question and an swer were repeated. "Ah," said the prince, "I know of something that will take the pain right away." Gonell instantly threw up his kerchief, saying "And you, too, monseigneur, are a doo tor? I have only passed through one and have counted more than 200 of To LET-Single Cottage on Garfield street, and have counted more than 200 of L 6 rooms, good yard, high ground. Apply them. The sun, they say, is the eye of the once the left optics of human beings of high rank. Shungle, a celebrated chief, once ate the eye of a valiant chief, thinking thereby to increase the brilling the remainder of kitchen if desired. Nice thinking thereby to increase the brilllancy of his own "eye star." But the eye burned through Shungle's belly and killed him, whereupon his own left eye became joined to the one he had eaten, and the two may now be seen as a beautiful double star lying just to the east of the Southern Cross.

Liquid Corn.

An easterner was prospecting in the north Georgia mountains when he came on a native apparently clinging to the side of a steep hill tilling corn. The prospector stopped for a chat, and the mountaineer, nothing loath for and the mountaineer, nothing loath for a rest in the shade from his fatiguing toil, was agreeable.

"Say friend how in the shade shade in the street, or A. G. Durgin, Winchenden, Mass. Feb. 28. "Say, friend, how in the world do you get the corn down off that hillside after it is ready for harvest?" asked the stranger. "In jugs," was the laconic and probably truthful reply.-Atlanta Georgian.

Seals Learning to Swim. Young seals do not know how to swim. They have to become gradually accustomed to the water either by entering it to paddle about by themselves or by being carried into it in their mothers' jaws. They have great fear of the waves that break into foam, and as soon as they see one approach ing take to flight in terror and do not turn round until they have ascended to a very high place above the sea.

It Happens.

"You are a very successful prophet," we said. "Will you tell us the secret of your success?" "Certainly," the sage replied in a

LOCK CANAL WINS

Bea Level Idea Is Given Up by the Senate

PLEASES THE PRESIDENT

He Regards Action of Both Branches of Congress as a Vote of Confidence--Dirt Will Soon Begin to Fly on the Isthmus

Washington, June 22.-The senate has taken a position in accord with the president and the house of representatives by declaring for a lock canal across the Isthmus of Panama. There was only one recorded vote in connecion with the disposition of the question nd that was negative in character, oming on a motion to lay on the table he lock type substitute for the seavel bill reported by the committee on ter-oceanic canals. This motion was ade by Senator Kittredge, the comlittee champion of the sea-level plan, nd was voted down, 31 to 36. This ote was accepted as decisive and no ne asked for a division on the vote on the acceptance of the substitute.

The vote is generally accepted as end ing a long contest and definitely settling the type of the great waterway by which the two oceans are to be united. It terminates what, at one time, threatened to become a sharp difference between the senate on the one hand and the president and the house on the other, for there is no denying he should have to pay the expenses of that, when the bill was reported from committee, the indications in the senate were all favorable to the sea-level

There has recently, however, been a steady gain by the lock advocates, notwithstanding the report of the canal committee, as well as the report of the board of consulting engineers, were against them. The engineers' report has figured prominently in the discussion and frequent attention has been called to the fact that, while eight out | 000 people at the Sheepshead bay course. of the 13 engineers reported favorably to a sea-level canal, all of the five dissenters were American engineers, while of the other eight five were Euro-

"Cut loose, now, and build the canal. The American people want results on the isthmus as soon as they can be obtained, and I want them. Dig. dig. Congress and the people are behind us in our efforts."

Within 48 hours after the completion of the Panama canal legislation President Roosevelt will issue in effect the above order to Chairman Shonts and Chief Engineer Stevens of the Panama

The president expressed his great gratification at the action of the senate in supporting his plan for the construction of a lock canal. He has been convinced for several days that the lock type of canal would be adopted by the senate, on its final vote, notwithstanding the report of the majority of the inter-oceanic canal committee in favor of a sea-level waterway. A careful canthe senate was made and he was assured that there would be a safe pounds of strawberries and two pounds | majority in favor of the lock type, of raspberries, which were mashed in which he has advocated ever since the her bath of warm milk and water. An- report of the engineers' commission was received.

The president regards the vote of the house and the senate on the lock type of canal as a vote of confidence. Orders will be issued in a few days to press the work as rapidly as possible, and it is announced that before the summer is far advanced as many men and as much machinery as profitably can be employed will be engaged in making the dirt fly on the canal route.

Promptly upon being advised of the called on Secretary Taft at the war detion. Both Shonts and Taft are greatly commission, as a whole, should sail which it is to be continued.

"DESTROY THE TRUSTS"

Bryan Says That Now Is the Time to Tackle Monopolies Trondhjem, June 22.-W. J. Bryan has arrived here to attend the coronation. Taking for his text the statement that he was being described as conservative, Bryan said in an interview: "I am not responsible for the phrases used in regard to me; but I am responsiblt for my position on public questions That position ought to be well known. Take the trust question for instance My position is that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. That was the Democratic platform in 1900 and the plank was incorporated in 1904 and it is the only tenable position.

"There is some talk of controlling the trusts. You might as well talk of controlling burglary. It is not sufficient to control or regulate private monopoliesthey must be absolutely and totally destroyed. Corporations should be controlled and regulated, but private monopolies must be exterminated, root and branch. Now, you may call that a radical doctrine. Yet it is more conservative to apply this remedy now than to wait until predatory wealth has by its lawlessness brought odium on legitimate accumulations.

"What used to be called radical is now called conservative because peopie have been investigating. The doctrine has not changed, but public sentiment is making progress."

Roosevelt's Fair Stand

Washington, June 22.-President Roosevelt, discussing the proposed-appropriation of $25,000 a year to defray the expenses of his trips about the country, stated that, in any event, whether the appropriation was made or not, he would pay his own expenses on every trip. He does not feel, however, that the government employes who accompany him on those trips for the purpose of transacting the business of the government or the expenses of such others as might accompany him.

Vote of Massachusetts House of Representatives

MADE EFFORT TO BRIBE

Exciting Deba Tover Report of Committee Which Heard Evidence Relating to Anti-Bucket Shop Legislation

Boston, June 22.-During a session marked by unusual disorder, the house of representatives last evening voted to expel Representative Frank J. Gethro of Boston, thus upholding the report of the committee on rules which. after a long investigation of charges of bribery made in connection with the defeat of the anti-bucket shop bill, recommended Gethro's expulsion on the ground that he had sought improperly o influence legislation

The vote was 142 in favor of expulsion and 54 against. An amendment offered by Mr. Mellen to fix the penalty at suspension for 30 days instead of expulsion had previously been lost on a foice

The consideration of the bribery report, which lasted from 2:15 until 6:15 'clock, when the house adjourned, was marked by the delivery of impassioned speeches by many members both in support of and in remonstrance to the report of the investigating committee. Mr. Gethro, the accused legislator, himself took the floor in his own defense and urged that he be either acquitted or found guilty. Representative Leonard of Springfield, one of the three legislators on whose testimony Gethro was found guilty by the committee, made a formal statement to the house, in which he declared his conviction that Gethro was guilty of attempting to bribe his fellow members. The disorderly part of the proceeding developed when Representative Lomasney of Boston, who figured as the persistent supporter of Gethro during the entire session, criticised Representative Leonard for his conflicting statements in connection with the Ge-

The house galleries were crowded with people and the entire proceedings were followed with extraordinary attention. Particularly was the interest shown during the speeches of Representative Coyle of Boston, who s-verely attacked Representative Mock of Boston, the principal legislative witness against Gethro before the committee. and Representative Higgins of Somerville, who made an earnest plea for the maintenance of the honor of the commonwealth, and who, in plain words, expressed his conviction of Gethro's

The basis of the committee's recommendation of the expulsion of Gethro was the testimony of Representatives Mock, Leonard and Goodhue, who charged in substance that Gethro had attempted to bribe them in behalf of the defeat of the anti-bucket shop bill.

After further debate Representative

Gethro was given the floor. He expressed a demand for justice from his fellow members. "If any man has agreed to be bribed by me," he went on, "he knows it and I know it, and I ask him to rise here now and denounce me. Scarcely had Gethro resumed his seat when Mr. Leonard was upon his feet to make a renewed statement as to the bribery charges. He wished, he said. to present fairly and squarely the events as they had occurred. He charged that Gethro had approached him on the bucket shop bill and had drawn him to one side so that others could not hear and had stated that he had a friend in the bucket shop business who was willing to get 10 men to vote against the bill. "Gethro's way and manner was sneaking," Leonard declared, slowly, and, he went on, "I believe that he was intending to bribe me. In the presence of almighty God

I believe him guilty." Gethro sat quietly in his seat during the indictment of Leonard, but left the chamber immediately after Speaker Cole, in a closing speech for the committee, had warmly supported and advocated the acceptance of the committee's report.

After a voice vote on Mellen's suspension amendment, which was declared lost, the house proceeded to vote by the yeas and nays upon the main question of expulsion, with the result that 142 members recorded themselves in favor and 54 against.

The ensuing uproar in the house developed when Lomasney endeavored to secure an immediate consideration of the committee's report censuring Swig for his conduct in the anti-bucket shop controversy and when an attempt was made to secure an immediate adjournment. A great chorus of disapproval went up when Temporary Chairman Potter put the question amid cries of "gag rule" and some jeers from the Democratic members.

The disorder having subsided, Lomasney resumed his speech in criticism of Leonard and in defense of Swig. Meantime an agreement was reached by conflicting factions and the further consideration of the censure of Swig was postponed until today.

QUEEN SHARES HONORS

Coronation Ceremonies Modified to Suit Norwegians' Democratic Spirit -- Much Simpler Than Those of Olden Times

Trondhjem, June 22 .- With a ceremonial modified from the old Norse forms to meet the modern democratic spirit of the country, King Haakon VII and Queen Maud, at noon today, in the old Trondhjem cathedral, were anointed, blessed and given Norway's crowns. When, nearly 40 years ago, King Oscar of Sweden received the crown, he bared his breast and ecclesiastics crossed it with sacred oils, according to the customs of older days. King Haakon was anointed only on the forehead and wrists and the entire rite was simpler. There were 3000 persons present, that number representing the capacity of

The king and queen left the residence of the provincial governor for the cathedral at 11 o'clock. They were accompanied by members of the court and the staff in attendance. When all had taken their places in the cathedral the bishop of Trondhjem recited the first line of a hymn, after which the congregation and choir sung sung the first verse of this hymn.

The bishop of Christiana, having read the confession, the first six verses of the Te Deum were sung by the congregation and choir. At the conclusion of the hymn the bishop of Christiana delivered a sermon, following which a hymn was sung by a priest and choir.

When the first part of the cantata had been finished the king proceeded to the throne, standing on a platform before the altar. The supreme adjutants removed the princely mantle from the king and placed it on the altar. The chief justice of the supreme court took the royal mantle from the altar, and, jointly with the bishop of Trondhjem, placed it over the shoulders of the king, who then knelt on the devotional most caution and delicacy in making stool before the throne. The bishop any advances whatever toward the then appointed the king on the forehead | Russian government in the direction of

The king, having arisen and placed himself on the throne, Prime Minister Michelsen proceeded to the altar and took the royal crown, which he, conjointly with the bishop, placed on the head of the king, while the bishop recited a prayer.

The bishop, having said a prayer, a salute of 72 shots was given from the artillery and

The bishop gave the benediction there was music from the organ, and then the king returned to his chair. After him the sword, uncovered and upright, was carried at the left and the banner of the kingdom at the right. The king wore the royal mantle, the crown on his head, the sceptre in the right and orb in the left hand.

The king, having taken his seat, the third part of the cantata was performed. This being ended, the queen proceeded to the throne, where her coronation took place with ceremonies similar to those with which the king was crowned. The king and queen then drove back to the residence of the provincial governor.

Woodward Reception

The reception of the graduating class of the Woodward Institute at the school building on Thursday evening was very largely attended, the young people predominating.

Early in the evening there was a reception, when the principal of the school, F. W. Plummer, and the following class officers received: President, Miss Helen K. Horton; vice president, Miss Marguerite Davis; secretary, Miss Mary E. Boyle; and treasuer, Miss Elsie Dancing followed and was continued until after eleven o'clock, to inspiring music by Cuff's orchestra. In one of the teachers rooms there was on exhibition three cups, one very large one, and two small ones, accompanied by this explanation:

"The class of 1906 present these cups to the Woodward Institute with their best wishes. The basket ball cup shall be given to the team winning the most games in a series of two games with each class. The tennis cup shall be given to the winner of singles in

In the upper hallway frappe was served during the evening, and in the drawing room was a very creditable exhibition by pupils of the school.

Dunn to Pitch For Quincys

What should prove the best drawing card of the season in base ball will take place Saturday, when the Fore River and Quincy teams will battle for supremacy at the Fore River grounds. There has been quite a few changes in Sprague & Hobart, Washington cor. River St. the Fore River team of late, but the present make-up is a good one. So far this season they have lost only one game, which speaks well for a newly organized team. A series of games has been arranged with the Quincys and a good game is expected. Manager Flynn of the Quincys has secured Artie Dunn, late of Fore Rivers, to do the pitching. While Dunn has for the past few years played in the infield, he has proven himself to be one of the best pitchers in semiprofessional base ball.

When the Quincy league was organized a few years ago he was at that time pitching for the Quincys who won the championship and he had the record of being the best slab artist in the league. This is his first game since joining the Quincys and his friends feel that he is capable of turning the tables on Fore Rivers. A large crowd is expected to witness this game which will be called at 3.30.

Eight Mile Limit Near City Square

The new automobile law goes into effect Saturday, and in order that drivers may not get caught exceeding the speed limit Chief Burrell will put up signs giving the limit of speed that may be run on certain streets. The signs are of wood painted green with white letters.

The speed on the outskirts is 12 niles per hour, and on approaches to City square 8 miles per hour.

The 8 mile limits are as follows Adams street, from Rice's hill to Presidents' bridge. Junction of Hancock and Adams street to City square. Junction of Washington and Ele streets to City square.

Junction of Elm, School and Hanock street to City square. City square.

All streets outside of these places the speed limit will be 12 miles per hour.

A COMPROMISE DECISION

Gethro, Expelled From Legislature, Calls on District Attorney, Who Characterizes Interview as "Interesting"

Boston, June 23 .- The bribery episode in the lower branch of the legislaoure has closed, the house finding that Representative Simon Swig of Taunon made conflicting statements, not ander oiath, in connection with the charges, but that he did not attempt improperly or dishonestly influence ny member or that he was improperly fluenced himself.

On Thursday the house expelled Repentative Frank J. Gethro of Boston. recommended by the committee on les, for attempting to influence the embers. The committee also recomanded censure for Swig for his incondent statements, but when the matcame up for action yesterday there was considerable opposition.

The debate on the recommendation ed through the morning session, ut in the afternoon, after a long conerence between the leaders on both sides, a compromise was effected, and he committee admitted that Swig had not made conflicting statements under oath and that he had not been dishonest. One of the members of the committee pointed out that to state that Swig made such contradictory statements under oath was to brand him as a perjuror, and further admitted that the committee was wrong in that part of the findings. The compromise measare was adopted without a division. still the confidence of his fellow mem-

Conditions at Fall River Caused Many to Leave the City

Fall River, Mass., June 23 .- An attempt is being made by cotton mill overseers, union officials and others to induce the hundreds of operatives who have left the city during the past few months to return and re-enter the employ of local corporations, now that the manufacturers have agreed to restore the wage scale which existed previous to the cut of July, 1904.

Many operatives, including a large number of heads of families, went from Fall River to other mill centres during he period of low wages, and it has been mpossible to fill their places without resorting to the employment of Europeans, most of whom are unskilled.

Since the beginning of the upward movement in textile wages at the first of the year, about 66,000 operatives in the New England states have had their pay advanced, the average increase amounting to 10 percent. The districts affected are in western Massachusetts, Connecticut, Lawrence, Fall River and one or two other places.

Bondsmen Superseded

The personal bondsman is fast becoming obsolete; the risk to private fortune is too great.

The corporate bond is just as rapidly supplanting the old form; and, in time, men will marvel that they were ever called upon to incur the danger of personal suretyship.

In point of safety, convenience and propriety, there can be no comparison between the two; the one is just as weak and perilous as the other is wrong and safe.

Death of an Ex-Councilman

Duny Louger.

Edward L. Robbins of Wollaston, a member of the Quincy City Council in 1893 and 1894, and a newspaper writer of prominence, died yesterday at his home on Lincoln avenue after an illness of several months.

Mr. Robbins was born in Plymouth April 26, 1836, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robbins. Upon leaving school he took up the shoemaking business in the days when the big factory was an unknown quantity. In a few years he turned to the printers' calling, entering the office of the Old Colony Memorial at Winthrop Pratt, will do the carpenter Plymouth, where he remained for several years.

Mr. Robbins was an accomplished musician and taught singing, at one The budget for the year as adopted at time. He joined the Plymouth band Dr. and Mrs. A. E. In 1884 he was chosen by the management of the Canadian Pacific railroad to take a trip over their lines and write a descriptive story for The Herald. His article was widely quoted in the United States and Europe.

He later became railroad editor of The Herald, and after several years resigned for a position with the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad under Supt. Bromley in their advertising department. He wrote many descriptive pamphlets of Plymouth, Cape Cod and other places along their lines. About four years ago he was forced to retire owing to ill health, and he had been at home most of the time since. He married in 1861 Miss Mercy J., daughter of William and Jane Bartlett Holmes Paulding of Plymouth. They had no chidren.

He was a member of Plymouth lodge, A. F. A. M., and John Hancock lodge, I. O. O. F., of Wollaston. He is survived by a widow and two sisters, Mrs. Charles T. Holmes and Mrs. Fred K. Holmes of Plymouth.

Rogan Discharged For Intimidating

The case of Thomas J. Rogan, walkng delegate of the Granite Cutters' Jnion, who was charged with intimi dating workmen at the yard of John H. McDonnell, came up in the district court this morning, when the court found him not guilty and ordered his discharge.

This was the case when it was alleged that Rogan intimidated the workmen at McDonnells and caused them to leave

The court in giving its finding said that Rogan was the agent of the union, of which these workmen were members and that he had notified them of the action of the union.

Public Library To be Enlarged

There is a prospsct of the Thomas Crane Public Library being enlarged at an early date through the further generosity of the Crane family.

Just what the proposed enlargement will be cannot be stated. It is also uncertain when it will be done.

All that is known is that an architect was sent to Quincy, recently, from New York, by the heirs of Thomas Crane. He looked over the present building and grounds and then returned to New

LABOR GAMPAIGN

Political Document Issued by Allied Organizations

AN ATTACK ON CONGRESS

List of Friends of Workingmer Equally Divided Between the Parties--Cannon, Payne and Dalzell Not Included In It;

Washington, June 23 .- Allied labor organizations, which have maintained an active lobby here throughout the session, are believed to be responsible for day into every state in the Union, containing a list of the members of the present house whom laboring men can vote for with the assurance that those on this list, so the circular states, will istry, which had printed "black hunvote for any constitutional measure in dred" circulars, would not punish those the interest of labor which comes before the house.

"Labor Rights in Congress" is the title of this unsigned circular, and the feature of its introduction is an attack on the house leadership, which reads: "We are not in love with the system in vogue that gives three members of the house the right to cut off debate to smother men's convictions, to ride roughshod over the opinions of dulyelected representatives, but this system will continue in a more or less modified form no matter which party is in power until the public sentiment of the country demands and compels a change, and when it does the committee on O'Sullivan in the court of special sesrules will alter their tactics and not be-

Conspicuous absentees are Speaker Cannon, Representatives Payne of New York and Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who, as the Republican members of the committee on rules, compose the triumstreet of Indiana, Williams of Mississippi and Underwood of Alabama.

TWO-FACED ATTITUDE

Russian Government Is Blamed

For Excesses at Bialystok St. Petersburg, June 23 .- At a crowded meeting of the Constitutional Democratic club last night Deputy Stchepkin reported the findings of the committee of the lower house of parliament which went to Bialystok to investigate the facts in connection with the anti-Jewish outbreak there. According to this report, the police, with the aid of subordinate officers of the police and military, were directly responsible for the provocation of the outbreak by the circulation of false rumors against the Jews.

The governor of Bialystok, though not directly responsible, was said by Stchepkin to have been undoubtedly criminally guilty of prolonging the ex cesses by absence from his post. The governor washed his hands of the affair, not knowing the attitude of the of ficials at St. Petersburg, and absented a circular, which was started yester- himself from the scene without giving a single order.

The government gave no order sanctioning the excesses, but the local police assumed that the Goremykin minwho participated in the outbreak. It is this two-faced attitude of the gevern ment, Stchepkin asserted, which was principally responsible. In conclusion the report says that the ministry must be changed and one must be chosen from the majority in parliament.

Then there was the morning when we walked together to church and she talked so quietly of holy things, and there was that last afternoon in the garden before Fitz came

That day it was the hardest of all to forget myself and remember Fitz. Sometimes when the tenderness of my heart would creep into my words little spots of color would come and go in her girlish face. I scarcely saw her eyes that day, the white lids drooped so insistently over their blue beauty. At last I pulled myself together with the thought that he could do so much more for her than I, even if she could bring herself to think of me at all, and made my last earnest speech for him.

She frowned a little, then she smiled and looked thoughtful. "I think I shall have to teach you to

The Queer Burmans.

One who has lived among them says: "The Burmans are a primitive people They are a very young people. There are certain marks and signs by which physiologists can determine the relative youth or age of a race. One of these is the physical differentiation between boys and girls. In early races it is slight. As the race grows old it develops. SUMMER AMUSEMENTS.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Robert Hilliard, who is credited with being he cleverest "legitimate" actor who has appeared in vaudeville, as well as the best drawing card from a box office point of view, will head a strong bill at Keith's for the week of June 25. "As a Man Sows" the new play, concentrates into a single act as much dramatic intensity and real heart interest as usually comes within the bounds of a four act drama. It is a society play, and like all Mr. Hilliard's vehicles, it contain a moral. The star will be supported by an excellent company and the scenic surroundings will be of the order seldom seen on a vaudeville stage. The surrounding show includes the Sheldons in the handsomest and most artistic series of plastic statuary posings ever seen in vaudeville; Stuart Barnes, "the Chesterfield of pnologue comedians. The Fadettes will make their usual weekly change of selections of popular music and the concerts will be at 1.45 and 7.30 P.M , as hitherto. The usual new list of exhibited in the kinetograph.

GLOBE THEATRE.

Mr. John Craig, the past season leading man of the Castle Square theatre stock company and for the past few weeks at the Empire theatre, has organized his own stock organization and will make his first appearance as actor and manager at the Globe theatre next Monday, June 25th. Mr. Craig felt that the theatre-goers of Boston and vicinity desired the continuance of the idea. He secured a lease of the Globe theatre tor the summer months and during his control of the house a splendid line of high-class plays will be presented. The first of these will be the powerful comedy drama, "The Middleman," which was brought to this country by Mr. E. S. Willard. Mr. Ciaig will be seen in the character of Cyrus Blenkarn, the old potter, a character he has played a number of times and con sidered by many to be one of his best roles. In the play he will have the assistance of such well known artists as Mary Young, Mary Sanders, Kate Ryan, J. L. Seeley, William Humphrey. During his engagement at the Globe Mr Craig will give two performances daily at popular prices. Mr Craig is now negotiating with Miss Lillian Lawrence to return to Boston as his leading lady and he is in hopes of announcing her acceptance the first of next week.

Paragon Park. Greater Paragon Park is open and notwithstanding the unpleasant weather of its first three days the attendance was very large which is the best evidence of the strong hold of this resort on the public of Greater Boston. Everywhere are heard words of astonishment over the vast improvements that have been made over last season. There are a number of big new attractions this season in addition to the many of last, and a person going to Paragon Park 123.65 will miss a great deal if he does not see the trained wild animal show as given in the Bostock Arena. "Hades to Paradise" is another of the big attractions of this second season. The Children's Circus with its exhibition of ponies dogs, roosters, etc., is making a hit with the little folks; Lovers' Lane is a most original exhibition; Pike's Peak the longest and best scenic railway in New England.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

With "Carmen" as the attraction, the Castle Square Theatre begins on Monday the fourth week of the summer opera season. The return of the singers to their old home has been a success from the very first, and there has been carcely a performance when the theatre has not been crowded to the doors, with no vacant seats, and the standing room completely filled The singing has been of the best, and no detail has been neglected to make the production o 'The Mikado," "Il Trovatore" and "The Chimes of Normandy" as pertect as possible in every way. The cast will include Miss Albright as Carmen, George Tallman as Don Jose, and Harry Luckstone as Escamillo.

B. H. S. Alumni.

About forty graduates of the Braintree 114.36 High school met Thursday evening in the High School hall and organized an Alamni association. The meeting was opened by a plano solo by Mr. George 503,107 Abell followed by selections from the club. Following the entertainment came the organizing and outlining of 254.61 the purpose of such an organization.

It is hoped that at the next meeting, to be held on Friday evening, June 29; 256.110 that a large number of former graduates will be present.

The following officers were elected: President,- Dr A. E. Oliver. Vice president, - Miss Helen Watson. Secretary, - Miss Alice Moir.

503.126 Treasurer, - Carl Bangs. Executive committee, -- Mr. Collins, Miss Margaret Bannon and Miss A. K.

ricks, bollers, engines, quarry supplies and other property. Said personal property is fully described in said decree, dated May 29th, 1906, to which reference is hereby made for a complete description thereof."

The sale of said last above mentioned personal property shall be made upon the same terms as the sale of the mortgaged premises and personal property, except that only the sum of Two Thousand dollars shall be required to be deposited by the bidder as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid and complete his purchase; and the further exception that upon being reported to the court and accepted and confirmed, the balance of the purchase price bid for said unmortgaged personal property shall be paid in cash by such purchaser. The Special Master is authorized, at the request of the solicitors for the complainants in this cause to adjourn or postpone the said sales and, without further notice or advertisement, to proceed with such sales on any day to which the said sales may have been adjourned.

The court expressly reserves the right to reject any bid, and also to retake possession of and resell said premises and property upon the failure of any purchaser for twenty days to comply with any order of court requiring any payment on account of the purchase price.

If any bid shall be accepted by the court, and the person or persons making the same shall fail to comply with all the conditions of sale and all orders of the court in respect thereto, the sum deposited by the bidder may be forfeited and shall be applied as the court may direct.

For further particulars and for a more specific description of the property ordered to be sold, both that mortgaged and that unmortgaged, reference is made to the above mentioned decree of said court, copy of which may be seen in the Clerk's office of said court or at the office of the American Loan and Trust Company, 53 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, or at the office of the Quincy Quarries Company (in charge of the undersigned, its Receiver,) Quincy, Massachusetts.

Awards Medal to For Bravery At Quincy Depot

The Daily Ledger has been notified awarded medals of honor to two loconotive engineers, who performed deeds f heroism entitling them to recogniion under the act of Congress approved February 23, 1905, which provides for he bestowal of bronze medals of honor ipon persons who, by extreme daring, ndanger their own lives in saving or ndeavoring to save, lives from any vreck, disaster or grave accident, or in reventing or endeavoring to prevent such wreck, disaster, or grave accident, pon any railroad within the United States engaged in interstate commerce. The recipients of the medals are Mr. Charles W. Haight of Utica, New York, and Mr. George H. Williams of Brainee, Mass., an engineer on the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. Mr. Haight climbed out on the pilot of his engine and picked a little child from between the rails while his train was running at a good peed, at West Winfield, N. Y., on Wareham.

Mr. Williams dashed in front of an approaching train for the purpose of over, on Saville St. crossing of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. at Quincy, on December 21, 1905. He was struck by the engine of the approaching train and sustained injuries which sent him to the hospital and kept him away from luty for nearly four months.

Only one medal has heretofore been warded under this law; and it will till be some time before Messrs. Haight and Williams receive their medals, as the dies from which the medal is struck are not yet completed. They are being made by the engraver at the Mint in Philadelphia, from a design made by Mr. Adolph Weidman, a New York

The Lynn Daily Evening Item of June 21, was a souvenir edition of forty pages. Aside from all the local and telegraphic news matter that was out before the public in a concise maner, several pages were devoted to a story of Lynn's remarkable growth and industrial prosperity in which the Item during its 58 years has been a great Mt. factor.

The edition is purposely illustrated by cuts of many of its large manufactaring buildings and pictures of its prominent citizens. Men, who with he Jtem, have done their mite toward the upbuilding of the city of shoes, and who are striving to hold its place among the leading cities of the Commonwealth.

One whole page is devoted to a proclamation by the business men of Lynn to the world, telling of its industrial life and pointing out some of the When we enlighten you about prices multifarious advantages offered the cap and near, to come and share its bless-

New Superintendent At Braintree

At a meeting of the school committee held last week Mr. John C. Anthony was elected superintendent of the schools in place of Mr. J. A. MacDougall, re-Engineer Williams signed. Mr. Anthony comes of one of the oldest New England families, his ancestors having settled in Rhode Island in 1734. He graduated from the public schools of Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1887, and was awarded the mayor's prize for ranking the highest upon examination, among more than 5000 graduates.

In 1891 he graduated at the head of the college preparatory class from the y the Interstate Commerce Commis- B. M. C. Durfee high school at Fall on that President Roosevelt bas River, at which time he was elected class poet. He graduated from Brown university in 1895 with high honors, the degree of A. B. and an election to Phi Beta Kappa. While at college he was a member of the glee and mandolin literary monthly, and for three years was director of the Brown symphony orchestra, an organization of forty

> Since graduation Mr. Anthony has studied pedagogy and methods of teaching at Columbia university. He has had over ten years of experience as teacher, supervisor and superintendent. At West Bridgewater he was principal of the high school, then assistant superintendent of the Farm school at Boston; supervising principal of the grammar chools of New Britain, Conn.; superintendent of the House of Reformation at Boston; four years superintendent of the public schools of Marion and

Mr. Anthony has made himself well known among the educators of New England by his addresses at conventions and institutions. He has also contributed many articles, sketches, etc for magazines and newspapers.

He was married in 1897 to Miss Bertha Everett of Fall River. We hope Mr. Anthony will accept the position offered him by our school board.

Mr. Anthony is well acquainted here, having served as superintendent of schools in Weymouth.

Gold Medal

Won by James L. Kay At Academy Declamations

The annual prize declamation for the Adams gold medal and other prizes by the students of the Adams Academy, were held Saturday evening at the First church. It was also the occasion for the awarding of the scholarship and approbation prizes.

Although the weather was rather inclement there was a very large attendance of the parents and friends of the students, as well as a number of former pupils of the Academy. The declamations were of a very interesting nature, the audience showing their appreciation by applauding each num-

In addition to the speaking exercises there were musical selections by two students and a former student of the academy, John Y. Hamilton presiding at the piano, and Frank C. Snyder and Charles M. Colsted playing the violins. Dr. Everett opened the exercises with brief remarks during which he said this was the the thirty-first annual declamation. Among the gold medal ists, whose names were on the last page of the program, were men who were widely known and who had given a good account of their education at the Adams Academy.

He also said that it was understood plans were under way to absorb the Academy into the general school system. This he said may be necessary some day but many hoped it would not be soon, that they will see the individfunds of the school shall mean nothing and where the system is for both sexes. He believed that many were in favor of a school for boys exclusively as they have a schools for girls exclusively. If the school is lost it will be grieved by many, and they may be expected to express their sentiment that the school may be retained.

Dr. Everett then announced that the There was a lively row among the judges selected were Rev. E. A. Horton, Brutal Master of "White Slave" Paterson, N. J., June 25 .- The police arrested here last night, on a charge of importing girls from Italy for immora purposes, Antonio Sorianello, for whon they claim they have been searching more than a year and who they say is wanted by the authorities of several other cities. His arrest followed the discovery by the police of a young wo man on the street in a pitiable cond tion. She declared she had escaped from a house by dropping out of a window. In her room the police say they found a loaded cane to which a few hairs yet adhere, a poker with blood stains on it and a heavy stove-lifter, all of which the girl declares were used in the assaults upon her because her week's earnings had not satisfied the man. Sorianello is held without bail on five charges.

OFFERED FIVE PERCENT

The Manufacturers Say They Already Pay as High a Schedule as Competitors, but Make Further Concession For Harmony

New Bedford, Mass., June 25 .- The New Bedford Textile council held a special meeting last night to act upon the offer of the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' association of an increase of 5 percent in wages. The offer of the manufacturers was made in reply to a request of the Textile Council that wages be advanced 10 percent.

At last night's meeting it was voted to ask the representatives of the Manufacturers' association for a conference on the wage question. The Textile Council further expressed a wish that the proposed conference be held before Wednesday night. They desire to discuss the proposed 5 percent advance, which the members of the Textile Couneil do not consider sufficient under present conditions. The Textile Council intends to make every effort to secure a wage increase of 10 percent.

The Manufacturers' association sent the following letter to Secretary Conant of the Textile Council Saturday night: "Upon receipt of your letter addressed to me, I immediately submitted it to the cotton mill treasurers for their consideration. They immediately took steps to ascertain how the wage schedule in New Bedford compared with our competitors and in other mill centres of New England.

"We found upon investigation that New Bedford today is at the top, as usual, and the New Bedford manufac turers are paying their operatives more wages than are their competitors and other New England cotton centres. W did find one mill that recently advance wages 16 percent, paying something more than our schedule in certain de partments, but in other departments they were below us. In fact, in one large room the earnings were 20 percent less than in our mills.

"So our investigation convinces us that no cotton center in New England is paying the wages we are, even it those places where it is reported that a 10 percent advance has been made.

"You are well aware that it has been our usual custom for the past 25 years to make our schedule compare to our large and enterprising neighbors. About two years ago our neighbors made a reduction of 121/2 percent below our schedule. This action was followed by a number of mills throughout New England. The cloth market at that time would have justified a similar reduction in New Bedford, but we took no action and we drifted along on this high schedule until the present time, our help receiving 121/2 to 15 percent more than was being paid by our com

"New Bedford cannot continue this the market. It has been our motto REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE. in the market. It has been our motto to pay as much as our competitors and at times we are willing to pay something more, and this is our position to- Justice of the Peace.

"We see by the newspapers that our neighbors have decided to advance wages to the schedule that we have been paying for the past 21/2 years. This. of course, is very gratifying to all con cerned. We feel, as New Bedford is paying as much as our competitors and has for the past two years paid from 12½ to 15 percent more, that with these conditions confronting us, we in justice to our stockholders cannot consent to your request.

"But, in order to show you that we wish to court harmony and good feeling, and at the same time to make it an inducement for our help to remain with Furniture and Plano Moving us and be content, we have decided to give an advance of 5 percent, to take effect July 2.

"This is the best we can do under the present conditions. We think this is fairly liberal and we hope it will be satisfactory to our employes."

The letter was signed by Otis N. Pierce, president of the Manufacturers' association.

Besides the harum scarum cowboys and the spendthrift miners of the earlier days, there came an influx of men of all nationalities, drawn hither by one of the greatest oil discoverles of the world. dwellings and attendant buildings. A hard bleycle track and wagon way extend across the hot and sandy desert. Here and there are patches of gravel, with pebbles of every hue from the whitest quartz to deep black, all worn smooth by their long travels in some glacial moraine or river bed before Mother Nature finally left them high and dry in this upper end of the San Joaquin valley ages ago. The desert lizards, with bright spots and nervous motion, are especially numerous and shoot away from your path when startled by your footfalls. The sagebrush is present, but sparsely, denoting an extreme paucity of moisture. The prickly pear cactus, low growing, in patches often diverts you from your path. below the tableland, flows the Kern river, or what there is left of it after the irrigating ditches have drunk their fill. The stream looks more like a meandering swamp than a river. Upon the far slope of the river, with nearly every derrick, every tank and pump house within the sweep of the eye, is the Kern river oil field. You will start to count the derricks perhaps for a diversion, but soon will give it up and content yourself with an estimate. Two thousand derricks stand like a charred forest on the slope below you, with tankage for millions of barrels of the heavy black oil which has become such a factor in the industrial development of California. Practically all the locomotives and all the stationary steam engines except the sawmill engines and those in use in mining camps where wood is plenty burn this heavy oil for fuel. The coastwise

In the Kern river district the deposit of oil is so rich that there are many rows of derricks with only a partition line between them.

The Kern river oil field was discovered in 1899. In the county of Kern are two other oil districts-at McKittrick and Sunset-both reached by short lines of railroad running up from Bakersfield. The oil is found 800 to 1,200 feet below the surface and sells from 15 to 20 cents a barrel. National House Expected to Pass Public Building Bill

It is probable that the public building bill agreed upon by the House Committee of Congress which includes an appropriation of $80,000 for a federal building in Quincy, will be called up in the House for action today.

Several Massachusetts cities and owns are included in the bill, among them being Springfield $90,000; Boston $900,000; North Adams $100,000; Beverly $18,000; Marlboro, $10,000 Plymouth, 12,000; Webster, $10,000 and Woburn $12,000.

Places in Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and Connecti cut are also included in the bill.

As the season is late and the time for adjournment near at hand, it is thought that the bill has a good chance of go-

Quincy has been very patient in waitng for its federal building, and alhough its congressmen have done what they could to push the appropriation it would be years before a building would be built on the Washington street

Now, however, hopes have been raised at the good prospect of an appropriation being made and a buildng erected at no great distant date.

holder is being built on the site of the duty as agents of the State." house adjoining the company's property,

It will be seen, therefor, that the new holder, which will be the distributor for the city, will be five times as large

Work laying the new mains is pro gressing rapidly. Connection has been made with the old company mains at Wollaston. The Boston gas has not been turned on however.

Things are therefore in condition so in case of any accident to the old plant the supply from Boston could be turned on immediately so that there would be no interruptions in the supply to consumers.

These matters give the best o evidence that Quincy has at last got an up-to-date and energetic gas company, who realize what the city needs and intend to give it at the earliest possible

Until almost midnight last night the Electric Light department of Braintree was under discussion at a town meeting. The pros and cons of the management and also the advisability of electing commissioners, were discussed without result, for the meeting adjourned with out date before action was taken.

AGITATION AMONG JEWS

Appeals For Protection Against Possible Attack--Disaffection In Army Has Extended to the Peterhof Garrison

St. Petersburg, June 26.-Apprehension of the government with regard to political agitation in the army is the direct cause of its efforts for the suppression of the development of the peasant organization. As the majority of the soldiers come from the peasant class, any disaffection in the army is sure to be spread in the peasant interest, based on parliament's settlement of the agra rian question.

The government is therefore anxiously watching the peasant movement and taking strong measures towards preventing its further development, and to this end it is trying to balk meetings of the organized peasant group in parlla ment and the Peasants' league, which latter is organizing an agrarian strike movement and which was forbidden by the police to hold a proposed convention in this city.

Orders have been issued and sent to the provinces not to allow the communes to elect deputies to the proposed convention of the Peasants' league, and f deputies are elected to see that they do not reach St. Petersburg, as in the

The agitation among the Jews is still nanifested in a deluge of appeals to members of parliament for protection against possible attacks. From Zhitomir, Dvinsk and Zolotomosh comes news of the circulation of the Black Hundred propaganda. Deputy Vinaver received a telegram from Rzhev stating that provocators had arrived there and were spreading the rumor that three orthodox Catholics had been brutally killed by Jews. The dispatch added that the town was greatly agitated and that the Jews were fleeing from threatned danger.

The mutiny of a portion of the garrison at Batum is reported, principally artillerymen and engineers. Cossacks surround the mutineers, but at the latest advices there has been no firing.

There are many rumors current of disaffection. It is stated that several arrests were made at the Krasnoye Sele camp after a meeting of disaffected guards. It is also asserted that a ringleader of the revolutionary movement Miss Masie Hill and Miss Maud Dyer among the chasseurs of the guard, Sergeant Sitinsky, was captured after hav-

A large number of members of the it should be made perfectly clear that the naval visit is a compliment offered to the Russian people and not to the Russian government.

Sentiment of Germans

Berlin, June 26 .- At a largely attended meeting held here last night to consider the topic of Russian massacres, a resolution which was adopted expressed sympathy with the victinis of the massacres and indignation at the atrocities, the hope that parliament will be able to punish the offenders, and that culture and progress may bring Russia constitutional rights and religious freedom as a pledge of peaceful and friendly relations with Germany.

Terrorists Killed Detectives

Warsaw, June 26 .- In the outskirts of this city last night a band of terrorists, armed with revolvers, attacked three detectives, killing two and wounding the third. When an ambulance arrived two men approached and fired twice, killing the injured man. The shots attracted Cossacks to the scene and the soldiers barred the streets, firing several volleys, by which some passing workmen were wounded.

Instantly Killed by Lightning

Amherst, N. S., June 26.-During severe electrical storm which passed over Cumberland county Ezra Stack was instantly killed and several buildings were destroyed. Stack had taker shelter from the rain in a doorway when a bolt which struck the building passed through his body. John Fraser who stood beside him, was stunned by the shock and is still unconscious.

Batteries-Bushey and Gorton;

Washington, June 26 .- Under a rule limiting debate on all but two sections, the so-called immigration bill was discussed for three hours in the house and passed without a yea or nay vote being permitted on any of the paragraphs. This bill attracted much attention, the representatives having large foreign olonies in their districts lining up generally against the head-tax of $5, which was defeated, and against the educational test. After a very interesting contest a substitute for the educational test, providing that the whole matter be submitted to a commission, was adopted by a close vote. The bill was then passed without division.

IMPORTED DRUGS

SUGGESTION TO FARMERS

Weeds Regarded as Valueless Have Great Commercial Value -- Drug Plants From Abroad Would Grow In This Country Washington, June 26.-Cultivation of

drug plants is an industry which might be undertaken in this country with profit. Americans imported last year $64,000,000 worth of drugs and dyes and nearly every dollar's worth could have been obtained from plants and weeds grown in the United States. Investigation of the extent to which drugs now imported from abroad at high prices could be produced from plants grown in this country was recently made by experts in the department of agriculture. The results were en couraging and what they found out should increase the cultivation of plants and weeds, which many regard as worthless, but which in reality possess great value if properly treated. Experiments by the bureau of plant industry in the cultivation of licorice plants have demonstrated that, although the imported article comes chiefly from the Mediterranean sea, the licorice plant is hardy as far north as Pennsylvania. Warm regions suit it better, however, and it grows wild in some parts of California where it has escaped from cultivation. The annual importation of licorice root and licorice paste is valued at between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

Not one ounce of camphor is now produced in this country, although it is selling at the high price of $1.25 a pound Experiments under the department of agriculture have already demonstrated that camphor trees will grow in the United States. It was only a few years ago that camphor was selling at 30 and 40 cents a pound. Japan today has a monopoly of the world's supply and is raising the prices at will.

Nearly $1,000,000 worth of crude and refined camphor is purchased annually by the people of the United States. At various times in the past the department of agriculture has imported camphor trees which have been distributed through the southern states. Over con siderable areas in the warmer states camphor trees will grow satisfactorily Among the important minor drug in portations are belladonna and digitalis The belladonna plant supplies the leaf and root drugs known under this name Experiments with belladonna have been in progress at the Washington gardens of the government for four years and it has been found to flourish in a good garden soil. The cultivation of belladonna on a commercial scale has been successfully undertaken during the last two years by an American firm using the drug.

There exists today a small but grow this was true, but claimed that he did ing market in this country for ground the pods of a slender fruited sort grown especially in Hungary. During the last two seasons small experimental plantings have been made at Ebenezer, S. C. Three acres there have yielded between 3000 and 3500 pounds of dried pepper pods, for which a profitable price has been received. There was imported last year 3,500,000 pounds of pepper of the National league declares that the valued at $4,000,000. The government experts say that this entire demand can be supplied by American products.

Weeds regarded as valueless which are found along the wayside in fence corners and waste places, contain valuable drugs, according to the scientists. The so-called wormseed may be used cultivation of this weed and yielded on the same kind of land for the same Drug dealers are supplied with leaves and seeds from the despised jim son weed. If cultivated this ungainly weed will pay, say the government ex perts, as well or better than wheat or other staple crops.

CLASH OF AUTHORITY

Boston's Mayor Denies Intertering With Police Department

Boston, June 26 .- Mayor Fitzgerald replied last night to a statement made Sunday by Police Commissioner O'Meara charging the mayor with exceeding his authority in certain relations he has had with the police department. The police department is under the control of the commonwealth and is not subject to direct orders from the city hall. The mayor in his reply says: "I am not in the least ignorant of the respective powers and duties of the mayor and the police commissioner, and even though they hold their commissions from different authorities, the fact that they are both engaged in the service of the citizens of Boston should certainly lead to the observance of all proper official courtesies between them, The commissioner's newspaper training seems to render him too fond of publicity and also to lead him to take unofficial statements in the press altogether too seriously."

The mayor goes into the specific cases named in the charges in detail and makes a general denial that he exceeded his rights in dealing with the police department.

Late last night O'Meara issued a statement in reply to the mayor. O'Meara said: "Failing to appreciate the mayor's dislike of publicity, I used the newspapers not only because I could thereby place what I wished to say in the hands of every member of the department, but because the people, too, would read, and every man or woman who had a speaking acquaintance with a policeman would become a missionary for enforcing upon him the lesson which I felt he should learn."

Colombia Has Canal Project New York, June 26 .- "La Semana," Spanish weekly newspaper, publishes a report from Colombia that the Bogota government has in contemplation a project for an inter-oceanic sea-level canal through Darien, and that Colombia has been assured of the co-operation of various sister republics of Latin America. Famous Architect Killed by Pittsburg Millionaire

HARRY THAW ARRESTED

Trouble Over His Wife, Who of Stanford White

New York, June 26 .- Stanford White, the eminent architect, of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, was shot last night and almost instantly killed by Harry Thaw, millionaire and a member of the prominent Pittsburg family, during the performance of a musical extravaganza on the roof of the Madison Square Garden. White died before an ambulance could be summoned and Thaw was arrested immediately after the shooting. Trouble over Evelyn Nesbit, the actress, whom Thaw married some time ago, is said to have led to the shooting. The Madison Square roof garden was crowded with a fashionable audience. While Harry Short was singing a comic song a series of shots raitled in the rear of the auditorium, and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who had fired the shot fled, pistol in hand, towards the nearest exit, where he was seized and disarmed by policemen.

Instantly the great audience was thrown into a panie, and a wild stampede occurred, during which chairs and tables were overturned and men and women fought with desperation to escape from the roof. The man who was shot was quickly identified as White, but his assailant was not positively known to be Thaw until after he had been taken to the station house.

Persons in the front of the auditorium where the tragedy occurred say that they saw a man who had been sitting with a fashlonably dressed woman in the rear suddenly walk down towards a table in front.

The first intimation of trouble came when, walking in front of his seated victim, the man exclaimed: "You've Crusade Against "Kitchen Barrooms" deserved this! You've ruined my home," and drawing an automatic pis tol, fired three shots. The first two in allowing "kitchen barrooms" to flourtook effect, but as the third was dis- ish in the town, alleging that the youth

Worcester, Mass., June 26.-Robert L. Hunter of Boston, aged 21, was arrested last night, charged with the murder of Charles Lacross, aged 23, whom he is alleged to have stabbed fatally last evening at the home of the Lacross family in this city. Hunter and Lacross first met, it is said, at the Massachusetts reformatory in Concord, and last evening Hunter went to call on Lacross at the latter's home. He gave his Was Evelyn Nesbit, the Ac- pocket knife to the Lacross baby, and, tress, Led Him to Take the Life he slapped Mrs. Elmira Lacross, the baby's grandmother, made a lunge at the baby's aunt, Lillian Lacross, but missed her, and then ran out of the house.

The door was locked after him. When Hunter tried to get in again Lacross went to a window and ordered him to stop. Hunter's reply was a blow with his pocket knife by reaching his arm through the open window. So strong was the thrust that the blade penetrated the base of the heart, causing the death of Lacross an hour later. As soon as his blow was delivered Hunter ran from the vicinity of the house, but was soon captured. He will be arraigned on the charge of murder.

Massachusetts Legislature Is Not as Bad as It Is Pictured

THE UNSEATING OF GETHRO.

Moran and Fitzgerald Both Are In the Calcium Rays.

from the action of the legislature in un- was declared by many to be a disgra seating Representative Frank J. Gethro of Boston, on the charge of at- clared that the events of the night b tempting to bribe other members of the fore in that section were most disgrad Massachusetts house to vote against ful. the so-called anti-bucket-shop bill. One of these lessons is that several districts in the state should send much better ficial who is worthy of honor. He legislative timber to the state house than it has done this year.

There is a very general opinion that n unseating this man the house struck mighty blow at bribery of members of the legislature.

This matter of attempting to secure the passage or defeat of legislation by the corrupt use of money has gone so far as to demand drastic remedies in order to crush it as far as possible; but this is the first time in the history of the Massachusetts house that any member has been unseated for such a heinous offense. Those who are familiar with the Massachusetts legislature and have no stock whatever in the charges of wholesale bribery made by irresponsible sensationalists upon hearsay testimony. It is undoubtedly true that there are dishonest men in the legislature, but that this element constitutes a majority of that body, no one with facilities for judging for an instant believes. It is very likely that in getting together 280 men, there being 240 in the house and 40 in the senate, some disber as high as 40; none of them believe that it would exceed 50 at the utmost, much greater discrimination and care, Jesus found one Judas.

Most Legislators Honest

Whoever undertakes to make the public believe that a great majority of the members of the Massachusetts legislature are for sale, like frozen herring, has some ulterior and dishonest object in view. The present legislature is no doubt very much like others of preceding years. The expulsion of Mr. Gethro shows clearly that a majority of the members will not tolerate attempted bribery, either by insiders or outsiders. Had a majority of the members been guilty, they certainly would not have dared to vote for the expulsion of this man, knowing very well that if they did so he would be able to implicate them if he so desired.

The sensational newspapers have attempted to poison the minds of the publie by the greatest mass of falsehood. misrepresentation and deceit possible line a platform with a view to catching to invent. It is probable that they have caused many to believe that the legisla ture is a much worse body than it really is. Expert judges have no hesitation in saying that the Massachusetts legislature is the best in all the galaxy of states. No less an authority than the Hon. James Bryce, the distinguished author of "American Commonwealths," n his volumes, states unequivocally that the Massachusetts legislature, for been the wife of a peer of the realm, bility and probity, takes the lead in after a tour of this country and a long sojourn here, during which he studied our American institutions and our state legislatures with the greatest care and attention. The best members as a rule ome from the country districts.

There is some difference of opinion as to the course the house should have oursued in this bribery investigation. Many believe it should have been a pubic hearing. All the precedents were limelight as to cause them to conceal what they knew.

Evidence Against Gethro Three reputable members of the leg-

hro was his statement made shortly before the vote on expulsion was taken. In his appeal Mr. Gethro nowhere deied that he was guilty. He said he noped that on the roll of those opposed to him there would not appear the names of those who had taken bribes or who had agreed to accept a bribe. If guilty he desired and exacted that the votes of the guilty should convict him.

This statement, which many accept as a practical admission of the Walthamstow will run "all through truth of the charges against him, the night on week days."-St. James' City Square caused him many votes of those who Gazette. STORIES OF PILLSBURY

REMARKABLE FEAT AT LONDON

Won Blindfolded Playing Against Six Chess Players, Two at Draughts and at the Same Time Took a Hand at Whist-Wonderful Exhibitions of His Mental Power.

When the late Harry N. Pillsbury the American chess master, was a child he would content himself fer hours planning mimic battles with regiments of gaudily got up tin soldiers, says a correspondent of the Boston Globe He delighted in forming his fighting men in all sorts of positions and then moving them together until with a grand sweep of his baby hands both armies were annihilated in an indiscriminate charge.

When he was fifteen years old his brother Ernest taught him the first moves in the game of chess. Ernest was not an expert, but could play a very fair game. Harry learned quickly So fascinating was the game to him that it actually interfered with his studies. He was then in the high school. It soon came to pass his brother was no match for him, and, there being a local club in East Cambridge, Mass., Harry joined that and began at once to make a reputation for himself.

He played blindfolded against six opponents at chess, against two at draughts and at the same time took a hand at whist. Seated at a table at one end of the room, he coolly manip ulated the cards while promptly calling his moves in reply to the "teller," Mr. Michell, who announced the moves of his opponents at chess, and to James Hill, who performed a similar office for the draughts players.

Play proceeded rapidly, for the American was a quick thinker and kept his opponents very much alive.

Once he paused at one of the draughts games and said, "I guess I'll make a few moves right along at this board, and then dictated six moves in rapid succession, which sacrificed a piece, but left him with a winning ending. After eighty minutes' play he scored his first win at No. 5 chessboard, followed ten minutes later by the resignation of the draughts player referred

One of his chess opponents next gave up, and the applause had scarcely subsided when the second draughts player had to own himself beaten. After this it was a procession, and the result was that Pillsbury won every game of chess and draughts notwithstanding the fact that all engaged in the contests were strong players.

Of the whist the first rubber went against him, the score being 1 to 2. The second rubber was not finished, each winning a point.

A wonderful exhibition was once given at the Brooklyn Chess club by Mr Pillsbury. In the afternoon he repeat ed the moves of four games which he had played blindfolded in exhibitions out the country. The move were then shown on four large chess boards for the benefit of the onlookers among whom was the veteran Steinitz Pillsbury accomplished this clever feat without making any errors. On the first board was shown a Ruy Lopez, won by Pillsbury at Lincoln, Neb.: on the second board a French defense, on the third board 'a Philidor's defense and on the last board a Ruy Lopez in which the consulting adversaries had selected the Steinitz defense to the Ruy Lopez. Of these games the one on to the Attleboro School Committee that the third board proved the most interesting, as there appeared wonderful combinations involving a lot of sacri-

Then Pillsbury asked some one to call out the number or the word, and in each instance he supplied either the word or the number.

In the evening twenty-four members participate in a blindfolded exhibition given by the champion on twelve boards. Four players who went at the master single handed, four parties consisting of two players in each and four parties consisting of three in each made up the team. The performance began at about 9 o'clock and was concluded after six hours and fifty-five

Aside from all this, Pillsbury was one of the mental marvels of the age, PRATT-In Hingham Centre, June 25, Phebe his memory being simply prodigious as may be appreciated from the fact never before approached and likely to remain untouched of playing without sight of boards or pieces as many as twenty-two games simultaneously against as many different opponents of strong caliber.

sleep on the train that was taking him to his home in the suburbs and not gone on to Royalton instead of getting out at Millburn he would not have been convicted of the murder of Fairfax Douglas. And quite likely I should have missed an opportunity to make a name as a criminal lawyer. Let the aim of your life be a little But Atwater did go to sleep on the different henceforth. Be a property train and did wake up and get out three stations above his own.

"Hello, Atwater!" said his old friend Douglas as they met on the platform. "What are you doing up here?" Atwater told him of his snooze, and as there was no train down for an hour When we enlighten you about prices | Douglas pressed him to go home and and terms of payment of houses and dine with him. Atwater accepted, and house lots at Winthrop Park, you will the two men went home together. be sorry you did not know this before. Douglas lived with his mother, who was away at the time, and there was no one with him except the servants. The two men dined together, and after dinner Atwater kept putting off his departure from train to train till at last he consented to remain all night.

At 12 o'clock host and guest went upstairs to their bedrooms. Just before getting into bed Atwater went to Douglas' room to tell him that he must take an early train in the morning and could not remain for breakfast. Douglas was putting his watch under his pillow, and Atwater saw, as the pillow was lifted, a revolver.

"For burglars?" asked Atwater, looking at the weapon.

Atwater appeared curious, and Douglas added that there was a story connected with his keeping a pistol under his head at night and that he always carried one about him during the day. Atwater pressed him to tell him why he did this, but Douglas seemed troubled at the mention of the matter, excusing himself from giving the story Atwater forbore to press him further and went to his own room.

Atwater awoke in the morning dressed and went to his friend's room to say goodby. A fearful sight greeted him. Douglas was lying dead, his head hanging off the bed so as to expose the throat, which was a dark purple, indicating strangulation. Atwater's first impulse was to arouse the house, but his second was to allow some one else to discover the murder. He knew that the man caught with a murdered person was liable to suspicion, and no one can tell where such suspicion will lead. He would depart as he had intended, saying nothing about having seen his friend. He left the room, turned to go down the main staircase and, descending, went out of the front door. He was all of a tremble when he got on the train, but went to the city, attended to his duties as usual and was going home, expecting to see Douglas' death in the evening paper, when he was stopped at the door of his office by a policeman, who arrested him on a charge of murder. A maid had gone up the back staircase as Atwater had emerged from the chamber of death and had seen him leave the room I was retained to defend Atwater and got the story I have told from him, but I could not tell such a story to a jury. A murder trial is a tilt between the prosecuting attorney and the accused's counsel with weapons arranged for by the court, the judge handing them their pistols just as a second will hand pistols to duelists. I GLAZIER, had no case whatever. Douglas could give no reason for being at Royalton except that he had gone to sleep on the train. He was seen leaving the victim's room and had gone to his business, saying nothing about the murder. The prosecuting attorney made a fine speech, calling the jury's attention to the wisdom of the Supreme Being who had sent the maid up the back staircase in the nick of time. Atwater was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. It was after the trial that I got in my fine work. I knew from my client's story that Douglas had been expecting an attack, but from whom? I worked night and day till I found out; but, finding out, I could not prove that the person I suspected had committed the murder. One thing of importance I did find out, though to do so I had to play detective. The secret enemy had sworn to kill not only Douglas, but another man. That other man was at the time of Douglas' death in Europe. When he returned I asked him questions, the answers to which tallied with what I had learned.

One morning I found myself a distinguished criminal lawyer. I had slept the night before in the bed usually occupied by Judge Dudley. Just before daylight a man had entered the room, and I had shot him dead. He proved to be Tom Keenan and had some ten years before been sent to state prison by Judge Dudley, his conviction having been secured by Prosecuting Attorney Fairfax Douglas. He had sworn to kill both the judge and the attorney. After Douglas' death I knew he would try to kill the judge as soon as he returned from abroad, and I surmised he would take the same method he had taken with Atwater. I secured the judge's consent that I should receive the attack. If I had been Atwater, with my life depending on the result, I would certainly not have trusted any but myself in such a juncture. That's where I made my client's case my own.

Advance in Fire Insurance

The New England Insurance Exchange has this week defined three "conflagration districts" in Quincy where new an interesting contest between the $100. It does not apply to dwellings "Minute Men" and Mr. Corprew's in the areas; except where specially rated. The areas are:

Area I,-Beginning at the junction of Goffe and Dimmock streets, southerly on Goffe to Granite, southerly in straight line across railroad track to School opposite Summer, easterly on School to Hancock, northerly on Hancock to Revere, northerly on Revere to Cottage, westerly and northerly on Cottage and Foster to Washington, westerly on Washington to Maple place, thence due north in a straight line to Faxon avenue, westerly on Faxon to Hancock, northerly on Hancock to Dimmock, westerly on Dimmock to Goffe at the point of beginning.

Area II (Wollaston.) - Beginning at the junction of Beale and Newport streets, northerly on Newport to Elmwood, westerly on Elmwood to Fayette, southerly on Fayette to Beale to Newport at the point of beginning.

Area III (Houghs Neck) -All risks at Hough's Neck are specifically rated. The Exchange is the executive committee of the insurance companies doing business in New England, and since the conflagration in San Francisco has advanced rates in all thickly settled business sections in New England.

Passed by House.

The National house passed on Tuesday the public building bill which includes $80,000 for Federal building on Washington street, Qunicy. May the bill be as successful in the Senate.

NEW BURBANK POTATO.

Carnegie Scientist Aids In Efforts to Develop a Superior Variety. Four thousand different varieties of potatoes were recently planted on the farm of Luther Burbank, the horticulturist, at Santa Rosa, Cal., constituting part of 12,000 species of the tuber family with which Burbank will experiment this year in his plans to give to the world another new potato, says a Santa Rosa dispatch.

The potato planting was done by Dr. Shull, one of the Carnegie institute data for a treatise that is to be presented to the world as a correct understanding, scientifically, of Burbank's work. The potatoes planted and those that are to be planted are of all sorts physical condition was almost perfect and sizes, colors and conditions. From and his appetite excellent. these thousands of potatoes the new potato is to come.

Burbank desires that the new potato shall be practically impervious to disease and uniform in size.

Hamburg-American Line to Build One to Eclipse Giant Cunarders.

Another mammoth steamship is to be launched. The Hamburg-American line announces that it has ordered a steamship to be built that will put the 760 foot Cunarders in the shade, says the New York Sun. This vessel is to be 800 feet long, nearly one-seventh again as long as the Baltic. She is to have a beam of ninety feet and a gross tonnage of 35,000, which is 10,000 tons more than the new Cunarders and 15,-000 more than the largest ship affoat.

The engines of this vessel are something that the line is keeping secret. She is to be ready for the season of 1908 and will have accommodations for 600 first, 500 second, 300 third class passengers and 2,500 steerage. She will have all the new features of the two latest vessels of this line and in addition will have a Turkish bath and big tanks where the passengers can take a swim on calm days.

Novel Experiment In a Mine.

A party of American mining engineers in Mexico have arranged to take photographs by sunlight on June 21 at the bottom of a 2,000 feet deep shaft at Sombrerete, state of Zacatecas, says the New York Sun. The town is off the tropic of Cancer, and at meridian on June 21 the sun's rays fall vertically, so that the mine shafts are illuminated to the lowest depths. The illumination lasts about three minutes, the light entering a hole in the roof of the head house and making the shafts so light that a person standing over the shaft can discern small objects on the floor of the 2,000 foot shafts. At the summer solstice the light comes suddenly, shining straight down the shafts, giving rainbow effects to the spurting waters of the mine leaks and paling the electric lamps. In three minutes the sunlight disappears for a year.

PLFA OF INSANITY

LAW IS MOVING QUICKLY

Wife of Slayer of Stanford White Will Appear Before the Grand Jury-She Consults Counsel and Dodges a Curious Crowd

New York, June 27.-Frankly admitting that he killed Stanford White, the famous architect, and pleading in justification of the deed that White had ruined the life of his wife, the beautiful former chorus girl and artists' model, Florence Evelyn Nesbitt, Harry K. Thaw of Pittsburg, brother of the Countess of Yarmouth, occupies a cell in the Tombs, awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder.

His counsel will offer the defense of insanity. The coroner's inquest will be 6.00 held on Thursday and, in all probability, 7.00 the case will then be considered by the grand jury, when the prisoner's wife will be required to appear before that

> Not since the assassination of Colonel James Fisk, Jr., by Edward S. Stokes, on the staircase of the Grand Central hotel, more than 30 years ago, has the Metropolis been shocked by so startling and dramatic a tragedy as that which was enacted in the presence of an audience of more than 1000 people in the roof theatre of Madison Square Garden. Not the least dramatic feature of the tragedy is the fact that White met his death in the structure which is a conspicuous memorial of his architectural Rarely has the case against any prisoner moved with more startling rapidity than did the proceedings which ended in Thaw's formal commitment station house, Thaw, attired in fresh clothing brought to him by his valet, was shackled to a detective and taken in the patrol wagon to police headquarters. There he was photographed and his measurements taken on the Bertillon system. Again in the patrol wagon he William A. and Walter G. Field of was taken to the criminal courts buildarraignment had been undergone, Thaw oner, and, at his order, committed to the Tombs to await the result of the inquest, which was set for Thursday Throughout the proceedings Thaw showed little evidence of agitation.

While leaving the station house, and even in the courtroom, he was compelled to run the gauntlet of batteries of cameras, from which he shielded himself as well as he could by covering his face with his unshackled hand.

Thaw was registered at the Tombs as 'Harry Thaw, born United States, 33 years old, student." Shortly after his arrival he was visited in his cell by Drs. Flint, MacDonald and Mabon, on be half, it was said, of the district attor-Tombs physician, who was requested scientists, who is at Santa Rosa making to make an examination of the prisoner's mental condition by counsel for the defense. The alienists will make a further examination of the prisoner today. Dr. McGuire said that Thaw's

Lewis Delafield, who took charge of Thaw's interests immediately after his arrest, announced that the firm of Black, shall be more prolific, that its yield Olcott & Gruber had been retained to conduct the defense. The whereabouts of Mrs. Thaw, who disappeared from Madison Square Garden in the confusion that followed the tragedy, remained a mystery until yesterday afternoon, when, accompanied by her intimate friend, Miss McKinsey, she arrived at the offices of Delafield & Longfellow, 60 Wall street, where she remained in consultation with counsel for several hours. While there she was served with a subpoena, requiring her attendance before the grand jury on

Mrs. Thaw was not seen to leave the building and late in the afternoon it was learned that she and Miss McKinsey had left the lawyer's office on the 13th floor, crossed the roofs of two adjoining buildings and entered a window of the City National bank building, in front of which a carriage was wait ing for them, thus eluding a crowd watching for her in front of 60 Wall

The district attorney's office is busily engaged in looking up Thaw's antecedents, his mode of living, reported dissipations and indulgences. On this point Assistant District Attorney Nott said: "Thaw is not insane now, nor was he insane at the time he shot White."

Asked concerning the probable date of the trial, Assistant District Attorney Nott said: "I know of no reason why Thaw should be treated any differently than any other ordinary accused murderer. He will have to wait his turn to be tried, in all probability."

Mrs. White arrived yesterday from her summer home at St. James, L. I., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Prescott H. Butler, and went to the town house in Gramercy park, where she now is with her son, Lawrence, who came down from Harvard Monday and parted with his father only an hour or so before the tragedy. Mrs. White is reported to be completely prostrated by shock and grief.

The autopsy on White's body showed that three bullets had taken effect, one in the corner of the left eye, which expected in New England.

penetrated the brain and was instantly fatal; one in the upper lip, knocking ou several teeth, and one striking the left shoulder and lodging in the elbow.

Thaw's bearing in the Tombs was the source of much wonder to the wardens who had him in charge. While he appeared to be in a sort of daze and unabl to comprehend his position, his appetite was unimpaired, for he disposed of three substantial meals during yesterday afternoon and, having dined at ('clock with every appearance of enjoyment, he remarked that he expected to spend a comfortable night.

Bad News Reaches Countess

London, June 27 .- The Countess of Yarmouth (formerly Miss Alice Thaw) was greatly affected on learning of the tragedy in New York in which her rother figured. The Earl of Yarmouth, when questioned on the subject, said he was unable to assign any reason for the tragedy, but he had no doubt there had been serious differences between Thaw

Heavy Robbery In Thaw Home

Pittsburg, June 27.-While seeking information of the Thaw family it was earned last night that the home of Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, who is charged with the murder of Stanford White, was robbed of jewels and silver plate within the past few weeks, the value of which is said to amount to $60,000. The matter was reported to the police, but because of the prominence of the family the incident was suppressed. All the cities of the country have been notified of the robbery and a description of the jewels has been sent to the various police de-

Packers Welcome Good Inspection New York, June 27 .- J. O. Armour, the Chicago packer, arrived here on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. Loyalty of Cossacks, the Czar's Heretotore Strongest Supporters, Reported to Be on the Wane--Regiments Disaffected

St. Petersburg, June 27.-Tuesday's session of the lower house of parliament was openly devoted to the revolutionists' propaganda for undermining the loyalty of the troops. A score of speeches couched in ardent revolutionary tone were delivered, with the direct object of their dissemination among the oldiers.

The authorities, who are about to confiscate papers containing telegraphic accounts of the ferment among the soldiery, are unable to prevent the publication of parliamentary speeches, and those delivered yesterday are today printed in every radical paper in the empire and will so find their way into every barracks, camp and outpost.

The rostrum was abandoned almost ntirely to Cossack representatives. The conservative Cossacks did their est to counteract the addresses of tucked away under the mahogany top their revolutionary conferees. The lie in which was the elusive will left by was freely passed on both sides regard- Mrs. Ellis. By the terms of the will a ing the sentiments of the Cossack sol- niece of Mrs. Ellis is given practically diers and their devotion to duty, in spite of the utmost efforts of Prince Dolgourokoff, who occupied the chair in the absence of President Mouromt-A rumor was circulated in the corridors that the latter had been summoned to Peterhof for consultation with the czar with regard to a new cabinet, but confirmation of this report is not obtainable.

The revolutionary agitation in the guard camp at Krasnoye-Selo has reached such a pitch that War Minister Rudiger is contemplating breaking up the camp and scattering the disaffected

Fresh Disorders Feared

St. Petersburg, June 27 .- M. Vinaver has received an additional number of telegrams from cities in southern Russia, saying that anti-Jewish disorders are being prepared and asking for the adoption of immediate measures for the protection of the Jews.

Concession to Jewish Feelings

London, June 27 .- Royal courts hitherto always have been held on Fridays, precluding the presentation of Jews. By the king's command the third court of the season has been fixed for Thursday, June 28. This is regarded as the most striking event of the social season, destined to break down as being not unlikely to find an echo in Russia. Sausages Contained Sulphites Kansas City, June 27 .- A chemical analysis of Hamburger steak, loose sausage, Polish sausage, frankfurters and wienerwursts bought in the open market from three leading packing companies has convinced Dr. B. W. Lindberg that the samples contain sulphites. In every sample from two houses, and in two out of five of the other samples, sulphites were found. Constabulary Fired Into Crowd

Allentown, Pa., June 27 .- A platoon of the state constabulary, which is on duty in this city in connection with the street car strike, fired into a crowd last night and injured a boy. A large crowd provoked the constabulary to L. Hunter of Boston, who stabbed to this action, hooting and jeering them. Charges will be brought against the in court and held without bail on a men who did the shooting.

RIPENED ON JOURNEY

$50,000 Worth of Unmarketable Bananas Dumped Overboard

Boston, June 27.-The big refrigerating steamer Esparta, of the United Fruit company's fleet, from Port Limon, C. R., went to sea yesterday afternoon to dump a large portion of her cargo of bananas found to be ripe and unmark etable.

The Esparta is equipped with refrigerating machinery which ensures a ow temperature and makes possible the shipment of perishable cargoes for long istances. Through some derangement n the refrigerating machinery in the orward compartment of the Esparta he air could not be kept at the required low temperature, and when the atches were removed for discharging was found that over two-thirds of the ananas in this compartment were ripe. Hucksters bought up some of the fruit, and after all the green stems had been landed on the pier the vessel proceeded outside of Minot's light, where the baranas were thrown overboard. The cargo consisted of 53,000 bunches.

The loss to the fruit company will mount to above $50,000. Left Husband Only Five Dollars

Biddeford, Me., June 27.-A piano tuner unearthed a will for which the relatives of Mrs. George W. Ellis have been vainly searching ever since she committed suicide by hanging several months ago. Part of Mrs. Ellis' effects were recently sold, among them a square piano, which was bought by Ed. ward F. Clark. When Clark sent for a tuner the latter discovered a cloth bag everything, including $1000 in money, considerable personal property of value,

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educa-tional class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor. The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. Gav, will be happy to answer inquiries.

"It's all a pack of lies," said the new senator, "that I ever said I was comng here to reform the senate. And that does not mean I had intended to do so when I left Kansas and quit when I got here and smelled petroleum If the senate is going to be reformed I don't think I will have any hand

"What about your remark that it would be a good thing for the senate to have one honest man in it?" the senator was asked.

"Let he who is without sin cast the first stone!" replied Mr. Benson. "I never said I was an honest man while all the other senators were rogues." "Were you delayed long in Kansas getting that new suit of clothes?"

Newport Woman Adopts Oriental Style, Veil Hiding All but Eyes.

The first society fad of the season at Newport was introduced the other morning by Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman, while driving her father to the Wickford boat, says the New York American.

Miss Sherman, who is a clever whip and one of the last winter's debutantes, with her sister, Miss Irene Sherman, wore a heavy double veil of brown caught with jeweled pins at each side of her hair, the veil spanning the face and leaving an opening for the eyes and forehead, a fashion much in evidence with the women of Malta and Turkey.

Miss Sherman's identity was only made plain by the presence of her father and sister, together with the hand some and high stepping team of horses which are so well known in Newport. The new fad attracted no little attention and bids fair to become popular among the younger set of Newport.

র্মীর রেকার রেকার রেকার রেকার রেকার রেকার রেকার রেকার রিকার র [Original.] An old man sat in a dimly lighted room, his hands clasped with a tight grip, his head bowed, on his face every evidence of distress. On a bed lay a young girl. She was either unconscious or sleeping, for she was very low, and it was impossible to tell whether it was sleep or coma. "They are fighting at the front," the old man mused, "and if anything should happen to Bert it would turn the scale. But if anything does happen she must not be told. Still, would it not be better for her to know it and die instead of living on the life of desolation in store for her?

"The doctor's opinion that she will weather the storm and get well I have little confidence in. Is it his opinion, or does he say it to keep me up?"

The nurse came in and begged the old man to go to bed. He refused, telling her to go into a room across the hall, lie down and leave him to watch alone. If anything important occurred he would call her. She went over to the bed, laid her hand on the sick girl's forehead and looked at her long and anxiously. Then she turned and told him that it was not best she should leave. But he firmly refused to go himself, and she took a book and went into the room he had indicated.

"Ever since her mother died." he mused on, "she has been all I have had to live for. Sometimes it seems to me that all the love she has had for me has been merged in her love for Bert. That's natural. All the love I had for my parent was nothing compared with the love I bore her mother. And when her mother died I gave it all to my little girl. "I wonder what's going on down there. Last night's dispatches were that a fight couldn't be put off twentyfour hours. We know what they do almost as soon as they do it. Bert must take his chances-one out of three or four or five, I suppose-while here lies the girl he loves and who loves him, having not one chance in a dozen. If he dies she will never smile again. If she dies I will never smile again, but he-he is young. He can forget or replace the old with the new." Curious thoughts run through the mind of one in suspense. The old man fell to conjuring up all sorts of possible happenings. He fancled his girl again in health, her lover safely returned, their meeting. In their happiness he forgot that he would be left alone or remembering it was mitigated that they were happy. He pictured Bert a physical wreck coming to find the girl he loved gone; the young man's agony, followed by a settled gloom. This came the nearer home to him, for it was what he would have to suffer himself. Then he went back to the period when she whose life hung by a thread was jumping her rope, rolling her hoop. He saw her grow from child to maiden, from maiden to woman. How quickly it had all come about! And now if she died, what had all his efforts to raise her, her studies, her accomplishments, availed? All swept away at the ceasing of a heart to beat. And her longer life, what of it? Every effort he had made or should make would be neutralized.

The patient stirred. The watcher was about to go into the other room and Carolina and Michigan, Secretary Bowith a strength that astonished him. sat up and fixed her eyes on vacancy or, as it seemed, some one in the center of the room.

"Bert! Oh, Bert! Have you come?" She stretched forth her arms, and the focus of her vision seemed to draw nearer to herself. Her arms folded. she raised her face as though for a kiss, then fell back on the pillow.

The old man sprang to the bedside and was joined a moment later by the nurse, who quickly slipped her arms under the invalid and raised her. Seeing no sign of life, she placed her hand on the girl's heart. Then she looked up and said:

"She's gone." The old man went to a table, sat down and, placing his arms on it, rested his head on them. The nurse laid the dead girl's arms beside her, turned, looked at the old man pityingly and left the room. The case was closed for her, and in a day or two she would be ready for the next one.

The old man remained where he was. The clock struck the hours successively-1, 2, 3, 4, 5. Then there was the sound of boys running in the street below and shouting:

"Extra! Great battle at Santiago!" The old man started up. Going into the hall, he rang for a servant. One of them had been up all night to summon a doctor if needed. He responded at once, and his master ordered him to New York, a guest at the Royal hotel including 9.45 P.M., then 15 and 45 minutes pas. bring him a paper. Appeals For Help In Garnering Great Crop Before It Spoils Being Sent Out-Competition For Labor Stronger Than Ever Before-Scheme to Employ Small Offenders In Jails.

Kansas is sending out the strongest appeal of her history for men to work in the harvest fields, according to a special dispatch from Topeka, Kan., to the New York Herald. The difficulties of the last few years to get enough help to garner the wheat before it becomes dead ripe and shatters in the gathering will be intensified this year if the advance signs are any token of what is to come. At least 25,000 more men than are now in sight will be patron saint, St. Calogeri, and at last needed, and if need be there will be resort to desperate measures to draft men into the service behind the self cover. He moved to Tampa, Fla., and binders. Already a move to empty the jails of small offenders has been made. cently shipped from a New Your store

Competition this year for labor is stronger than ever before. There seems to be no surplus of idle men anywhere. Appeals have been addressed to the employment agencies of Chicago, St. Louis and other large western industrial centers. The answer has come back in almost every instance that it is impossible to fill the orders. Factories are running at full capacity all over the country. Building operations are going on on a scale exceeding anything of the kind in past years. These activities, in addition to the many public improvements that are going on, have absorbed the bulk of the labor of the country, skilled and unskilled.

One of the heaviest drafts for men comes from the railroads in the north west. In that region extensive road building is going on, and with all the efforts at colonization not enough men have been obtained to make the progress desired by the railroad management. To supply the deficiency for the railroads alone effort is making to divert the tide of immigration from New York to the gulf ports. Several weeks ago it was announced that 50,000 more men could be acceptably used in the southwest. Every demand from that source increases the anxiety and woes of the western wheat producers.

Farmers were comforting themselves prior to the settlement of the bitumi nous coal strike in western states with the satisfying belief that they would be able to draw on this line of industry for men to help them temporarily in the fields. The coal strike is now settled, the men have returned to work in the mines and that hope has vanished. Kansas is looking elsewhere for assist

New York city and other far eastern centers have been appealed to for aid. The same dearth of labor exists there as is experienced in the western cities Thousands of men who might have been counted on have gone to San Francisco, attracted by the fancy prices for common labor said to obtain in the demolished city which is now so energetically rebuilding.

As in recent years, much store is set by the sturdy college men who are inishing their year of study. Hundreds of these men who have worked in the wheat fields are coming back this season. Those of athletic training are hardened for the most exacting la bor in the fields, and they are much sought after by the farmers. During the cutting and thrashing season many of them will make money enough to sustain them during half the college

The flat had gone out unofficially that there must be no idle able bodied men in Kansas at harvest time. The street loafer who can work will be obliged to work or leave the state. Local authorities in cities and towns hitherto have co-operated with the agriculturists in enlisting the whole available force for field work. They will do so again this year. A movement of that kind is already on. In several of the famous wheat producing counties of the state, like Saline, Benton, Stafford and others, farmers have made arrangements by which men confined in county jails and city prisons for finable offences may be released, provided they give their word to accompany the farmers to their at remunerative wages. This system will save both the state and the farmer a vast deal of money, and it will give the prisoner a good chance to regain his liberty.

Tiny White Mice New "Ornaments." Seeking to draw the last dollars from the summer girl's purse jewelers are putting forth novel gewgaws, says the New York Press. One novelty not likely to be especially popular, however, with nervous women is a small white mouse of ivory, which is to be worn on the lapel of a coat. These mice are lifelike in appearance and have sharp, gold hooks attached to their feet to hold them in position. This freak was started by a London society woman who didn't share the ordinary prejudice of womankind against these tiny animals. There's no accounting for taste, and perhaps the ornament, if such it may be called, will "go." Many girls, indeed, may feel a sense of daring in wearing them. New Tool Steel.

The paper closed with the sentiment, "To give is to live; to deny is to die."

Miss Reinhalter's paper provoked considerable interest and applause, particularly among her schoolmates, as she told in a conversational way of her friends in various walks of life. Mr. Sanders made an eloquent plea for "Peace." He said wars should be banished, and America should be first in peace. The golden age was before us, and peace was worthy the American

The Class Will by Miss Bizzozero was a formal and interesting document, with bequests from the Class of 1906 to the head master, sub-master, the various instructors, the others classes, the janitor, and others.

Mr. Thayer, the valedictorian, told of opportunities in life. The class has had those of school life; those of colleges, of business, of science and of politics were open for the graduates. We graduates are prepared to act and meet success.

The address of the evening was by Mr. Chapin who said education was an equipment to give one a better knowl edge of himself, and the class motto-"Te Ipsum Cognosce," or "Know Yourself," was along that line. Self knowledge, self reverence and self control, were the points he emphasized. Education should bring some knowledge City Square of law. Disagreement Over the Meat Inspection Amendment

CONFEREES IN A TANGLE

Senate Proposition Regarding Payment of Cost of Inspection by Packers Met by House Argument of Unconstitutionality

Washington, June 28 .- An absolute deadlock on the meat inspection amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill was reported by Senator Proctor to the senate late yesterday, after three sessions of the conferees had been held. Proctor said that the house conferees had declined to consider any compromise on the subject of the payment of the cost of inspection by the packers.

"The senate conferees offered to compromise," he said, "upon a tax of 5 cents a head on cattle and 3 cents on hogs, sheep and goats, to be collected and covered into the treasury the same as any other revenue." He then read the compromise proposition, showing that the $3,000,000 appropriation provided by the house would remain in the be paid therefrom. In reply to a question from Senator Hale, he stated that the tax would amount to about one-half of the appropriation. The third conference of the day had been concluded a short time before A lamp in the apartments of Frank Proctor made his statement. At that it would be unconstitutional, on the ground that congress had no authority

THAW NOT INSANE

Report of Alienists Retained by the Prosecution

PRISONER IS OBSTINATE

Refuses to Answer Questions Despite Advice of His Counsel -- Recent Movements of Thaw and White Being Investigated

New York, June 28 .- That Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, is perfectly sane was the report made by the alienists retained by the district attorney's office to examine the prisoner. This report was made after the physicians had spent an hour with list of prices for weaving and has not Thaw, who, in defiance of the advice of his counsel, former Judge Olcott, re- advance. What the reply of the manufused to answer any question and declared that nothing short of actual force ers will be is not known. While the would compel him to submit to a physical examination.

When the committee of physicians called upon the prisoner, Thaw said firmly, as the first member was introduced to him by Dr. Hamilton, retained for the defense, "I beg your pardon; I will answer no questions whatever."

Then began a general conversation n trivial subjects with Drs. Flint and Hamilton, Thaw deftly parleying any juestions that had any bearing on his nental or physical condition. Finding nim obdurate, the doctors hurriedly summoned Mr. Olcott, but to him Thaw vehemently reiterated his determination to answer no questions.

"You can put it down to the condition of my feelings, if you will," said Thaw. "My nerves are unstrung, the tension is great. I will not be examined today." Pressed for a clearer explanation of his refusal, he said: "I have'nt any; I have none at all. Put it down to obstinacy, if you wish."

Thaw had promised Olcott before the examiners met to submit to examina tion. "This refusal will hurt you," Olcott is said to have pleaded. "I don't care," replied Thaw. "Nothing but absolute force will get me to allow myself to be examined or to say anything today. I think I first ought to talk with Mr. Delafield. Later I will tell you whether I will talk with the committee or not." He was then taken back to his

Mr. Olcott said later that he was unable to account for Thaw's attitude and that he could only attribute it to unaccountable obstinacy. As his counsel, he said, he had no objection to Thaw's answering any of the questions addressed to him by the physicians.

After the alienists had departed Mrs. Thaw was permitted to see her husband for the first time since his arrest. She came to the Tombs in a carriage, accom panied by her husband's brother, Josiah C. Thaw. The meeting between husband and wife was affectionate, and they remained together talking in an undertone for nearly an hour. Thaw also received a visit from his sister, Mrs. George C. Carnegie, and Clifford W. Hartridge of Pittsburg.

Before visiting the Tombs Mrs. Thaw ad a long conference with Messrs. Dicott and Delafield, at which it is believed that the line of defense was discussed and the intention to interpose a plea of insanity was confirmed. The district attorney's office will prosecute a most searching investigation of the habits and movements of Thaw and White during a period of several weeks previous to the tragedy. Not less than 20 witnesses were examined in connection with the case by the district attorney's office yesterday. It was announced that Mr. Garvan, who is preparing the case against Thaw, has discovered a witness who alleged that he overheard White make derogatory remarks concerning Mrs. Thaw while in the Cafe Martin a few hours before he was shot. According to the witness, he heard the remarks of White, who was seated two or three tables away and evidently was not whispering. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Thaw were in the cafe dining. In the course of the investigations as search for immediate motive for the killing of White, it was learned that Thaw sailed for Europe on April 24 last on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, after a stormy scene with his wife, and with the avowed purpose of never returning to her. On the same boat with him was his sister, the Countess of Yarmouth. At the time of the sailing of the boat the sister was not aware that her brother was a passenger, for he apparently took pains that his presence should be concealed from her until after the sailing hour. She knew nothing of her brother's presence on board until late on the evening of the first day out. According to a report made to the agents of the line, Thaw did not hesitate to say several times in the smoking saloon, while drinking, that his life had been ruined and that he had "left that woman for good and all." Thaw is said to have made this same announcement to the Countess of Yarmouth as soon as he made his presence known to her. It was reported aboard the boat that his sister pleaded with him to return to his wife on the next boat from the other side. Apparently the sister's pleading had some effect on Thaw, for he remained on the other side only a few days, taking return passage at the last minute on the Kalserin Auguste Victoria. sider Offer of Manutacturers New Bedford, Mass., June 28 .- On Friday and Saturday evenings of this week the mule spinners, loomfixers and pirders employed in the cotton cloth mills of this city will decide whether they will accept the offer of the manufacturers to advance wages 5 percent next Monday. At a conference last night between committees representing the millowners and unions of the three classes of employes named, the union representatives urged that an advance of 10 percent be given, but the manufacturers' committee maintained that 5 percent was all the mills here could give at this time, inasmuch as the New Bedford cloth mills were now paying more than factories engaged in the manufacture of cotton cloth in other

Maine Republicans Nominate Cobb For Governor

A CONTEST IN VERMONT

Democrats Split on Consolidation With Independents For Governorship--One_Wing For Clement and One For Burke

Portland, Me., June 28 .- The Republicans of Maine nominated Governor William T. Cobb of Rockland for a secand term as chief executive of the state. The convention was notable on account of the effort made by Lewiston and Bangor delegates to introduce into the platform a plank providing for the resubmission to voters of the state the question of continuing the prohibitory law which has been in force for the past 50 years. The attempt failed, a minority report of a resubmission resolution being rejected by a vote of about three to one.

The platform contained a reaffirmation in the principle of prohibition with its faithful and impartial enforcement, equalization and taxation, a demand for economy in state expenditures with liberal regard to good roads, schools and the care of the unfortunates in state charge. Believing in reciprocity governing interchange with foreign countries of articles not the product of American labor, it opposes such recip rocity with Canada which would embarrass the industries of the state with the articles of lumber and farm products. One of the features is the recom mendation to the next legislation of the consideration of statutes under which all nominations for elective offices shall be by direct vote of the people at pri mary elections.

The policy of President Roosevelt, of the Maine senators and representatives in congress and of Governor Cobb were also endorsed.

Governor Cobb accepted the nomina tion in a brief speech devoted to state

Vermont Democrats Divided

Burlington, Vt., June 28.-Divided by opposing opinions on the question of joining with the independent wing of the Republican party under the leadership of Percival W. Clement as a candidate for governor, the delegates to the Democratic state convention pre dict an interesting convention.

One wing of the party, and a very influential one, strongly favors the nomi nation of J. E. Burke of Burlington for governor, and the abandonment of all overiures for a consolidation with the independent movement. They demand the nomination of a straight Democratic ticket throughout.

Those delegates who are willing to enter into the combination with the Clement forces admit that the only combination that will be practical will be one in which Clement should be the Democratic candidate for the head of the ticket. It is said that his supporters have expressed a willingness to Democratic nominees if Clement should | Mass. Tel. 349-5 Quincy. be named as the candidate for governor of the combined forces. Just what will be the outcome of the differences among the delegates is very doubtful.

Bryan Is Commended

By MARK BENNITT.

EFORE the coolness of the night has left the air you are up and away. Los Angeles has been long astir, for even this pleasure town contains many industries to which the resident population apply themselves assiduously. People must have bread and meat and clothes to wear. Houses must be built and furnished. The streets and places of business must be kept clean, and so the ten thousand tasks that must be performed with every rising of the sun call from their beds the people of this summer land long before the visitor has opened his eyes for the day.

It is a charming ride northerly from Los Angeles to the foot of Mount Lowe. You go out of the busiest of city streets to country byways bordered with cottages and shaded with eucalypti. Here are garlands of green and vellow orange trees thrown round a field. Here are flashes of geraniums, too luxuriant to heed a gardener's shears, hiding a dooryard fence with scarlet brilliancy. Pretty homes stand as coronets upon the bald brows of low hills, too new for the accustomed Furniture and Piano Moving, low hills, too new for the accustomed garnishment of vines and other green-

> The car is special, and you do not stop at the little stations on the way. At Pasadena a halt is made to take on additional passengers, augmenting the party to thirty or forty. Altadena is a little farther on, lying close to the base of the mountain range. Such beautiful nome surroundings are possible only in such a climate. The dwellers here live amid blossoms the year round. The visitor is at first wearled by the bare brown hills and dead fields, the sandy vastes and forbidding rocks of mounain slopes, but soon learns that the natural condition is after all the best. If copious rains came at all seasons there would come also the miasma of decaying vegetation. With water sufcient for irrigation the land is richer vithout rains in summer. The continuous sunshine makes better crops of fruit, vegetables and grain because they mature without a wetting that would impair their quality. The quantity depends much upon the care with which the crop has been attended.

> The ride from Los Angeles to Rubio anyon consumes an hour and a quarter. It is up grade nearly all the way, and during the last half mile the car runs upon a rocky shelf cut out of the perpendicular wall of the mountain. The buckling of the earth's crust that resulted in the creation of the San Gabriel range did not take into consideration the convenience of mankind. No easy gradient to the summit of the mountains remained when the task was complete. It has cost many thousands of dollars to make the way easy for the tourist. In Rubio canyon your party alights to take the cable train. "I can never do that! Oh, never, never!" She was a little woman, but little women are generally plucky.

"But, my dear, we have our tickets lear through, and we can't sell them back now," pleaded her companion. "Yes, I know, but I can never ride that car up that awful steep place," she persisted. "Just get right into the car, now, everybody. There's no danger."

So the party all get in, even the timid one, for who wouldn't mind a man of such importance on such an occasion as the conductor?

Somebody signals, and the car begins to creep up the 60 per cent incline, frawn by a fat cable, new and trustworthy. You cannot see the top of the incline because the way leads over a shoulder of the mountain. You have faith in the engineers who made the anchorage somewhere skyward, and derote yourself to the scenery. The first tremors of fear have given way to exclamations of joy. The view broadens as the car moves slowly and noiselessly upward. In traveling a distance of 3,000 feet you have gained an altitude of 1,500. The cable brings you to Echo mountain, a shoulder that stands out boldly from the range. It commands a superb view, though but little more than halfway to the summit. Valley and plain, orchard, vineyara and garden, city and village and rollng mills are encompassed in a single sweep of the eye. From this small shelf in the face of the range one of the great searchlights from a world's fair shoots its finger of light out over the broad littoral that reaches to the mean.

Here begins the mountain division of the electric railway system. It is eight miles to "Ye Alpine Tavern," at he far end of the narrow gauge line, those cars are waiting for your party. A is probably the most wonderful eight miles of road in the world, as high mountain. tizzy as any mountain trail and as steep as most of them. The entire way is a mere shelf cut in the face of the nountain, and there is scarcely a hunired feet of straight track in the whole listance. You dive into canyons, dark and cool, and then emerge into the proad sunlight, going out till you can ook almost straight down for 2,000 or into Rubio canyon.

3,000 feet. In some of the canyons you ride among trees of considerable size These are sheltered from the sun and make an attractive retreat. On the more exposed part of the mountains the vegetation is principally the Leave Stops Arrive Leave Stops Arrive chaparral, composed of many green shrubs, and often completely hiding the rock and earth of the mountain slope. The best known are the manzanita, the madrona, wild mahogany and coffee berry, live oak bushes white and lavender lilacs, choke cher-his shining quality. Mount Lowe differs from other mountains because from its summit you may look so directly down upon the r 9 13 abc things below. Other great mountains have long sloping sides and foothills that rob them of that chief grandeur of a mountain, precipitous height. Mount Lowe is merely a part of the San Gabriel range, which for the most part rises straight out of the desert without the preface of foothills or the r 5 13 abc introductory remarks that are as common in the book of nature as in other

When once you have gained the nountain peak the reward for the effort is spread out in a circle 200 miles in diameter, of which you have become the center. With a good glass you may extend still farther the rim of your vision. The height above sea level is b Nortolk Downs, 6,100 feet, a mile and a quarter. Rarely indeed may one see the ocean e Pope's Hill. from such a height, but there to the southward and the westward forty miles away glistens the Pacific, now silver, now gold, depending on the angle of the sun. Where the smoke rises behind low hills lies the city of Los Angeles, twenty-eight miles by rail to the southward, but scarcely more than half that as the bee flies. Below you, not far from the mountain's base, is the orchard city of Pasadena, as ideal as the most poetic creation of an artist's mind. To the northward behind other hills is the San Fernando valley, through which the railroad runs to the central valleys and the coast country of California. It is from this great height that one best appreciates the topography of southern California. The beautiful San Gabriel valley is nearest the mountain range on the south. It is dotted with villages and checked with orchards and pastures, gardens and grain fields, all watered by artificial means during the long rainless summer from water 7.29 A.M., then 29 and 59 minutes past each hour stored in mountain reservoirs or drawn from wells and living springs in the 11.47 P.M. Returning, leave Dudley Street. rock. Beyond the strip of ocean that 6.22, 6.52 A.M., then 22 and 52 minutes past looks like a sheet of fire the island of each hour until and including 10.52 P.M., then Santa Catalina rises in the haze, sev- 11.07 and 11.37 P.M. enty miles away. Still farther off to the southwest rises the abrupt and a hundred miles away.

The valley of San Gabriel is the richest in all southern California. Its course is east and west, and it is principally in this narrow area that the wealth of oranges, lemons, olives, raisins and other fruits of the state the eastward are Colton, Riverside and San Bernardino, fifty miles away. To also fifty miles distant. The sierra of Santa Ana stands boldly above the 12.07 P. M. city, and still farther to the southeast is the high San Jacinto range of San Diego county. The eastern slope of the San Jacinto mountains is a series of gigantic precipices, rising 10,000 feet in five miles. The presence of this high barrier is in part responsible for the hot, dry desert that lies behind it. Looking to the east and north from Mount Lowe the eye falls upon innumerable peaks of the range that look like haycocks in a fertile meadow, so thickly do they stand. Pine and fir trees project above the chaparral, and in these forests once were deer and elk and formidable grizzlies and mountain lions. The smaller game is still abundant, but the larger sizes have moved to less civilized parts or fallen beneath the fine alm of the hunter. Beyond the range to the eastward is the Mojave desert, where no human being attempts to live except a few engaged in mining and those whom the railroads require to keep their tracks in order and station tanks filled with water. The return to the valley includes the eight mile coasting ride down the railroad over high trestles that span deep canyons and around the sharp turns of the mountain buttresses, then the drop down the 3,000 foot incline.

In December, 1905, a fire swept up the slope of Mount Lowe, burning the chaparral and many of the railway trestles and buildings, including the costly power house at the top of the great incline on Echo mountain. The new cable was saved by chopping it *11.20, *11.50 and 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and in two and allowing it to slide down

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. fails to cure. joy Willey at Seaview, Marshfield, or Wednesday was celebrated in a unique and memorable manner. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Edgar Eugene Willey of No. 27 Walker street, Atlantic, at the old Carver homestead. On emerging from that abode leaning apon her father's arm the bride met the groom neath a cherry tree planted by her great-grandfather, and there in the presence of relatives and friends, the nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Dr. Pierce of Campello, former pastor of the bride. The double ring coremony was used.

Beautifully gowned in conventional white the young bride received the encomiums of all. A generous banquet was spread and epjoyed, and much appreciation extended in the old barn, decorated with flowers and green. The star spangled banner graced the decorations. The bridal party has Middleton, N. S., for the objective point. Mr. Burditt is a native of that pretty

He was watching his rival, Boulton, and measuring him with deadly aim. The two crews held this stroke from a short distance after the first half-mile flag had been passed almost to the two-mile flag. When the Elis settled down to their normal gait their shell traveled better and they not only eut down Harvard's slight lead, but gained two seconds on Harvard. Yale, however, held this slight advantage for only a short distance. Harvard put on her steam and the boats finished the mile and a half on even terms.

> Yale's effort, however, began to tell on her men just before the end of the first two miles and Boulton dropped the stroke back to 29. When Filley saw this he quickly put his stroke up to 32 and at the navy yard he once more had his crew in the lead. Yale put her stroke back to 30 and held it over the third mile. As soon as Filley had taken the lead away from Yale he let his stroke down to 30 and at this gait both crews passed the 21/2-mile flag and the three-mile flag.

It was now clear for the first time that, barring some accident, the race belonged to the Crimson. Filley had High water--5:30 a. m.; 6 p. m. wholesome, more than by more power to spare than Boulton had loccasional showers are indicated for icholas.

vard only had a second to her credit. For a quarter of a mile further Yale prevented Harvard from increasing her lead, but over the next and last quarter of a mile Harvard began to slip away from her rival, little by little. A quarter of a mile from the finish Boulton raised his stroke to 32, where he gamely held it for a short distance as Harvard raised hers, first to 31, then to 32, and finally to 33.

Filley, with deadly precision, was now - measuring off Yale's defeat, When the Harvard captain let go the last burst of his power Yale had finished up every ounce of her endurance and the Crimson shell sped on to victory. NEW TRACK OPENED

Betting at Rockingham Park In Defiance of Law

Salem, N. H., June 29 .- The opening day at Rockingham park, the new race track here, drew a crowd of over 12,000 followers of racing to this place. The new track, which is one of the finest in the country, is owned by the New England Breeders' club.

Considerable interest had been manifested in the matter of betting at the track. There had been a crusade on the part of a number of New Hampshire people against betting at the track and it was announced both by New Hampshire officials and the management of the track that betting would not be allowed. In addition there were posted in prominent places throughout the enclosure notices quoting the New Hampshire statute forbidding betting.

Notwithstanding the crusade or the notices, a number of bookmakers were at Rockingham park and carried on their business. None of them would accept bets from persons with whom they were not acquainted.

The park embraces more than 500 acres of land, and the track is an ellipse of 11-8 miles. There were six races eaptured by Lotus Eater, who trails behind the leaders until the half was reached, when he overtook Tongorder who had led, increased his lead on the straightaway and finished in a gallop.

Sensational Divorce Suit

Pittsburg, June 29 .- The divorce suit of Augustus Hartje against Mary S. In 1876 Mr. Disraeli was raised by the queen to the peerage under the title of Lord Beaconsfield, and he left the house of commons before the news of his elevation to the house of lords had been made public. His withdrawal from the stage where he had played so long the leading part in a manner obviously devised to avoid any sort of ovation was in accordance with the dignity which characterized the remaining years of his life after the defeat of the Conservatives, when the general election of 1880, in consequence of the Midlothian campaign, had terminated his public career. No applicant for his opinions on any subject ever received a postal card from Lord Beaconsfield. No speech was ever made by him at railway stations. He died in 1881 as he had lived-alone, a stranger amid a strange people. After his death his memory became to English Conservatives an object of almost sentimental affection; to English Radicals it remained an object of never failing animosity. But to Englishmen of all politics, to Conservatives and Liberals alike, his life continues to be a constant puzzle, an unsolved enigma. -London Standard.

An African Sea Serpent Story.

Here is a sea serpent story from one of the great fresh water lakes of central Africa. The Globe Trotter of Nalrobi, British East Africa, tells it: "According to natives on the shore and Islands of Lake Victoria the real simon pure water python is a reality. Officers on board the Sibyl and the Winifred have time and again been unable to account for the unrest shown at times in the most tranquil waters. Sir Clement Hill in crossing the lake some years ago in a launch with one Macgregor, the engineer, saw this monster and described it as having a head resembling the hippopotamus, only three times broader, but much more flat and wedge shaped. The opinion of the natives regarding its length, etc., differs very much, but all agree that the reptile is amphibious and declare they have seen forty feet or more lying dormant on the bank, while the supposed tail, sixty or seventy feet from shore, created a commotion in the water resembling the wash of an ocean steamer.' Wireless Telegraph to Save Birds.

Sportsmen in France are becoming furious advocates of wireless telegraphy, says the London Chronicle. It appears that after carefully watching for three years a kilometer's length of telegraph wire in a district not overpopulated with birds an interested observer has proved that one and a half head of game, such as partridges, pheasants, quall and so on, is impaled yearly on every wire of this length in France, which means a total all over the country of 40,000 annually. Many of the victims, especially of the migratory kind, lose their lives through nocturnal flights, so unless these can be induced to travel by day wireless telegraphy seems the only French game law in future worth supporting. It would be interesting to find out if in England also bird intelligence is still of the pretelegraphic period. Pat's Escape.

ABOUT POSTAL PROFITS

Certain Obstacles In the Way of Immediate Realization of Univ versal Two-Cent Rate on Letters--As to Parcels Post

Washington, June 29 .- The United States government is not likely to take up J. H. Heaton's plan for a universal 2-cent postage, in place of the 5-cent rate which now prevails in the international mails, except by such special arrangements as those which we have with Canada and Mexico. England now sends her mails to her colonies all over the world at the domestic rates and we send mails to the Philippines at the domestic rate. Certain countries of the continent have modifications of the postal union rule, with rates more favorable than the 5-cent charge; but this is a matter of special agreement.

Much may be said in favor of the international 2-cent rate, even from a purely business point of view. Strange as it may seem, one of the highest prices that is charged for any commodity of everyday life is 2 cents for the transportation through the mails of an ounce of first-class matter. The average weight is so much less than the allowance that Uncle Sam receives 93 cents a pound for carrying letters and postal cards. The average distance is short, and the business one of stupendous proportions.

First-class matter is now yielding nearly $140,000,000 a year; it almost supports the postoffice, and yet the expenses which it entails on the establishment are hardly half the total by any known standard of comparison. Second-class matter pays about $6,000,000. In weight, which governs the payments to the railroads for conveyance, the cost entailed by the first-class matter is a trifling fraction of the whole.

In expenses of sorting and distribution, in which the number of pieces counts rather than their weight, the first-class matter involves no expense commensurate with its returns. In essential theory, our postoffice makes the letters and postal cards pay for the conveyance of the newspapers and magazines, and the extent to which the former falls short is met by general taxation. Viewed as a pure question of cost, 2 cents is enough for carrying a letter to London or Paris or Port Said.

But there are certain obstacles in the way of the immediate realization of Heaton's plan. Our postoffice is exceedingly conservative regarding any reductions in receipts. It would rather earn a little more money than a little less. The ship subsidy people would not look with favor upon a reduction of the profits of ocean mail, because these they desire to count as a resource from which subventions may be paid rithout any direct levy on the treasur Moreover, and fundamental to it all, it is the policy of the Cortelyou administration of the department to improve and perfect existing agencies and operations, under existing law, rather than to ask for many changes in legislation.

The American postoffice at present carries books and printed matter other than that which goes at second class, for 8 cents a pound. This is a remunerative rate, markedly in contrast with the 1 cent a pound which newspapers and magazines pay. It is probable that the government loses no money in carrying anything at 8 cents a pound, especially when it is remembered that the mall transportation charge is on a graduated schedule, according to the average weight of the day's consignment, so that the extra matter that comes in these rather weighty parcels helps to lower the rating on the whole.

But it has been the policy of the department to attach a penalty to the depositing with it of merchandise. The 16-cent rate is in effect the fine for using the mails for such material. There is something to be said in behalf of this policy. Our postoffice has never been a wagon service, but rather that of the postman on foot. It has decided, by inaction, not to carry parcels except on a small scale, leaving that to the express companies. To drop the merchandise rate to 8 cents a pound, through the consolidation of these two classes, although not a radical step toward the parcels post, would be a somewhat significant one. The man with a wagon on the rural routes is already equipped for doing that business. Persons familiar with the methods of government business would prefer to have the express companles put under the operation of the interstate commerce law as common carriers, and their business regulated in such a way that the public could retain the benefits arising from the energy and efficiency of private ownership, and at the same time that equality of rates and of opportunity which common carriers supposedly afford. But if the express companies persist in conducting business as their own private preserve, in a half secret manner, they need not be surprised to see Uncle Sam's blue coated messenger doing it for them almost any day. If the 8-cent merchandise rate were submitted to a referendum vote in any state in the Union its majority would be 90 percent of the votes cast. The establishment of a parcels post would be almost as popular.

BY TWO PARTIES

Clement Is Nominated For Governor of Vermont

FUSION TICKET MADE UP

Resolutions of Democrats and Independents Similar In Character--Moran Receives Gubernational Nomination From the Massachusetts Prohibitionists

Burlington, Vt., June 29.-Percival W. Clement of Rutland, who four years ago was an independent Republican candidate for governor and was defeated by a small margin, was nominated for governor of Vermont both by the Democratic state convention and by the independent state convention which Clement himself had called in this city. An agreement was reached between the two conventions whereby a fusion ticket was nominated for the various state offices, each convention nominating candidates for three positions. Following is the complete ticket

Governor, Percival W. Clement (Ind.) of Rutland; lieutenant governor, G. H. Pape (Dem.), Barre; secretary of state, S. R. Moulton (Ind.), Burlington; attorney general, C. A. Bullard (Dem.), Burlington; state treasurer, S. S. Watson (Dem.), St. Albans; state auditor, E. J. Hall (Ind.), Burlington.

Each convention adopted its own platform of principles, but the two sets of resolutions were very similar in character, both severely criticising the Republican conduct of state affairs during the past few years, and placing particular emphasis upon the increase in state expenditures and the alleged unsatisfactory condition of various state institutions. Both platforms declared in favor of a continuation of the present local option liquor law, with perfecting amendments.

Mr. Clement delivered an address before the combined delegates of the two conventions, in which he accepted the nomination for governor, attacked the Republican nominee for governor, Fletcher D. Proctor, and condemned the Republican party management of state business.

MORAN FOR GOVERNOR

Receives the Nomination From Bay State Prohibitionists

Boston, June 29 .- District Attorney John B. Moran was given the gubernatorial nomination by the Massachusetts Prohibitionists at their annual state convention held in this city. Rev. Dr. Crane, pastor of People's temple, Boston, placed Moran's name before the convention. Moran read the platform adopted by the convention and expressed his willingness to be the standard bearer of the Prohibition party along the lines of the platform.

Although the nomination of Moran was received with applause, it was not unanimous. Some of the delegates from places outside of Boston did not know Moran well, while others expressed the fear that he would not stand by the strict principles demanded by the Prohibition party. The party platform, as usual, deals in great part with a discussion of the in great part with a discussion of the liquor traffic. It charges that state and 1266 Hancock St., Adams Building, Room 13 local officials try "to shield and protect notorious law breakers." The action of Governor Guild in signing the so-called Touraine, 12 o'clock, abuttors' and screen bills is denounced.

The other places on the ticket were filled as follows: Lieutenant governor, H. S. Crowell; Ashburnham; secretary of state, J. S. Lewis, Stoneham; treasurer and receiver general, S. F. French, Mansfield; auditor, J. F. Peace, Merrimac; attorney general, Allen Coffin, Nantucket.

The convention did not adjourn until last night. Jonathan S. Lewis presided and 96 delegates were present. A campaign fund of $900 was raised by subscription.

Not Averse to Gubernatorial Call Boston, June 29 .- "I cannot say at possible nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket, but I can say that I feel practically the same as I did last Justice of the Peace. fall when the Democratic party nominated me for governor," said Charles W. Bartlett, when asked if he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in the convention the coming fall. District Attorney Moran has stated privately that he would be a candidate and the fact that he was nomimnated by the Prohibitionists puts him in the fight even if he fails to receive any other nomination.

Wisconsin Democrats For Bryan Milwaukee, June 29 .- William J. Bryan was strongly endorsed as the standard bearer of the Democratic party in the presidential campaign of 1908 by the Democratic state convention here. The part of the platform that came in for the most debate was that bearing on municipal ownership.

Inspection Hitch Continues Washington, June 29.—Senator Proctor of the senate conferees on the agricultural appropriation bill presented a partial conference report on that bill. showing a complete agreement on all the items of difference except the meat inspection provision. A further conference was ordered on the item of difference and the report, so far as it went, was agreed to.

Choose Your Paint

A man should take such precautions as he can to safeguard any investment he makes. A house owner's expense for painting is very often larger than it would be if he personally looked after the material put upon it. Bogus Naval Officer Hoodwinked the Citizens of Salem

Salem, Mass., June 29 .- After posing for nearly two weeks as a naval officer, John M. Shew, a waiter in a Boston restaurant, was arrested here last night, charged with obtaining goods under false pretences, and impersonating a naval officer.

Twelve days ago Shew came here. He registered at the Essex house as "Arthur B. Capeheart, lieutenant U. S. S. Kentucky." He said that he was in advance of the North Atlantic fleet, which is to rendezvous at Rockport during the summer, and that he was empowered to purchase supplies for the squadron. He accepted several bids for naval supplies from Salem merchants. Shew became acquainted with a number of prominent people here and was extensively entertained. He invited a number of society people and city officials to attend a ball to be given on board the battleship Missouri

On Wednesday Lieutenant Scott, attached to the Missouri, came here and his attention was called to "Capeheart." After returning to the Charlestown navy yard and making inquiries there Scott notified the proprietor of the Essex house that "Capeheart" was an imposter. The letter was received last night and "Capeheart" was confronted with it just at the conclusion of a dinner he had given to a number of Salem

The man confessed his true identity to the police. During his stay here he has appeared frequently in naval uniform. When arrested, Shew had but 30 cents in his pockets. He said that r 8 43 abc he intended to leave the city today.

[Original.] A barrel shipped from the United States by a woman's aid society for soldiers in the Philippines was carted to a ship and went rolling over the waves to its destination. "I'm only an old flour barrel," it said to itself, "but I've got something within me that shall turn a man upside down."

Private George Merritt of the -th United States infantry sat in his tent in the Philippines reading a novel. It had come to the army of occupation in the barrel. On taking up the book, which was an old one bound in paper, half the cover torn off and numerous smudges and lead pencil marks scattered here and there, the soldier turned first to the fly leaf and read the name-"Julia Anita Leigh."

We may snap our fingers and say What's in a name?" but there are times when there is everything in a name. Had Private Merritt read "Mehetabel Bunker" there would be no occasion for this story. But "Julia Anita Leigh" was different. A young man exiled, as it were, in a benighted land where he seldom saw a woman except the coppery creatures of the country was in an excellent frame of feeling to be impressed with anything suggestive of civilized femininity. One sunny morning Miss Leigh was handed a card with the name on it of George Merritt. All in a flutter, she went down into the drawing room, and there sat, or, rather, rose as she entered, a young man in citizen's dress, for Merritt had been discharged. For the first few moments they did not scruple to ogle each other to satisfy themselves that they were not disappointed, as two children who have been just introduced stand and gape at each other. Each saw that the other was not disappointed-indeed, was much pleased. Then they sat down and talked it over. There was no villainous uncle in the

But Thaw's Plea Is Entered With a Reservation

WHITE'S FORTUNE GONE

Wife's Legacy Consists Chiefly of Life Insurance--Startling Under-World Revelations May Result From Investigation

New York, June 30 .- "Not guilty" was the plea personally made by Harry K. Thaw, when arraigned on the charge of murder before Justice Cowing. His counsel immediately interposed an amendment of the plea, asking the permission of the court to withdraw it at any time up to next Tuesday. This permission was granted. The action is taken as a possible indication that the final line of defense has not been fully determined on. That every effort will be made to secure the admission of evidence bearing on the past life of Stanford White and upon his alleged pursual of Mrs. Thaw after her marriage

After Thaw had been remanded to the Tombs Assistant District Attorney Nott, in response to the question, "What is there in this case?" said: "It is simply a question whether

parently anxious that the trial should begin at the earliest possible moment. there is hardly any possibility that it can take place before October. One of the most interesting developments in the case was the statement published in an afternoon paper that White, instead of being, as was generally supposed, a man of great wealth. was in fact a bankrupt, owing $300,-600 to one young member of a prominent family, as much more to other persons, and having so greatly overdrawn his personal account with the firm of which he was a member that he was notified that he could draw no more money, and must be content with a certain fixed weekly allowance. The fortune left to Mrs. White consists chiefly of $200,000 in life insurance.

Mrs. Thaw held a long conference with her husband's attorneys, during which she is said to have related at length her whole life history, especialis that portion relating to her acquaintsice with White prior to her marriage. as a result of this conference it was deided that former Governor Black will take a leading part in the defense

The investigation of Thaw's counsel into the career of Stanford White and the John Doe proceedings institoted by the district attorney's office and designed to probe every possible aresue that may throw any light on the motive of the tragedy, promise to result in some startling disclosures of the so-called bohemian underworld of the metropolis.

Scores of detectives are now delying in this underworld on behalf of the prosecution and defense, and fresh discoveries bearing more or less directly on the tragedy are of almost hourly oc-

Among the many witnesses ex- church here. Six children have been amined at the district attorney's office rescued already. Dr. White says that Thomas McCaleb, who was with the Thaws at dinner in the Cafe Martin on the evening of the tragedy, and Truxtun Beale, who was with White and his party in the restaurant at the same time. Assistant District Attorney Garvan stated at the conclusion of McCaleb's examination that McCaleb had accompanied Mrs. Thaw from the garden after the shooting, and had escorted her to the house of one of her friends. He also said that McCaleb had made a very complete statement of everything he had observed during the dinner and afterwards on the roof of the garden when White was shot. A witness was found by counsel for Thaw whose testimony will, they say, be of the utmost importance to the defense. This man, whose name is withheld, is said to be an old friend of Thaw, and will testify that he talked on Monday night on the garden roof with Thaw, who appeared to be quite normal in his demeanor and entirely at Suddenly, according to the informant. Thaw turned pale, his eyes glared and. turning suddenly away, he walked towards where White was seated, and the shooting followed almost immediately.

Thaw's counsel consider this testimony as of the utmost importance as indicating that Thaw did not go to the roof in quest of White, and that it was only when his eyes lighted suddenly on the man who he believed had wronged him that his passion for vengeance suddenly blazed out.

Bay State Legislature Ends Session of 1906

ANTI-MERGER BILL DEAD

Succumbs Between the Two Branches and Is Not Enacted Into Law--The Governor Was Deeply Interested In Measure

Boston, June 30.-The 1906 session of the great and general court, as the Massachusetts legislature is officially known, was prorogued at 11:45 o'clock last night. The chief interest of the closing hours of the session centered about the anti-merger bill, recommended by Governor Guild in a special bodied in a bill presented to the legislature by Speaker Cole.

The bill introduced by the speaker, and which is understood to have been the result of a conference between the governor, the speaker and Attorney General Malone, took the stand that sachusetts, particularly the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad corporation, was illegally controlling Massachusetts street railway properties and was designed to prevent such holdings. The Cole bill also expressly prohibited railroad corporations from holding or controlling the stocks or bonds of any Massachusetts street railway company, and further directed that by December, 1907, the railroad corporations holding such stocks and bonds should dispose of the same.

The Cole bill was passed by the house and sent to the senate for concurrent action. The senate, however, refused to pass the bill and amended it so that it read the same as the report of the joint committee on street railways and railroads. The committee report directed that the attorney general of the commonwealth bring action in the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts to determine if the control by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad of Massachusetts street railway properties was legal or illegal, and further provided that the railroad corporation should not acquire additional street railway properties until the supreme court had rendered a decision. Following the action of the senate, both the house and the senate appointed conference committees, but no agreement could be reached. Then Governor Guild took a hand in the proceedings and second conference committees The other members of the party were were appointed by both the senate and the house. These committees also failed to agree and therefore the antimerger bill died between both branches.

When it was seen that no agreement could be reached between the senate pensary and secretary of the state Old Colony Street Railway Company and the house the anti-merger bill was allowed to remain torpid and the legis- was wounded in a street duel here with lature was prorogued.

New Haven and Hartford railroad was legal or illegal. He further directed the railroad commissioners to report to the attorney general for action in the courts violation of the statutes.

One of the last acts of the great and general court for 1906 was the election of Thomas J. Grady of Boston to tection to 10,000,000 citizens. GOOD AFTERNOON.

Worcester has a couple who celebrated yesterday the 66th anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Dodge. Mr. Dodge gave to the city of Worcester Dodge park and to the Odd Fellows the site for the good sound nervy fire fighters such as Odd Fellows' home. "To give is to live; to deny is to die."

The civil term of the Norfolk Superior court adjourned Friday, uniil next October, with about 300 cases on file. a case before the civil term of the suyou wish it done at once.

The great and glorious "Fourth "our independence day-will be celebrated on Wednesday next. Let us rejoice; for we have reason to be proud of our united, prosperous country. There are wrongs to be righted, monopolies to be crushed, trusts to be regulated, vices to be eradicated, virtues - Senator Nevins of this district was to be inculcated, but the people as a whole are the most progressive and most comfortable of any of the great nations of the earth.

As the Fourth approaches, the matter of ringing false alarms of fire is one that should not be over-looked. It may be fun for the boys to sound false alarms, but they often result seriously as was the case a year ago when two Hancock street, Quincy. Tel. 279-3. firemen lost their lives while responding to a false alarm. The police and fire department are combining this year and the ringing of a false alarm will be stopped if possible and those caught will be punished to the full extent of the law.

The Looker-on in the Record says:---Herbert P. Arnold of Quincy is a name that was practically unknown to the outside world, and I fancy to 98 per cent. of the Harvard world, until all parties interested therein. today, and I doubt if even now it makes much of an impression. Yet this is the name of the young man who graduated this week with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. highest honors, dazzling ones, in the way of scholarship, a summa cumlaude, both for general excellence in his whole course, but highest honors in Greek and Latin. Yet if he had tried for one of the 'varsity teams, and even failed, the name might have been almost familiar.

Several Wollaston boys are planning to spend their vacation at summer camps this year. Their time could not be better spent than at a good camp. PLAN OF REACTIONARIES

Suggest Stamping Out Revolutionary Activity While Loyal Troops Can Be Obtained -- Anarchy Rife In South Russia

St. Petersburg, June 30 .- Under the influence of the recent developments touching the loyalty of the army and the conviction that the present policy of inaction has reached its ultimate limit, the reactionary faction in the ministry has revived the plan for the dissolution of parliament and stamping out revolutionary activity in the country by armed force while such force is still available.

This solution has been repeatedly presented to the czar since the development of disaffected soldiers among the best regiments of the guard and the disorders at Krasnove-Selo, but thus far without result. Each day's delay favors the acceptance of the alternative of the dismissal of the Goremykin cabinet and the naming of a responsible ministry.

The ministerial repressionists base their hopes on the supposition that the great majority of the troops will hail actual conflict, as they did at Moscow in December last, forget their grievances and enter whole-heartedly into the combat. One of the advocates of repression says that it will be necessary to strike hard and immediately, or otherwise within a fortnight the world will probably see the proclamation of republics at Kharkov, Saratov, Rostov and elsewhere. The whole south of Russia, the speaker said, is belching forth anarchy and revolution, and parliament, as a "hindrance to the work of pacification," must be dissolved at once. "The troops, however, must not and cannot be employed against the peasantry," added the functionary, admitting that this was the limit to the loyalty of the soldiery.

It is doubtful if Premier Goremykin is himself a strong advocate of the desperate alternative of repression. The premier told the representative of a foreign power that he was only anxious to be rid of the responsibility of the premiership and that he would be delighted if the czar should call for his resigna-

Printed copies of the governmental agrarian project were transmitted to the lower house of parliament yesterday, and Minister of Agriculture Stichinsky will soon require President Mouromtseff to fix a day for explanation and consideration of the document. The project, part of which was elaborated in the department of agriculture and part in the ministry of the interior, is a voluminous document, and the deputies will probably demand several days for its study. A third section, which is being prepared in the ministry of finance, remains to be presented.

St. Petersburg, June 30.-Detectives disguised as workmen were nearly battered to death with "knuckle dusters" at a workmen's meeting here. . They were removed to a hospital in a dying condition.

No More Police Fines

Boston, June 30 .- Police Commissioner O'Meara has promulgated a new kind of punishment for policemen who neglect their duty. Instead of paying fines the members of the force will have to work out their punishment. After regular working hours offenders against the rules of the department will perform disagreeable duties until they have paid for their sins with the sweat of their brows instead of at the expense of the family pocketbook.

Soldiers In Race Fight

Bitting a house Boat

By CLAUDE PAMARES

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

Eccessoronoment Harold Strong was a New York artist and had painted the portrait of Ruth Bascomb and fallen in love with her. Whether she returned his love or not was the thing he was worrying over. Harry Stevens was a New York sculptor, and he had desired to bring out a marble bust of Miss Bascomb and also had fallen in love with her. As to whether she would consent to be "sculped" and marry him was a matter that gave him headaches. Both the artist and the sculptor had sisters that were friendly with Ruth Bascomb, and this was the general situation for the playwright to build on.

The present situation was that Ruth Bascomb's mother, who was a fairly wealthy widow, had become possessed of a house boat and had determined to float around Princess bay and up the Shrewsbury river for a month or so. Her guests were to be the artist and his sister and the sculptor and his sister and two or three other persons.

A day was appointed, a tug engaged to tow the house boat down New York bay and leave her at her first anchorage, and all was going merrily when the villain hidden in the thicket showed his hand,

It always has been suspected that he was a villain belonging to the same club as the artist and sculptor. He became aware of the house boat party, and out of pure deviltry and from no desire to see the sculptor get ahead of the game he worked his little trick. The day before the boat was to sail he fixed up a telegram calling Harold Strong to Philadelphia to see about painting the portrait of a millionaire. The artist's return was indefinite.

He knew that he was leaving a rival behind him, and he knew that the Colonial Dame, as the craft was called, would scarcely have come to anchor in the bay and the moon risen above the waters when that cheeky sculptor would be talking soft nonsense to Ruth Bascomb, but the artistic spirit was strong within him.

He arranged with his sister to interrupt if the sculptor tried to take advantage of the occasion. Feeling himself as secure as any man ever can feel where a woman is concerned, he departed on his mission, and the stately Colonial Dame also departed on hers.

Sometimes a millionaire can be found sitting on his front steps and smoking a fairly good cigar and waiting to be interviewed. Again he is as elusive as the midnight mosquito. The one the artist sought was elusive. It took a whole day to run him down, and when he was finally brought to bay his reply was:

"Young man, don't try any of your confidence games on me if you want to keep out of jail. I didn't telegraph you. I want no painting of any sort. I don't like the look of you. If you are honest, then some one has made a fool of you; if you are a confidence man, then try the first corner grocery."

Harold Strong had been bunkoed. It was only natural that he should believe the game had been played by his rival. He didn't wait to devour even a sand wich before catching a train for New York. For three hours he sat in a chair car and murdered the sculptor. He killed him in seven different ways and was planning the eighth when he arrived at a good sized town in Pennsylvania and was asked by the porter if he wished to stop there. He had got into a car that had been switched off at a junction on to another road while he was doing the murdering act. It was noon when the artist reached New York. It was 2 o'clock before he began his hunt for some craft to take him down to Princess bay and lay him alongside the house boat. The sculptor had had one moonlight night in which to weave his net of romance around the victim, but he should not have another. The artist tried to charter all sorts of crafts, from an Albany day boat to a sand barge, but the afternoon wore away and night was coming on before he landed at the foot of Thirty-ninth street, Brooklyn, and interviewed Captain Jinks of the Merry

"Can you charter me to find a house boat in Princess bay tonight?" repeated Captain Jinks as he bent his head to scratch the back of his neck. "Yes. sir, I reckon you can if you've got a twenty dollar bill about you. You've got a schooner right here which is not much to look at compared with some schooners, but if there is anything on land or water that she can't pick up I'd like to see it. That's her great holt. young man-picking up things. There's goin' to be a fog tonight as sure's you plumb center before midnight then I'll never sing gospel hymns off Cape Hatteras ag'in.'

Harold Strong closed with the offer. The crew of the Merry Sal consisted of the captain and a lunkhead of a young man and a boy of ten who hadrun away from home and was trying a life on the billows. The captain looked upon the artist as a husband pursuing an eloping wife; the lunkhead looked upon him as an idiot for giving up $20 when the captain would have taken $10, and the runaway boy figured It out that he was some sort of grafter escaping from the police.

The opinion of the crew did not affect off the schooner and cant her head the right way and hoist the mainsail, and presently she was careering down the docks as she conveniently could. What be substituted for the girl.

she couldn't avoid she crawled over until she struck deep water on the other side. She struck the fog at Fort Hamilton, and then the anxious artist

"Captain, isn't this going to make it difficult for us to find the house boat?" "Not at all, my son-not at all," was the confident reply. "I told you we should have a fog, but that it would make no difference. The Merry Sal is a-sailin' of herself. She's a-follerin' of her own nose. I've told her that I want her to hit a house boat called the Colony Damned, and she'll do it or never look me in the face again."

"The Colonial Dame is the name of the boat," corrected the artist.

"Well, I got near enough to it for the schooner to understand what is wanted. You just enjoy yourself and don't worry. Lord, but I wish you really knowed what a nose this craft has got for smellin' out other boats and things! One night I was comin' around Sandy Hook in such darkness that I couldn't see my hand before my face. I didn't know whether the Hook was five rods or five miles off. I left it all to Sal, and what did she do? . Why, she smelled her way along and went ashore so high and dry that I got off without wettin' my feet. Show me another craft that can do the trick, No, sir, you needn't worry one least bit. I'll hit that house boat inside of another hour if the wind holds."

Aboard the Colonial Dame all had gone well. She had been towed down to the bay and anchored. The sculptor felt that the game was in his hands and was determined to win. He counted on a moonlight night, rippling waters, wavelets softly tunking against the sides of the boat, poetry, sighs and the soft strain of music floating over the waters from some summer resort where sandwiches sold at 15 cents each. The fog came and blotted out the moonlight. It was too damp to sit on deck, and the artist's sister accompanied them down in the cabin. and his suit did not advance. At 10 o'clock the house boat rocked silently on the waters with all on board retired. At about that hour also the captain of the Merry Sal was saying to Harold Strong as they walked the quarterdeck

"Yes, sir, the Sal has got a nose on her, and there is really no use for me to carry a compass. I've told her to smell out that ere boat of yours, and she's a-doin' it. I'm reckonin' she'll hit it within fifteen minits. Why, I could turn in right now and feel that if that boat of yours is anywhere on Princess bay the Sal would hit her with-

The Sal hit her. Whether she was guided by Providence, the lunkhead of a young man or by her nose may never be known, but as a matter of fact she suddenly crashed into the Colonial Dame and cut her down to the water's

There were shouts and screams and yells of confusion. It seemed for a moment as if all on board the house boat must be drowned, but luck was with them. The tide had gone out and there were only three feet of water under her keel, the crew of the Sal were active on the bows of their craft, and the artist went overboard at the first crash and fished around until he found the right party and then saved her in a sopping, but uninjured state. He also magnanimously extended a saving hand to his rival and to his future mother-in-law, and as he piloted them to the sandy Jersey beach and counted heads to find all present and accounted for he was hailed from the departing schooner with:

"Well, good night, young man. I told you the Sal had a nose on her and would hit this 'ere house boat in the darkest night, and you see I am a mariner who speaks the truth. Good night all. Take the Merry Sal when you want a schooner with a smeller on her."

The Art of Begging. The head waiter of a famous New York restaurant said the other day: "A few nights ago, after having charge of a very large dinner, I started for home. My way led me through West Seventy-second street, where, late as it was, I saw a little girl only a few years old sitting on the lower step of a private stoop, crying and sobbing as if her heart would break. I stopped to ask her what was the matter, and she told me that she had got lost uptown, that she knew where she lived - in Sixteenth street - and that if she only had car fare she could get back there. Being in a hurry, I gave her a quarter and started to pass

"The moment the kid got the coin she jumped up and ran away around the corner like lightning. I never before saw any one disappear so quickly. It dawned on me at once that I had been 'dead easy.' Of course she was simply a well trained little actress and had taken the quarter to her father or mother, who was in hiding near by. It's an outrageous shame that a little child should be trained up in that way."-New York Post.

Some Strange Customs.

A very interesting account is given of the strange customs of the Bedouins of the Sinai peninsula in Lord Cromer's report on Egypt and the Sudan. If a man kills another in time of peace the relatives of the murdered man, beginning from the father to the fifth generation, have the right to revenge or pardon against the receipt of "blood money." This latter is fixed at forty-one camels. If the murdered man was of the same tribe as the murderer the latter or his near relatives have to give a girl in marriage to one Mr. Strong, however. He helped to cast of the victim's relatives without receiving the usual dowry. When she gives birth to a child she is free to go back if she chooses. In the latter case bay and avoiding as many statues of the marriage must be renewed and the Liberty, men-of-war and Staten Island usual dowry paid. Five camels may

SUMMER AMUSEMENTS.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The vaudeville program for the week of July 2, is one of the most complete, as well as one of the best balanced bills of the season. Edwin Steven, the popular and versatile omedian, formerly of "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" is to be the principal entertainer on the bill. Mr. Stevens will be assisted by Miss Marshall, in a new version of his entertaining half-hour interlude entitled, "A Night Out;" which gives the clever entertainer excellent opporunities for the display of his abilities. The urrounding program is an excellent one, ineluding Julie Ring, a former Boston girl, and are invited-company, in a clever comedy act, entitled "A weeks' visit with relatives in Wilton, Quiet Life;" Palfrey and Hoolfer, trick and omedy bicycle riders; Jack Wilson trio, in the comedy singing and dancing skit "An Up neaval in Darktown"; Delmore and Oneida, Japanese perch artists; and Alexander, pleasing vocalist. The Fadettes will make their ansual change of selections of popular music an entire new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

GLOBE THEATRE.

The success of John Craig's summer engageaent at the Globe theatre, Boston, has been phenomenal. During the week the house has been crowded to the doors and the enthusiastic manner in which Mr. Craig and his asso iates have been received leaves no doubt in the mind of anyone of the strong personal following he has in Greater Boston. Hardly Craig has not been obliged to come before the curtain and acknowledge his appreciation in words of heartfelt thanks. It is not exagerating when the declaration is made that Mr. Craig has surrounded himself with one of the strongest acting companies that has ever been seen in Boston. For the coming week "A Night Off," will be the attraction. The east has been arranged as follows:-Justinian Babbitt, Professor of Ancient Eistory William H. Evarts; Harry Damask, his son-inlaw, Thomas MacLarnie; Jack Mulberry, in oursuit of a fortune under the name of Chumey, John Craig; Lord Mulberry, in pursuit of Jack, James L. M. S. Pinafore" and Mascagni's masterpiece of musical tragedy, "Cavalleria Rusticana." Both of Jackson, C. T. Losers' luck: questhese operas sprang immediately into popularity, and both have retained their held upon the public. The younger generation an, indeed, scarcely credit the tales their elders tell of the furor with which "Pinafore was received some twenty-five years ago. It was brought to this country immediately opon its production in London, and for everal seasons more, in New York, Boston nd other American cities it was sung agair and again to crowded houses. "Cavalleria Rusticana" also is of apparently never-endng popularity.

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy) INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earn eatly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000 but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed. Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad a confer with any one or to any wer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faithin the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor. The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gay, will be happy to answer inquiries.
